MRS. WILLEBRANDT PENS SAGA OF GREAT VENTURE

Prohibition's Inside Story Unfolded With Full Discussion of Vital Questions Involved

BY MABEL WALKER WILLEBRANDT

(In this, the first of her remarkable series of twenty-four articles entitled "The Inside of Prohibition," Mabel Walker Willebrandt, former United States assistant Attorney General in charge of prohibition, reveals for the first time the inside story of her much-mooted campaign [illegible] and gives a glimpse of her viewpoint and background, religious, political and personal, insofar as it affects the treatment of her subject. She also presents the vital questions which she will discuss in this series and upon America's answer to which, she declares, depends the fate of the Eighteenth Amendment.)

It is good to be just a private citizen. I glanced a moment ago at some old diaries in the drawer of my desk, kept in the routine of daily office appointments, and noticed the entry, "Aug. 2, 1921, Monday, 11 a.m., appointment received from the White House; reporters and others began coming in."

It has been like that every moment since. Reporters and the public coming in!

On that day in 1921, when I took the oath of office prescribed by law "to support and defend the Constitution of the United States of America against all enemies foreign or domestic, and bear it true faith and allegiance without mental reservation or evasion," knowing that the assignment to me was "defend with true faith" of the most controversial part of that Constitution, it was plain that I had something more than an honorary position. I had a job that demanded work and a lot of prayer to carry it through. I have no denominational allegiance to any church nor [illegible] my parents, but I do believe in prayer. I do revere and respect, contrary to belief in some quarters, the honest religious convictions of my fellow-men.

My purpose, however, is not to relate the trials and tribulations of Mabel Walker Willebrandt. Too much has been said about her already—certainly too much at times for comfort or pleasure.

BIGOTRY CHARGES

My only purpose in mentioning anything of an autobiographical nature is to give perspective enough for the reader to determine whether the facts I relate and the views I express are worthy of consideration. For thousands of people say: "Why should I pay any attention to Mrs. Willebrandt? She is only a fanatic on the subject of prohibition; she is a religious bigot who tried to beat Al Smith, a Catholic, by organizing the Protestants against him."

To pretend that I have not been deeply hurt and disturbed by such comments would be false. I've been in politics long enough to expect and even welcome attack, but no decent person likes to be accused of ugly, [illegible] motives.

For eight years I have been engaged in work that has aroused bitter opposition from millions of people. Before me, as this is written, are clippings from newspapers throughout the country commenting on my recent resignation as assistant Attorney-General of the United States. Some give me unstinted praise. Some quote the words of the President of the United States:

"The position you have held has been one of the most difficult in the Government and one which could not have been conducted with such

Chinese Eastern Rail Chief Asserts Nippon Planned to Seize Road, Too

(Copyright, 1929, by the Chicago Tribune.)

HARBIN, Aug. 4. (Exclusive)—That Japan had definite plans to seize control of Harbin as well as all mileage of the Chinese Eastern Railway to the south and east of Harbin, was declared to be the opinion of Pang Chik-Uan, acting general manager of the Chinese Eastern Railway in an interview today with American press correspondents.

Pang Chik-Uan states that no Japanese official statement was issued, but the Chinese officials in North Manchuria quickly discovered Japan's intentions shortly following the original break between the Chinese and Russians.

The Chinese Eastern Railway has two branches south of Harbin, one connecting Harbin with Pogranichnaya, a length of about 500 miles, while the other branch about 200 miles long connects Harbin with Changchun, where a connection is made with the Japanese government-owned South Manchuria line.

TROOPS ON DUTY

The Japanese have four regiments of troops belonging to the South Manchuria garrison stationed at Changchun, which the Chinese believe were for the purpose of pushing northward toward Harbin in the event the soviet Russians had followed up their ultimatum and intervened with troops along the Chinese

New England Town Visited by Snowfall

NORTH ADAMS (Mass.) Aug. 4. (AP)—Snow fell for five minutes at 6:40 o'clock tonight in State street over an area of about 300 feet.

The sun was shining at the time. Records show that snow fell here in July of last year and June of the year before.

Violent Quake Shakes Up Chile

CURICO (Chile) Aug. 4. (AP)—A strong earthquake was felt here last night at 8:20 p.m., greatly alarming the population but causing little damage.

Other near-by points felt the same disturbance.

ESPEE LINE GOES OUT

Union Pacific Bridges Saved From Destruction; Arizona Drenched

Rushing flood waters resulting from heavy rains in the mountains along the eastern border of the State yesterday caused a washout on the main line of the Southern Pacific and threatened for a time to wash away approaches to three bridges on the main line of the Union Pacific, according to reports to the local offices of both railroads last night.

The scene of the washout on the Southern Pacific line is near Wister, in Imperial Valley, and although the total length of track washed away is not reported, it caused the closing of the whole line between Indio and Niland. The line was closed at 4:30 p.m. and indications last night were that traffic over it could not be resumed until some time late today.

TRAINS DETOURED

The line is traversed by all the Southern Pacific's through trains to the East and as a result the road was forced to detour its through trains over the Santa Fe, the trains being switched on to the Santa Fe tracks at Colton and proceeding over them to Phoenix, where they were switched back to the Southern Pacific tracks.

Train service by the Southern Pacific to the Imperial Valley was entirely halted by the washout. Only one passenger train for Imperial Valley points was scheduled to leave here last night and that train was able to run only as far as Indio.

BRIDGE SAVED

The threat to the Union Pacific bridges came from rains in the mountains back of Joshua, Kelso, Cima, Yermo and Caliente. The most serious damage was done to the approach to the bridge at Joshua, which was partly washed out, but emergency crews and equipment, including a number of carloads of gravel, were rushed to this bridge and the other threatened points from Las Vegas, Nev., and late last night it was said that the menace of the flood waters had been overcome.

Traffic on the line, however, suffered seriously and it was a number of hours before normal train schedules could be put in operation again.

TOWN INUNDATED

The heavy rains, according to the reports to the Union Pacific offices, swelled the streams for hundreds of miles to the east of the State boundary and at Milford, Utah, the streets of the town were reported to be under a foot and a half of water and part of the Union Pacific bridge near the town was torn away by the rushing water, causing a delay of about five hours on the main line at that point before temporary repairs were effected.

Two sections of the road's Los Angeles Limited had passed safely over the bridge only a short while before part of it was torn loose by the flood waters. F. H. Knickerbocker, general manager of the road, made a tour of inspection last night of the area around Joshua and sent back word that the repair work had been so expeditious that none of the through trains due this morning will be more than a few minutes late.

HEAVY RAINS OCCUR THROUGHOUT ARIZONA

PHOENIX, Aug. 4. (AP) — Heavy rains general throughout Arizona, fell Saturday night and early today, adding considerable water to the inflow of the Coolidge and Roosevelt reservoirs. Rains were reported heavy on watersheds of both dams.

A precipitation of 1.01 inches, the heaviest of the year, was recorded here Saturday night, officials of the Weather Bureau announced. The rainfall caused considerable damage by flooding basements and ruining stock stored in some downtown stores.

WIND DAMAGE

Will Rogers Remarks:

SANTA MONICA, Aug. 4. [To the Editor of The Times:] Senator Reed Smoot interrupted President Hoover's week-end vacation in Virginia with a plea to please help the sugar industry. There is 120,000,000 of us eat it, and exactly 1231 that raise it. But Reed has dedicated his entire political career to make sugar not only sweet but dear to the hundred and twenty million.

Lot's wife (or somebody in the Bible) turned around to look back and turned into salt. If Reed ever glances back, we are going to have a human sugar bowl on our hands.

SPRING PEPS UP BYRD PUPS

Chimerical Ground Hog Sees Shadow and Dogs Get Exercise as Faint Light Appears Daily

LITTLE AMERICA (Antarctica) Aug. 4. (Exclusive)—Signs of spring in the Antarctic: Exercising the dogs, enough gray light at noon so that one can see for a long distance, and Friday was ground hog day.

At least, it corresponded to that day at home, although there are no ground hogs here. But if one had stuck his nose out of a hole in the snow and had been a very intelligent and imaginative animal and it had not been snowing he might have seen his shadow.

He probably would have crawled below again, thereby showing his wisdom, for despite the cheerfully widening band of light there are weeks of winter ahead and probably the coldest weather of the year.

But one cannot help but feel that spring is coming when it is possible to see again for three or four hours in the middle of the day.

The dog teams for the southern and supporting parties have been rearranged and each team will be taken off by its driver on a regular day of the week and exercised and trained so that they will be in good shape for the trail in October.

At other times the dogs will be tied up, so that two teams will not be able to engage in their favorite sport of chewing off each other's ears. They are the fightingest animals in the world.

There are about twenty puppies running about now, some of them pretty good-sized dogs. Having a puppy leap up on one is like being beset by a baby bear. When crawling on hands and knees out of a partly filled snow tunnel nothing is so upsetting as to have two or three of these playful, galumping pups clamber back and forth over one's prostrate form, stopping occasionally to poke a nose, redolent of seal, into one's face.

MAN FALLS 9600 FEET BUT LIVES!

He Had His Parachute, of Course, But Didn't Use It Till He Had Set Record

CINCINNATI, Aug. 4. (AP)—Rex Harker, 23 years of age of East Liverpool, O., broke the world's record for a delayed parachute jump here today. He leaped from a plane at an altitude of 11,800 feet over Lunken airport and fell 9600 feet before he pulled the cord, 2200 feet from the earth.

Harker beat the record of Gene Rock, made at South Bend, Ind., about two weeks ago when Rock dropped 6700 feet before pulling the cord.

The jump was observed by F. G. Manson, army parachute supervisor at Wright Field, Dayton.

SCOUTS BURY WAR HATRED

ARROWE PARK (Eng.) Aug. 4. (AP)—War bitterness was buried in striking fashion on this approximate anniversary of the outbreak of the World War when German Boy Scouts stood with their English, French and Belgian comrades and with boys of many other nations in a great international thanksgiving service in the arena.

This younger generation of nations which had fought each other came together today in friendship and co-operation. There were 30,000 Scouts representing almost every faith and every nationality at the service and it seemed that only the strongest bonds of comradeship could have induced them to stand exposed to the deluge, which swept over the park as the service ended.

The Archbishop of Canterbury conducted the service from the royal box, assisted by Sir Robert Baden-Powell, who dreamed this dream of universal brotherhood twenty-one years ago.

The Archbishop in his address alluded to this when he said, "Today behold this dreamer cometh, and he comes not alone but with the comradeship of nearly 2,000,000 boys belonging to forty-one countries. His dream has become the world's reality."

Not far away on the recreation ground Cardinal Bourne conducted high mass for the Catholic Scouts, which had its thrilling climax when the boys stood bareheaded with upraised hands in a deluge of rain and gave the Scout promise to do their best.

Sir Robert Baden-Powell visited the American camp this afternoon and was presented with a buckskin shirt and badge by National Commissioner Dan Beard and was invested by E. S. Martin of the American Editorial Board. The material for the gifts was collected from Indians in various parts of the United States. American Camp Chief Rich presented Sir Robert with his portrait and several other gifts were made by the boys.

OIL BARGE BLAST TOLL FIVE DEAD

Two Others Missing After Explosion that Wrecked Craft on Ohio River

LOUISVILLE (Ky.) Aug. 4. (AP)—An explosion of an oil barge on the Ohio River at Kosmosdale yesterday had claimed a toll of five lives today, with two men still missing.

The blast, which hurled mangled bodies of workmen through the air, was caused by the formation of gas over a two-inch layer of oil in the bottom of the barge, officials of the company said. They blamed the disaster on the use of an acetylene torch.

The dead are: Murray Jockel, 23 years of age, West Point, Ky.; Leslie Underwood, 22, Louisville; Ed O. Jupin, 45, Meadowlawn, Ky.; Cleve Skeeters, 45, Orell, Ky., and Allan Sauer, 46, Louisville.

The two missing men are Frank Reader, 36, Rosewood, Ind., and William Wilberding, 29, Louisville. Divers from here are searching for the bodies today.

Just before Sauer died, he gave a vivid account of the explosion. "The first thing I knew," he said, "was that I was being twisted through the air. It seemed that I would never stop twisting, and when I hit the water I realized what had happened."

BRITAIN AND EGYPT NEAR NEW ACCORD

Premier Mahmoud Says Proposals Reached That Go Beyond Any Preceding

CAIRO (Egypt) Aug. 4. (AP)—Premier Mahmoud in a message tonight to the people of Egypt declared he has reached proposals for settlement of relations with Great Britain that go far beyond any preceding.

His message said:

"I am happy to announce that after long and difficult negotiations I have succeeded in obtaining proposals for settlement of relations between Egypt and England on the basis of friendly mutual understanding.

"Full details will be published in due course and it is my fervent hope that they will be examined in the spirit of enlightened patriotism by all Egyptians who love their country, regardless of party or creed. I believe that if examined in this spirit they will be found to go far beyond any proposals which have preceded them and that a treaty embodying these proposals will consolidate friendship and enable the two countries to co-operate in preserving the peace of the world."

GRAF ZEPPELIN ARRIVES AS HUGE CROWD CHEERS

Air Liner Lands at Lakehurst at End of 95-Hour Sea Crossing and After Visit to New York

NAVAL AIR STATION, LAKEHURST (N. J.) Aug. 5. (Monday.) (AP)—The dirigible Graf Zeppelin was berthed in the navy hangar at 2:52 a.m., eastern standard time, today when the wind died down enough to permit it to be taken from the mooring mast where it had swung since its arrival from Germany early last night.

NAVAL AIR STATION, LAKEHURST (N. J.) Aug. 4. (AP)—The Graf Zeppelin, mighty German monarch of the air, landed on American soil tonight, completing its third crossing of the Atlantic within a year.

Last October the huge dirigible completed its first round trip from its base at Friedrichshafen, Germany, to the great navy reservation here, where the naval dirigible Los Angeles has its home. At 5:55 o'clock (eastern standard time) this afternoon a speck was sighted fourteen miles away to the east by Coxswain William Bishop, lookout man for the Los Angeles, and half an hour later the huge silver bag poked its shining nose into the sunset over the field.

Maneuvering in a salute to a cheering crowd of almost 100,000 persons, the Zeppelin disappeared over the northern horizon and cruised over New York City before returning to the reservation where it dropped its landing ropes at 8:4[illegible] p.m. It was dragged to a stub mast on the field, pending its removal into the huge naval hangar which will be its home until it departs on the return journey. The landing was accomplished 95 hours and 19 minutes from the time the ship left its base.

MANY MILES TRAVELED

An average speed of approximately forty-five miles an hour was credited to the ship up to the time it first was sighted, but the craft slowed down as it approached its destination and rode leisurely to New York, and it is believed that the final computation will reduce the early average.

Authorities estimated the Graf traveled 5331 miles on its latest voyage, including the side trip to New York City. Last year the ship required 109 hours and 58 minutes to cover a course of [illegible] miles to New York.

A forty-five-mile headwind early today cut the air liner's speed to a minimum and caused a change of plans which eliminated scheduled flights over Washington, Baltimore and Philadelphia.

VISIBILITY GOOD

Encountering unfavorable winds as the ship neared the coast this morning Dr. Eckener first decided not to go inland over Washington and then as the winds continued strong he eliminated Philadelphia from his itinerary and set the nose of his Zeppelin directly for Lakehurst.

Although the winds were against the Graf other weather conditions were favorable, the sky clear and visibility good.

WORLD CRUISE

When the Graf takes off on its return trip it will be starting a cruise around the world, which will be followed next spring by a trans-Arctic exploration cruise.

Dr. Eckener announced on his arrival tonight that if fuel and oil supplies can be taken on soon enough he will start back Wednesday night to Friedrichshafen, the first of four steps on the cruise around the world.

This westward crossing was far more successful than the last, a broken water tank that wet a cabin roof being the most untoward incident. Some bad weather was encountered but none of it was like the damaging gale of October or the storm that buffeted the ship about Southern France after it had turned back on a trans-Atlantic flight in May because of motor trouble.

Today the arrival was being broadcast to New York offices of press associations and through a network of broadcasting stations even before the dirigible reached the field. A flying telephone booth of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company carried the radiophone equipment by which reporters told the story to their offices and announcers sent descriptions to the public through stations of the Columbia Broadcasting Company.

BEAUTIFUL SIGHT

The ending of the journey provided a beautiful sight. More than 15,000 automobiles jammed into the 2500 acres of the reservation and from each car poured a capacity load of passengers, who wandered

English Help Convicts to Be Reclaimed and Give Prison Instruction

[With widespread crime persistent in the United States, it is of interest to see how Europe deals with crime and criminals. Accordingly an investigation of foreign prisons and penology systems has been made by The Times and the North American Newspaper Alliance. The results are given in a series of dispatches, of which this is the first.]

BY HENRIETTA W. BINGHAM

LONDON, Aug. 4. (Exclusive)—As crime waves continue to break across America the honest citizen may reflect on the words of President Hoover, who, in his inaugural address, expressed the opinion that the whole of the judicial code of America must be reformed, reorganized and strengthened.

The United States appears to have failed where England, France, Germany, Austria, Holland and others have succeeded. To those countries crime waves are as remote and as "typically American" as baseball and skyscrapers. Their methods of maintaining law and order are as varied as the seasons, but they have one thing in common—the criminal is brought promptly to justice.

When a man commits murder in England he is usually sentenced within two or three months of his arrest, and the sentence is carried out soon thereafter. Three clear Sundays are allowed him between the death sentence and execution and this period may be extended if he appeals against the death sentence. When a man steals in France he is promptly deported to Devil's Island. When a man is convicted of manslaughter in Holland he does ten to twenty-five years' solitary confinement.

CHANGE IN SYSTEM

The foundations of the English prison system were laid in 1778, when an act was passed to introduce three new principles of dealing with criminals, separate confinement, hard labor and instruction, secular and religious.

These principles have survived, though the methods of applying them have changed enormously. At various times in the last 150 years royal commissions and boards of inquiry have studied penal conditions and suggested reforms, with many important improvements resulting.

The Penal Servitude Act of 1864, the Habitual Criminals Act of 1869 and the Prevention of Crimes Act of 1871 legalized reforms which made the English penal code of the late nineteenth century the most humane and effective that had ever existed.

As a result of reforms introduced in 1878, 1894, 1898, 1908 and 1914 the present English system is as different from that of 1871 as the

FLYING PHONE BUSY AS BEE

BY W. W. CHAPIN

ALONGSIDE GRAF ZEPPELIN OVER AMERICAN COAST, Aug. 4. (By radio telephone to the Associated Press)—Greeted in air by this flying telephone booth as it neared its destination the Graf Zeppelin, largest ship ever to sail the skies, paid its second visit to America today.

With the afternoon sun flashing from her silver flanks the majestic dirigible from Germany rode like some giant knight in shining armor above the last few miles of the ocean she was crossing for the third time.

Although at close range her bulk seemed to fill the firmament the queen of the ocean skies moved through the air, under guidance of her crew of two score of the men who go up to the sky in ships, as gracefully as a woman crossing a drawing-room.

This telephone plane, the same one from which reporters recently conversed from the air above New Jersey with their offices in New York and London, left Hadley Field, N. J., today on receipt of information by the Western Electric Company, its operators, that the Graf Zeppelin was only 200 miles away.

During its flight a radio announcer broadcast over a nation-wide hook-up direct from the plane and news stories were telephoned to New York, this also being put on the air for radio listeners.

The great silver bag presented a dramatic sight in silhouette against the evening sky, and an escort of airplanes hummed in harmony with the five huge motors suspended beneath the gigantic bag. The entire procession in passing the hangar at

NEW LIGHT ON PROHIBITION GIVEN BY "INSIDE" STORY

POLITICS AND PROHIBITION

Bootleggers who reach the ears of Presidents, Senators who die with huge cash bribes in their safe deposit vaults, are a part of the battle revealed by Mabel Walker Willebrandt in the story of her experiences as assistant United States Attorney General in charge of prohibition.

Her second chapter, "Politics and Enforcement," will appear in tomorrow's issue of The Times.

It is worth a lot to have that comment from him, but it does not stop leading papers from harsh editorial comment. Personal criticism rarely occurred prior to last summer's campaign. I suppose, though, that every heated campaign must have its "straw man" to hang in effigy to appease a howling populace. In this campaign I seem to have been destined for that doubtful honor. Of course the much heralded Springfield, O., "speech to the Methodists" wasn't an attack on the rival candidate's religion, and it wasn't in a church, and I didn't go as a "free lance" to embarrass the Republican Committee.

The simple truth is that over my written protest I was urged by the Republican National Committee in two telegrams (which now repose in my files) to make that speech. The week before it was delivered every word of it was carefully edited by James Francis Burke, a Catholic, and counsel of the Republican National Committee. He did this at committee headquarters.

DIFFICULT CHOICE

The Democratic candidate's attack on me may have turned out to be doubtful wisdom politically, but it was just a part of political combat and not unfair. However, the antiprohibitionists in my own party were both unwise and unfair. For they made common cause with Gov. Smith, when he attacked, shouting eagerly in effect, "Atta boy, Al!" When wet Eastern Republicans started bombing me as a "free lance" and an "embarrassment" to the party, I had to choose whether to disclose the telegrams and actually embarrass the committee, or keep still and take punishment. It seemed to me that good sportsmanship dictated the latter course. The result is a general impression about the nation that I am a person obsessed with but a single, dominant determination—namely, the complete annihilation of "Demon Rum" and all of his consorts; and that I am bent on the jailing or executing of every person who dares raise a voice in opposition to the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead Act.

The fact is that before I took office in 1921 I never had been actively connected with the prohibitionist movement. I am now but was not then a teetotaler. While it was legal to do so, I had liquor in my own home in California, and used it, in moderation, of course. Furthermore, I have a very real aversion to putting people in jail and in prison. I know from actual acquaintance with the conditions inside the penal institutions that they are much more often the breeding-places of crime than places for the protection of society and the reformation and redemption of men and woman who have preyed upon and been a menace to society.

OUTSIDE INTERESTS

My private law practice in California before going to Washington as Assistant Attorney-General, did not include either criminal or divorce cases. I still was "professionally" young but my practice was dignified and growing, and it was lucrative enough to make me pay more personal income tax than I have paid on a government salary. While serving as principal of a graded school in South Pasadena, Cal., I had completed the law course of the University of Southern California by attending classes late in the afternoon and in the evening. Then for a year while I built up a practice of law in the day, I supplemented (I might truthfully say supported this infant practice) by teaching Americanization classes in the Macey-street night school in the foreign quarter of the city.

As Public Defender, appointed without salary, by the Mayor and City Council of Los Angeles, I gained valuable court experience trying hundreds of cases of every character. So successful proved the city's experiment of a Public Defender that the office was established permanently.

When the war came, I was named chairman of the legal advisory board, with a large staff of lawyers, handling cases under the draft law. Certainly the whole period of my legal education and early practice was of a nature calculated to lay a foundation of sympathy for what is termed the "under dog"—the man, woman, or child with little money, education, property or friends.

While since 1921 I have been responsible for the direction of prosecutions under the Volstead Act I have had many other duties in no way connected with prohibition.

MITCHELL'S COMMENT

Atty.-Gen. Mitchell, in accepting my resignation, with both truth and generosity, said:

"I think your prohibition work has unduly submerged your other accomplishments in the public mind."

He undoubtedly was referring to the volume of work before the Supreme Court of the United States, where, in number of cases handled, my record is fourth among the members of the American Bar. These cases have not been confined to prohibition, but have run pretty well the gamut of Federal law. In point of service I long have been the "oldest" assistant Attorney-General and at various times I have been called upon to administer practically every position in the Department, except that of Solicitor-General. My division has grown from the smallest, with but three assistants, to the largest, with more than 100 in the immediate staff and several hundred in the field. We not only at all times have supervised prohibition cases, but for various periods have carried the responsibility for matters arising under interstate commerce, all agricultural laws, Federal insurance, including war-risk insurance and the Veterans' Bureau, litigation growing out of independent treaties, immigration, admiralty and all Federal taxation cases, and prisons.

EXTENSIVE COURT WORK

A single phase of my other work should furnish ample proof of the fact that all of my mental processes cannot have been submerged in the extermination of the liquor traffic. During the past year my office has handled nine tax cases before the United States Supreme Court, eight of these having been decided in favor of the government. We also have prepared and argued 175 cases in the ten Circuit Courts of Appeal throughout the United States, and Court of Appeal of the District of Columbia, and have directed or reviewed 413 other cases involving tax matters in which the government was interested to the extent of hundreds of millions of dollars.

To the charge that I am a bigot and injected the religious issue in the last campaign, the unstinted faith and support of my many Catholic friends are the best and perhaps the only reply. For intolerance and bigotry are motives of the heart and lie deep. It so chances that the man most responsible for obtaining my appointment by President Harding is Frank Doherty, an attorney of Los Angeles, a Catholic.

EXPENSIVE "CRY"

When the cartoons were picturing me as a sort of modern witch burner, I could stand it no longer and called Mr. Doherty one Sunday afternoon and said, "Surely you and Sarah do not believe these things of me?" And with the friendly reassurance in his warm Irish voice, all my "front" collapsed. I laughed later as I paid the bill for my record long-distance and most expensive "cry." What satisfaction my weakness would cause a lot of folks who thought I was "leather-necked." I do enjoy a real clean fight, political, legal or otherwise, but most of us have a vulnerable spot where we really can be hurt and the charge of religious intolerance found mine.

I have said enough—perhaps too much—about myself. But if what I am to say about prohibition, the most controversial question in the public mind, is to receive fair hearing, there first must be presented a basis for belief that my opinion and my actions are not those of a zealot, unguided by facts and reason.

Why talk about prohibition at all?

Certainly I have no overwhelming desire to force acceptance of my views.

ONLY RIVAL IN INTEREST

I have lived so much of prohibition for the past eight years that sometimes I wish I might never hear of the subject again. But it is no more possible to avoid prohibition discussion than to avoid breathing. In every newspaper every day of the year, on every street corner where people stop to talk, at every afternoon tea party, in every social gathering of any kind involving any class of society, one subject recurs time after time and is of universal interest.

No political, economic, or moral issue has so engrossed and divided all the people of America as the prohibition problem, except the issue of slavery. There were and are millions and millions of people who have not the slightest conception of or interest in the tariff, important as that subject really is to every citizen. There are millions of people who take only small notice of the great problem of international disarmament and the security of nations against war. There are millions of good citizens who are totally unaware of national immigration policies. But ninety-nine out of 100 people, whether children in high school or graded school, or men and women in the vigorous or declining years of life, have definite and aggressive views on the wisdom or folly of prohibiting the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquor, and the methods used to bring about enforcement of the law on that subject.

PURPOSE EXPLAINED

It seems proper to me, therefore, for one who has given eight of the "best" years of her life to an effort to enforce prohibition now to reveal the facts of the situation, and give an opinion resulting from such facts and experience. I hope they may help to a clearer and less emotional view of the national problem.

I shall endeavor to answer some of the questions in which the great majority of the people of America are vitally interested.

I shall not discuss the wisdom of adopting prohibition as a national policy. Such an argument is not timely. The essential fact is that imbedded in the Constitution of the United States is the Eighteenth Amendment.

"Sec. 1. After one year from the ratification of this article the manufacture, sale or transportation of intoxicating liquors within, the importation thereof into, or the exportation thereof from, the United States and all territory subject to the jurisdiction thereof for beverage purposes is hereby prohibited.

"Sec. 2. The Congress and the several States shall have concurrent power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation."

QUESTIONS INVOLVED

Congress has enacted certain laws to give effect to that part of the Constitution. The arguments for and against prohibition as a national policy can be found elsewhere. I propose to leave those arguments to others and to devote myself to answering such questions as these:

Is the prohibition amendment or law unenforceable?

Is there a legal substitute for prohibition of all intoxicating liquors?

Is prohibition enforcement effective, or is it losing in effectiveness?

Who is responsible for nonenforcement of the prohibition laws?

Are the best methods being employed in the enforcement of prohibition? If not, why not?

Is it justifiable to take human life to enforce prohibition?

Should there be more "rigid" enforcement; additional thousands of prohibition agents; more sever penalities; enforcement of the law against the man who buys a half-pint or quart of whisky for personal consumption, as well as against the man who sells it; searches of homes, either with or without warrants; the use of the Army and Navy to aid in prohibition enforcement; denial of the right of jury trial in minor cases of infraction of the prohibition laws? What about the Jones amendment? Are the enemies of the Eighteenth Amendment and prohibition enforcement winning their battle?

FURTHER QUERIES

What is the prospect for prohibition enforcement hereafter? Can prohibition be made "popular"? Is the effort rightly termed a "noble experiment" by President Hoover doomed to failure?

What are the "big leaks" under prohibition enforcement, as we now have it? Can our cities be "dried up"?

Is there any cure for the defects of prohibition enforcement?

On the answers of the great body of American citizens to these questions within the next few years depends the ultimate fate of the Eighteenth Amendment. When the people are sure whether or not we actually can have prohibition enforcement, then they will decide whether or not there shall continue to be a prohibition amendment and prohibition laws. We have the amendment and the laws now. We have not yet had effective enforcement of prohibition.

(Tomorrow Mrs. Willebrandt will discuss the greatest obstacle to enforcement: politics.)

British Prison System Has Many Virtues

Today all prisons are under the supervision of a permanent prison commission. The local prisons, which correspond to county and city jails in the United States, are governed in the same way and are subject to one set of laws and regulations. There is no difference in the method of treating prisoners in different prisons; the method varies only according to the classification of the prisoner, no matter where confined. The treatment of prisoners in the convict prisons, penitentiaries, is also uniform, and under the direction of the Prison Commission.

CRIMINAL PROTECTED

One of the many advantages of this central control of prisons is that the criminal is protected from graft, violence and contamination, while the community is protected from the criminal.

Another advantage is the opportunity given to classify malefactors and send them to special prisons. Not merely the particular offense of which the criminal is convicted determines his punishment, but his age, sex, character and previous conduct are taken into consideration.

When a man is convicted of a petty offense in England he may be fined or put on probation, instead of imprisoned. He may pay the fine in installments. In this way thousands of unfortunates are saved from the inevitable blow to pride and self-respect caused by imprisonment.

When a man is accused of a crime in England he is sent to a remand prison, or to the remand section of a local prison. While he is confined awaiting trial he has every reasonable privilege, but more important than his comfort and his welfare is the fact that there is no possibility of his consorting with criminals who might influence him or blackmail him afterward.

SEGREGATE FIRST OFFENDERS

If a man is convicted of a crime and receives a sentence of imprisonment, which might extend from five days to two years, he is sent to a local prison with special facilities to deal with criminals of his class. Careful arrangements are made to keep first offenders separate, and in London, owing to the larger prison population, it is possible to set aside a separate prison. A boy 16 to 21 would be sent in the first place to a collecting center for young prisoners, and a prisoner certified insane is sent to a criminal lunatic asylum.

Women criminals are classified in much the same way as men—juvenile, adult, first offender, habitual offender, normal or abnormal. There are Borstal institutions for juvenile girls, separate wings of local prisons for women and special convict prisons for women. Women prisoners are supervised entirely by women attendants, and often there is a woman doctor.

The man or woman sentenced to penal servitude, three years to life, is sent to a convict prison. If already convicted more than three times and obviously living a life of crime, the prisoner is subject to a further sentence of "preventive detention," which must be served under special conditions after the expiration of a penal sentence. Thus a professional criminal is secluded not only as a punishment, but as a precaution from the society to which the prisoner has proved an incorrigible menace.

No matter in what group the malefactor is classified, or to what prison he goes, every effort is made to reclaim him. Even the professional criminal is not regarded as hopeless and worthless.

Every prison officer, from governor to warder, is appointed because he is especially fitted to make a prison something more than a place of confinement. If the prisoner is to learn obedience, discipline and industry the men who supervise and teach him must set him an example of honesty and clean living.

storm which caused estimated damage of $50,000.

Only a light shower visited Safford early this morning, but the Sheriff's office there reported a heavy rain late Saturday on the Coolidge watershed ten miles south.

Heavy precipitation in the vicinity of Nogales last night tied up more than 300 cars on the Tucson and Patagonia highways. The motorists were compelled to wait for hours until the flood waters receded.

Chandler, on the southside, received the heaviest rainfall of the season during an electrical storm Saturday evening. Blown-out fuses at the power plant there during the storm left the city in darkness for short periods during the night. There was no serious damage.

An all-time record for rainfall during July was established for Douglas this year with 6.45 inches, according to the official record of the observer at the Douglas smelter.

CHICAGO TONGS KILL TWO

Police Place Extra Guards as Rival Chinese Start Hostilities That Terrorize District

CHICAGO, Aug. 4. (AP)—A serious outbreak of tong warfare is feared by police following the probable fatal shooting of an On Leong Tong member in the heart of Chinatown tonight, apparently in retaliation for the slaying of Yee Sun, Hip Sing Tong members, this morning.

Agitation was running high in the district and Chinese merchants appealed to police for protection. Special squads of picked detectives were augmented after the day's second shooting and officers cruised watchfully in the area centering at Twenty-second street and Wentworth avenue.

Yee Sun was shot and killed in what police believe to be a fresh outbreak of tong warfare. Yee was shot three times by a Chinese assailant who stepped suddenly from a doorway as the victim was passing. The assassin dropped a pistol beside the slain man's body and escaped in the crowd.

NEW YORK FEARS OUTBREAK IN SPREAD OF TONG WAR

NEW YORK, Aug. 4. (AP)—New York's Chinatown was tense today under the watchful eyes of special squads of detectives who feared an outbreak of a tong war as an aftermath of the slaying of a Chinese in Chicago today.

Police found the streets of Chinatown unusually deserted. The flags usually flying over the headquarters of the two tongs, the On Leongs and the Hip Sings, were not visible today.

The trouble is believed to have originated in the defection of three members of the On Leong tong, who, after leaving the tong, subsequently joined the Hip Sings. This is in violation of an agreement between the tongs. After protest by the On Leongs, the three men were dropped from membership in the Hip Sings and peace reigned until today's outbreak in Chicago.

No officials of either tong could be located today. Police said the extra posts will be manned until there is assurance that there will be no trouble.

Eastern Railway from Manchuli southward.

The acting general manager of the Chinese Eastern Railway stated that the Chinese have maintained regular railway schedules since the break with soviet Russia despite the fact that more than a thousand Red Russians have quit their jobs. He stated the vacated places rapidly are being filled with Chinese and White Russians, who are taking out Chinese citizenship papers. He declared that the Red Russians employed on the Chinese Eastern Railway still are being intimidated and even threatened with their lives if they continue in the Chinese employ but it is believed that early resumption of relations will prevent further resignations.

HOPE EXPRESSED

The Chinese manager declared that China is anxious to resume passenger and freight traffic with the connections of soviet Russia and expressed the hope that the conversations now taking place at Manchuli will be successful.

The local papers have published an unconfirmed report of a serious food shortage existing at Vladivostok due to the cutting off of railway communication. Reports from Moscow that a large number of White Russians were executed for attempting to cross the Siberian frontier of Manchuria in order to start a counter-revolution, are denied here.

PARLEY IMPERILED BY SOVIET DEMANDS

TOKIO, Aug. 4. (AP)—Rengo News Agency dispatches from Manchuli, Manchuria, today said a rupture threatens Sino-Russian negotiations growing out of the Chinese Eastern Railroad controversy because of the Russian demand of the right to station troops along the railroad. These soviet troops would share its patrolling with Chinese troops.

It is understood the Russians contend any undertaking by the Chinese to restore the status quo would be valueless without this guarantee. Tsai Yun-Shend, commissioner for foreignaffairs at Harbin, who is negotiating for the Chinese government referred the matter to the provincial government at Mukden, and, it is understood, has been instructed to refuse.

AMERICANS TOP BUSINESS LEVEL

Department of Commerce Report Just Out

Annual Publication Tells of Steady Growth

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4. (AP)—American business in 1928 is described in the annual yearbook published today by the Department of Commerce as having reached "the highest level ever attained."

The business conditions during last year continued "the prosperity characteristic of every year since 1921," the yearbook says, and reflected "the steadily increasing efficiency of both industry and trade." A slight recession in activity which appeared toward the close of 1927 was promptly recovered after the turn of the year, it added, and business continued very active throughout the remainder of 1928.

"Manufacturing output, the most comprehensive measure of economic activity, was 3 per cent above the previous peak of 1926," the yearbook reports.

"Mineral output, chiefly because of smaller coal production, was slightly less than in 1926 or 1927.

"Tonnage of railway traffic increased slightly and on account of reduced operating expenses the net operating income of the railways was 10 per cent greater than in 1927.

"Export trade increased 5½ per cent in value and in quantitative terms was greater than even during the abnormal war years.

"While the value of imports declined sluggishly this was owing entirely to lower prices of import commodities.

"Wholesale prices in domestic markets averaged a little higher than in 1927, mainly because of advance in farm products, but the decline in that class of commodities after the large harvest brought the general price index for December, 1928, to the same level as twelve months before."

Temporary cessation of the steady improvement which had been apparent within the past few days was registered last night and today his condition was reported "unchanged." Mr. Berger suffered a basal skull fracture when struck by a street car July 16, last.

Admiring Throngs Crane Necks to See This Sight

This is a striking view of the Graf Zeppelin from the air as it approached Lakehurst following its journey of more than 5000 miles from Friedrichshafen, Germany.

GRAF ZEPPELIN DOWN TO EARTH

about the field under a reinforced guard of New Jersey State troopers, marines and sailors.

A heavy wind that had whipped the field throughout the day had moderated and great banks of white clouds became fleecy in the sunset as the silvery Graf came out of the east under an escort of fourteen airplanes and silhouetted itself in the heavens before vanishing toward New York.

On its return from the metropolis its lights blinked on the northern horizon and the thrill of arrival gave way to the excitement of the landing. The crowd was orderly, however, and acres of roped-off areas were respected.

EIGHTEEN PASSENGERS

Dr. Eckener and the eighteen passengers whom he carried at $2000 a ticket, immediately on landing became the object of more than a score of newspaper men, customs and immigration agents. A special train was engaged to carry the passengers to New York. The stowaway who hid in the bag of the dirigible until it had left Friedrichshafen received attention from the authorities, although it is believed his case will be left in the hands of German officials for disposition after he is returned poste-haste—by steamship—to Germany.

The Zeppelin carried fifteen sacks of mail, considerable freight, 600 canaries, a baby gorilla and a young chimpanzee, the birds and the animals being consigned to a New York animal dealer.

NEW YORK SOUNDS WELCOME TO AIR QUEEN

NEW YORK, Aug. 4. (AP)—The dirigible Graf Zeppelin tonight paid a visit to New York City.

Accompanied by an escort of airplanes, and greeted by the whistles of harbor craft, the honking of automobiles and the cheering of thousands, many of whom had waited for hours in downtown Manhattan, the German airship made a brief trip over the city.

Crossing Sandy Hook Bay from Lakehurt, N. J., the dirigible flew over Staten Island and north over Upper New York Bay and the Statue of Liberty.

JUST BEFORE DARK

Blasts from the whistles of tugboats and other vessels in the harbor and the droning of motors of the escorting planes signalled the approach of the dirigible even before she could be seen in the lower part of the city. She sailed into view as the last light of day, shining through a rift in the clouds, made her envelope gleam like silver.

The thousands who had waited in Battery Park at the lower end of Manhattan cheered wildly, but as the ship sailed directly over their heads the cheering stopped. The lights in the Graf's cabin appeared to be blinking, but the apparent illusion was attributed to the swaying of the giant ship in the wind.

THOUSANDS WATCH

As the ship circled the Woolworth tower, thousands more gathered along the streets. Night watchmen temporarily left their posts and nightworkers rushed to windows or ran to the streets to get a better view.

A single small scout plane, dwarfed in comparison to the Graf, acted as guide for the Zeppelin. The dirigible followed the small craft up to the Times Square district, turned west to the Hudson River and headed toward its goal—Lakehurst.

While over Times Square the dirigible was picked up by a searchlight said to be the most powerful in the world, which played on the airship until it disappeared to the south.

STOWAWAY GIVEN SUMMARY HEARING

NAVAL AIR STATION, LAKEHURST (N. J.) Aug. 4. (AP)—The stowaway on the Graf Zeppelin was given a summary hearing when the dirigible landed tonight before Assistant Immigration Commissioner James L. Hughes, one of the officials to meet the ship here.

He was immediately taken to Gloucester, N. J., immigration detention depot for the Philadelphia district. He will be sent back on the first available steamer.

Dr. Eckener and other officers on the Graf declined to reveal the stowaway's name, lest he receive "undue publicity," but passengers said he is Albert Bushkow of Dortmund, Germany, and rode to Friedrichshafen on a bicycle to stow himself away.

PASSENGERS LAUD SMOOTHNESS OF TRIP

LAKEHURST (N. J.) Aug. 5. (AP) Col. Nelson Morris of Chicago, who arrived here aboard the Graf Zeppelin, had previously made more than thirty Atlantic crossings.

"And among all those other crossings, by steamship, there was only one as smooth as this," he said.

And Joachim Rickard of Boston and Herbert S. Siebel, Saginaw (Mich.) jeweler, who was the Associated Press special correspondent aboard the Graf, both of whom also had made many previous crossings by steamship, agreed with him.

"Why, it was so smooth," said Mrs. George E. Crouse of Syracuse, N. Y., that they didn't even have to have those little partitions in the berths that they have in steamship berths, to keep you from falling out when the ship rolls."

"It just wasn't like flying at all. While we were over the ocean, with no land marks to watch, we couldn't tell that we were moving at all."

BERLIN TUNES IN ON CHEERS

Radio Transmits Graf Zeppelin Welcome Over Vast Expanse of Land and Sea

BERLIN, Aug. 5. (Monday) (AP)—The cheers of an American crowd were heard in Berlin by radio fans here who sat up until 3:20 a.m. to listen in on the landing of the Graf Zeppelin at Lakehurst. The reception was rebroadcast by a Berlin station.

The receiving was somewhat marred by static but the voice of the American announcer came across the miles of land and water that the dirigible had taken almost four days to cover, generally clear although faint.

A few words of greeting by Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the airship, were heard distinctly. The word picture of the arrival of the pride of the German air fleet was made vivid for thousands here by occasional brief sentences of translation interpolated by the German senders, their voices overlapping that of the trans-Atlantic announcer with the weird effect of being in the same room instead of 3000 miles apart.

The entire front pages of the early editions of the morning papers were devoted to the voyage of the Zeppelin.

FLYING PHONE BUSY AS CAN BE

about 800 feet, maneuvered over the northwest part of the field.

Half an hour after leaving Hadley Capt. Ray Brooks, chief pilot for the Bell Telephone Laboratories, pointed through the shimmer of the plane's propeller and grinned. And out on the horizon was a smuge no larger than a puff of smoke from a man's pipe.

As plane and dirigible rushed toward each other, however, the Graf grew like the genie of Aladdin's lamp.

It assumed definite outline and was successively a minnow, a shark, a whale, and then the sun ran a yellow finger down its back and suddenly it was silhouetted in gold against the blue backdrop of the sky, a sailor's dream come true.

In the telephone plane W. W. Chapin called the long-distance lines operator of the telephone company and by radio and land wires was connected with Foster Hailey of the Associated Press city desk in New York.

"Foster," he said, "I'm in this flying telephone booth alongside the Graf. Are you set for the story?"

"Okay," Hailey replied, and so this story was dictated from the air, simultaneously being received in New York by telephone and being broadcast on the Columbia system. Norman Brogenshire of the Columbia system broadcast a descriptive story from the plane for radio listeners and he and F. S. Berngard, Bell Telephone Laboratories engineer, on the plane telephoned stories to news services, all of which also were broadcast.

While the broadcasting and telephoning were going on Capt. Brooks circled his plane about the dirigible and at the windows of the great ship could be seen the faces of the eighteen passengers who had made the 4000-mile flight from Friedrichshafen. Then the plane straightened out and darted away from Lakehurst, escorting the giant air liner to her destination.

Increase Attributed to Easy Money Market and Reparations Agreement

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4. (AP)—Loans obtained by foreign interests in the United States last June amounted to $144,625,600, the third largest total for that month ever recorded.

Chief reasons for the increased activity, the Commerce Department announced, are the temporary easing of the money market in New York and the "new feeling of confidence resulting from the agreement of the experts on German reparations payments."

The total for the second quarter of this year was $212,402,647, compared with $274,029,600 for the first quarter.

In April the total was only $12,456,700, but it increased to $55,320,347 in May, and in June it jumped to $144,625,600.

Committee Resumes Study of Cotton Rates Today

Night Session Decided on to Speed Up Work

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4. (AP)—Republican tariff-makers of the Senate awaited today the outcome of conferences between President Hoover and Chairman Smoot of the Senate Finance Committee which are regarded as likely to have an important bearing on what protection will be accorded sugar.

Senator Smoot spent the week-end with Mr. Hoover at the latter's Blue Ridge Mountain lodge and it generally is believed the principal subject was the Smoot sliding scale of sugar duties.

The plan already has been subjected to criticism by Democratic members of the committee as a "price-fixing scheme" and some Republicans have indicated they do not believe the plan will carry out the President's wish for a sugar tariff which will protect both consumer and producer.

HEARING WEDNESDAY

The Finance Committee will hold a hearing on the Smoot plan Wednesday and the Republican members of the committee are expected to reach a decision in executive session shortly afterward. Senator Smoot will return to the Capitol tomorrow, but whether he will divulge any details of his visit with Mr. Hoover is problematical, as he has closely guarded progress made so far by his committee.

Night sessions have been decided upon by the Finance Committee in the hope of speeding up its work. There has been some talk, however, of notifying the Senate membership that three-day recesses will be ordered between the 19th inst., the date the Senate ends its summer adjournment, and September 3 to give the committee more time to get the revised bill ready. If the periodic recesses are decided upon, no business will be transacted until September.

MUCH WORK REMAINS

Although Republican members of the committee have finished drafting half of the tariff schedules, a great deal of work remains. This is true particularly because the administrative features of the measure, over which Republicans themselves are not in agreement, are still to be considered. The different valuation plans by which European goods are appraised also are to be discussed.

The cotton schedules will be studied again tomorrow. Some progress was made last week and such information as was made available indicated that slight increases in rates were made in some cotton cloths and threads. The rates on vegetables and dried fruits have not been settled.

SAVANT LEAVES TO STUDY RUINS

First Representative Sent by U. of C.

Wife Accompanies Him as His Secretary

BERKELEY, Aug. 4. (Exclusive) The first representatives ever sent by the University of California to the site of ancient Babylonia and Assyria left here today for New York en route to Beirut and Bagdad. They are Prof. Henry F. Lutz, Egyptologist and Assyriologist, and Mrs. Lutz, who will act as his secretary.

Prof. Lutz has been appointed visiting professor at the American School of Archeology in Bagdad for the year 1929-1930, and has been asked to join forces with Harvard University in its excavations at Nuzi, an ancient city site fifty miles north of Bagdad.

ALUMNI GROUP AIDS

The alumni association is cooperating in making it possible for Prof. Lutz to acquire a collection of archeological material for the university. One alumnus has donated $5000 and it is the hope of Robert Sibley, executive manager of the association, that this fund will be doubled before Prof. Lutz brings his work in the Near East to a close.

It is pointed out that California must take action quickly if it expects to maintain a parity in archeological study with the universities of Eastern United States. The available material is limited, and the larger institutions, such as Chicago, Pennsylvania, Yale and Harvard are expending every effort to obtain the best that is left.

OF VAST IMPORTANCE

The site of Nuzi on which Prof. Lutz will work is considered of enormous archeological importance, he said before his departure, because of the sinking of a test shaft which disclosed three older cities and many ancient tombs underneath the surface ruins. The latest of the cities was destroyed about 1500 B. C., and the oldest dates back to the early part of the third millenium. Gold and silver jewelry set with semiprecious stones and hundreds of clay tablets covered with written notations have been taken out by Harvard.

Prof. Lutz will spend two weeks conferring with archeologists in New York and at Harvard before sailing for Asia Minor. Excavating will be started October 1 and continue through the winter. The winter months, he said, are the only ones during which a white man can work in the country. The summer months are terrifically hot.

STEARMAN AIRCRAFT DEAL MADE

United Corporation Takes in Wichita Plane Concern on Stock-Trade Basis

NEW YORK, Aug. 4. (AP)—The Stearman Aircraft Company of Wichita, Kan., manufacturers of commercial airplanes, has been merged with the United Aircraft and Transport Corporation, aviation holding company. Announcement of the merger was made here by F. B. Rentschler, president of the United company, and Lloyd Stearman, head of the Wichita organization.

The Stearman company, organized in 1927, is engaged in the production of two sizes of open and closed ships. Hereafter it will be operated as a unit in the United group.

Terms of the merger call for the acquisition by the United Corporation of all of the common stock of the Stearman company on the basis of 100 shares of United common for 375 shares of Stearman company stock. The merger entails no change in the personnel of the Stearman company.

United Aircraft now consists of the Pratt & Whitney Aircraft Company, Boeing Airplane Company, Boeing Air Transport, Inc., Chance Vought Corporation, Hamilton Aero Manufacturing Company, Stout Air Services, Inc., Sikorsky Aviation Corporation, United Aircraft Exports, Inc., and the Canadian Pratt & Whitney Aircraft Company, Ltd.

POSTOFFICE CHIEFS BACK FLIGHT TEST

Capt. Ira Eaker to Pilot Boeing Plane in Refueling Coast-to-Coast Trips

NEW YORK, Aug. 4. (Exclusive) Postal authorities today placed their official approval on the Boeing Air Transport's plan for an endurance air mail flight in which a plane will attempt to make two complete round trips between Mitchell Field, L. I., and San Francisco without landing.

The Boeing officials intend to utilize refueling knowledge gained in recent flights. During the four trips across the continent the three and a half - ton Boeing mail plane will be refueled and deliver and accept mail at its regular stations. The plane will be powered by a 525-horsepower Pratt & Whitney Hornet motor, approved by the Postoffice officials.

According to present plans Capt. Ira Eaker, who piloted the army Question Mark plane in its 150-hour flight, will take off in the heavy Boeing plane from San Francisco. It is expected the non-stop flight will be the forerunner of a regular twenty-four-hour mail service between New York and the cities of the Pacific Coast.

ORATORS AT CAPITAL OF ARGENTINA

Contest Group's Arrival at Buenos Aires Reported in Cable to Washington

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4. (Exclusive)—A cablegram received here today at headquarters of the National Oratorical Contest states that the members of the oratorical contest party have arrived in Buenos Aires after an interesting trip from Santiago via the Trans-Andean Railway. The party will leave tomorrow for a brief visit to Asuncion, returning to Buenos Aires on Saturday.

On the 22nd inst., after numerous excursions out of Buenos Aires, the party will sail for Rio De Janeiro.

In the Argentine, as in all of the countries which they have visited, the orators are being enthusiastically received by students and governmental officials.

Flying Schools of State to be Given Ratings

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 4. (Exclusive)—Co-operation between the California Development Association and the United States Department of Commerce in a program to give ratings to all schools of aviation, is to be carried out through a campaign among civic and commercial organizations of the State, Chairman R. E. Fished of the State-wide aeronautical committee, announced today. At the last session of Congress the Secretary of Commerce was authorized to rate flying schools and in July an inspector came here from Washington to inaugurate the work in California.

Although it is not compulsory to have schools rated, the Development Association will, in this campaign, endeavor to obtain recognition of the needs and benefit of Federal indorsement.

FRANCE TO PAY RELUCTANTLY

Siegfried Says Debts Called "Political Obligations"

People Do Not Feel Nation to Be "Morally Liable"

Speaker at Institute Thinks Prohibition Success

WILLIAMSTOWN (Mass.) Aug. 4. (AP)—Andre Siegfried, economic expert of the French Foreign Office and a lecturer at the Institute of Politics, today declared the French people regard reparations payments more in the light of "political obligations" than business debts.

"France has signed the agreements to pay her war debts," he continued, but her people still feel she is not morally liable to pay them. They regard those debts as political obligations, not business debts. France incurred them in a common cause with America and does not believe she should be called upon to make payment in full. She said so to America and America answered rightly, "We have your signature on your promise of payment." The French had nothing to answer.

FRANCE WILL PAY

"Since her signature is on paper promising payment, France will pay, but her people do not feel that she is now, or was ever, morally liable."

During his visits to the United States M. Siegfried has paid particular attention to the prohibition laws of this country. His study of this subject has led him to the conclusion that prohibition "has made good in America and will remain a fixture in her laws despite opposition."

M. Siegfried will remain at the Institute of Politics throughout the sessions to deliver a course of lectures on "The Political System of France."

OTHERS TO SPEAK

In addition to the study of French economics and political conditions, addresses will be given by George Young, Labor member of the British Parliament, on "Labor Politics in England;" by Count Giovanni Elia of Rome, Fascist and naval expert, on "Political and Economic Conditions of Modern Italy," and by Prof. T. E. Gregory, London banking and economic expert, on "The Future Prospects of British Industry."

The institute has outlined an extensive round-table investigation and study this week of limitation of armaments, Canadian-American relations, Chinese-Russian relations and inter-Allied debts and reparations.

HOOVER ON OUTING HAS COOL REST

Two Cabinet Members and Veterans' Chief Guests at Week-end Camp

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4. (AP)—Secluded in his mountain lodge near here, President Hoover arranged tonight to return to the White House early tomorrow morning after enjoying one of the coolest week-ends of the summer in his retreat.

Today most of the members of the party, including the host, took advantage of the exhilarating weather to go on a long tramp through the foothills of the Blue Ridge Mountains, in which the camp is located.

While the temperatures permitted thorough enjoyment of the holidays, not all of the time was devoted to recreation. The President had taken with him on the trip Postmaster-General Brown, Atty.-Gen. Mitchell and Frank T. Hines, director of the veterans' bureau, with whom he expected to discuss the problems of their departments. Plans for reduction of the mounting postoffice deficit and the Leavenworth Prison riots were topics for consideration.

Trailing the rest of the party, Chairman Smoot of the Senate Tariff Committee, retreated Saturday morning into the seclusion of the camp and took with him his proposed sliding-scale sugar tariff which he intended to explain for the benefit of the President.

How Fruit Fly Has Been Kept Out Recounted

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 4. (Exclusive)—Strict quarantine lines so far have kept the dread Mediterranean fruit fly out of California, agricultural interests of the State were informed today in a bulletin sent out by the California Development Association. An intense orchard survey now is under way, seeking to find the smallest trace of this pest, so that the insect can be eradicated before it obtains a foothold.

Every means, the statements say, is being taken to protect the State from a fly which may cause millions of dollars loss to orchardists. Information received from Washington by the fruit fly committee of the Development Association is to the effect that eradication of the pest in Florida is considered practical, providing the force fighting the fly is enlarged and the people give entire co-operation.

Two More Flee Auburn Prison

BEACON (N. Y.) Aug. 4. (Exclusive)—New York State's prison outbreak situation was marked today by the escape of two more convicts serving terms in Auburn men's prison, bringing the total of those successful in making breaks for liberty there to six within eight days, and the storage of tear gas bombs at the women's reformatory at Bedford, N. Y., to guard against a threatened outbreak, Raymond F. C. Kieb, State Commissioner of Corrections, announced here tonight.

NINE DROWN IN BOAT CRASH

Pleasure Vessels Collide in Ostend Harbor and Excursionists Fight for Life in Sea

OSTEND (Belgium) Aug. 4. (AP)—Nine persons were drowned today when two excursion boats, loaded almost to capacity with pleasure seekers, collided at the entrance to this harbor, one of them sinking almost at once.

Eight bodies, mostly of women excursionists, were recovered and are lying in the morgue tonight, a final check-up showed that six women, two little girls and one man were drowned. About twenty persons suffered from immersion and minor injuries. It was said that the presence of many small boats in the vicinity prevented greater loss of life.

One steamer was coming in at full speed as the other, crammed with passengers looking forward to a short sea trip, was leaving the harbor. This latter was cut into with such suddenness that no use could be made of the lifeboats.

Help was quickly at hand for those who got free of the sinking vessel. Lifeboats thrown overboard from the other ship saved many passangers, while strong swimmers from the bathing colony aided in the work.

Screams of the helpless women and children threshing about in the water were heard for a considerable distance along the shore and thousands rushed from the beach to the pier to watch the dozens of small boats making rescues.

All victims are Belgians.

Fair Sized City Lost and Found

NEW YORK, Aug. 4. (AP)—The number of people reported missing here in 1928 would populate a city about the size the last Federal census indicated for Northampton, Mass.; Greenville, S. C., or Ottumwa, Iowa.

Of the 23,147 who vanished, 22,428, or 97 per cent, were found, according to the annual report of the missing persons bureau of the police department. More than 12,000 persons have been reported missing so far in 1929.

ATWATER KENT SCREEN-GRID RADIO

..that's why it is outselling all other makes in Southern California

THE tremendous sales volume of Atwater Kent Screen-Grid radio tells the story that ballyhoo and sensationalism cannot.

The fact that more people today are buying Atwater Kent Screen-Grid radio than any other here in Southern California, as well as all over the country, is a glowing tribute to the superior performance of this revolutionary receiver.

Certainly no radio, so radical in principle, design and circuit, could overnight cause the entire industry to change its idea as to how a good radio should be built . . . or be accorded such an overwhelming acceptance . . . if it were not far, far better than anything known to man!

The only way though for you to really appreciate the reason for such world-wide enthusiasm is to hear it yourself at any Atwater Kent dealer's store.

SEVEN ARRESTED AT RED CAMP

Miniature Soviet Said to Be in Operation

Order to Abandon Resort Goes Unheeded

Children Recite Communist Pledge Each Morning

SAN BERNARDINO, Aug. 4. (AP)—Six women and one man were jailed here today on charges of displaying the Red flag growing out of an investigation of an alleged miniature soviet republic conducted as a summer camp for children in the foothills of the San Bernardino Mountains near here.

Dist.-Atty. George H. Johnson last night issued felony warrants against thirteen persons said to be the leaders of the Communistic venture. The arrest of six persons by Sheriff's deputies followed within a few hours, and the seventh was arrested today. Deputies were searching for six more.

Those under arrest were Isadore Berowitz, Belle Mintz, Yetta Stromberg, Emma Schmeriterman, Sarah Berowitz, Sarah Cutler and Esther Karpeliff. Those for whom warrants were issued but still at liberty are: William Green, Fred Firestone, Catherine Hrushack, Anna Rosenfield, Rose Spector and Sarah Radkin.

The investigation disclosed forty children of both sexes, ranging in ages from 6 to 16, were living in the camp. They were dressed in undescript one-piece dresses, and slept in a group of unsheltered beds in a barren clearing.

Orders to abandon the camp as a public nuisance were issued Friday, but the order was unheeded. Firestone, an agent of the International Labor Defense, protested against the mandate declaring no Communism was being taught in the camp. The investigation disclosed, however, reports stated, that the children were in possession of songs bearing Communistic titles and verbiage, and that a Communistic pledge was recited each sunrise.

Anaheim Man to Collect Indian Lore

ANAHEIM, Aug. 4.—Herman Strandt of 1104 West Center street today announced that he will undertake a series of explorations in the Costa Mesa area of Orange county for the San Diego Museum in an effort to trace the origin of Indian tribes in Southern California. Strandt, who for sixteen years has been delving in archeology, both as an amateur and as a professional, has a theory that the Indian came to this section from the southward. He hopes to find in graves at Costa Mesa evidence that will corroborate this theory.

B. L. Squires and D. S. Bone, members of the museum staff, visited the Anaheim scientist this week and together they worked out plans for the explorations. Strandt already has done considerable work in the Costa Mesa area and had added to his already extensive collection of tools and bones from discoveries made there. He says that similar explorations now are under way in the Oceanside district. Mr. Strandt also is planning explorations in other parts of Orange county, but declares that graves in the Costa Mesa area offer the most promise of results.

CITY EMPLOYEE HURT IN CRASH

ONTARIO, Aug. 4.—Although severely cut about the head and suffering severe injuries about the body, J. L. Murphy, 43 years of age, city employee, is recovering from an accident in which his truck was demolished by a Pacific Electric train at the crossing at Palm avenue.

Murphy said his view of the railroad tracks was obstructed by a citrus tree and his truck was so near the tracks when he observed the train he could neither stop it in time nor speed up fast enough to beat the train across. The right front wheel of the truck was struck, and the vehicle was almost demolished.

Joe Quesada, also a city employee, on the truck with Murphy, leaped off and ran hastily from the scene. Murphy was treated for his injuries at San Antonio Community Hospital, and then taken to his home, 511 West Grove street.

ACCUSED MOONSHINER GIVEN HIS LIBERTY

ANAHEIM, Aug. 4.—J. S. Porter, held for three days on charges of possession and manufacture of intoxicating liquor, today was set free upon his own recognizance. Previously bail had been set at $5500. Motion to liberate the man was made by Dist.-Atty. Z. B. West, when Porter appeared before Police Judge Eldon W. Stark. Porter's arrest followed a raid upon a huge distillery plant located in an old barn at the northwest corner of Anaheim Wednesday evening. He denied knowledge of the existence of the plant. No other arrests were made.

BUSINESS MEN TO MERGE ORGANIZATIONS

UPLAND, Aug. 4.—Upland Business Men's Association will be formally disbanded the 15th inst., and from that date the Chamber of Commerce and B. M. A. will function as one organization.

Plans are now being considered for building up a strong chamber of commerce with a full-time secretary being considered. A committee numbering Glenn Atwood, Roy Flickinger and James Goodban, has been named to liquidate assets of the association and return

POLICE IN BELATED APPEAL

Patrolmen and Firemen of San Diego Present Claims for More Pay

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 4.—A belated appeal for an increase in wages has been made by members of the police and fire departments in a communication to the City Council. An increase of $15 a month for the men in both departments is asked which, if allowed, would add in the aggregate, $29,700 to the budget of the fire department and $28,215 to that of the police department for the eleven months remaining of the fiscal year which began on July 1.

It is stated in the appeal, signed by a committee consisting of E. R. Newton McNeely, P. P. Newsom, Robert Cornad and P. J. Slattery, that at a conference between the Councilmen and representatives of the policemen and firemen, at the time of budget making in 1928, it was agreed that the policemen and firemen were entitled to a wage increase of $30 a month. The increase, it was contended, would place the employees of these departments on a par with similar departments in other cities of size of San Diego throughout the State. Owing to the financial stringency, however, the policemen and firemen say they accepted an increase of only $15 a month, under the promise of a similar increase this year. It is asked that the increase be provided for in making up the budget for 1929-30.

Consideration of the budget by the Council was concluded last Thursday, and as no demand for a wage increase for policemen and firemen previously was made, it is considered doubtful at the City Hall that an adjustment yet can be made. The budget as approved last Thursday will be before the Council tomorrow morning for adoption by ordinance.

Request for Annexation is Withdrawn

BRYN MAWR, Aug. 4.—Mission residents are rejoicing because the legal request for annexation of the Mission school district to Redlands High School district has been withdrawn by Supervisor George Biggin and Miss Ida Collins, county superintendent of schools. It is said the Mission residents object to being annexed to any district, that the objection is not to Redlands.

After the legal request was made some time ago protests were circulated among the citizens of the district. The protest was put forth that if annexed to Redlands High School district the territory in the Mission district would pay one-fifth of the total cost of maintaining the Redlands High School, whereas it would contribute only one-fifteenth of the total pupils attending that school.

The document set out that the Mission district is now paying its pro rata cost of educating its children in the Redlands High School and the annexation would increase taxation more than 50 cents per $100 of assessed valuation.

"Mission district would rather maintain its own separate high school," the protest declared. Those favoring the annexation say Mission students have been educated for half the tax paid by Redlands residents.

Supervisor John Andresen said people had called on him stating they desired to be annexed to the San Bernardino district if it was determined Mission would be required to be a part of some high school district.

A conference may be held in Redlands to be attended by representative citizens of Redlands and Mission seeking an agreement by which Redlands will abandon permanently its effort to secure the annexation.

The annexation of the Mission district to the Redlands High School district would make available far more tax money for the Redlands school, in that there would be an increase of more than $2,000,000 in assessed valuation, that being the figure for the Mission district.

ONTARIO, Aug. 4.—With Rev. John Barron Toomay, resigned pastor of Bethel Congregational Church and his family, on the high seas, a committee of eight members was announced today by the church board to name his successor.

Rev. Toomay has been pastor of the Ontario church for the past twelve years, and recently tendered his resignation in order to spend a year of study in Europe.

On the committee to select another pastor for the church are C. Earl Wheterbee, chairman; Mrs. Jack Pallis, Miss Gertrude Reed, Paul Hunnewell, Richard Williams, B. F. Weber, Dr. W. J. Hutchinson, Arthur De Berard.

Several candidates are being considered by the committee.

SECOND GIRL CAMP AT NATIONAL PARK

GEN. GRANT NATIONAL PARK, Aug. 4.—The 16th to the 19th inst. have been set as the dates for the second Girl Reserves' encampment at Lake Sequoia, near Gen. Grant National Park. Advance registrations indicate that fifty girls or more will be in attendance.

The staff will be much the same as for the June camp, including: Mrs. Anita Smith, Orosi, handicraft; Mrs. Emma Shore of Porterville, commissary; Mrs. Jack Hacard, Modesto, swimming and Red Cross life saving; Mrs. Valeda Hoeble Finch of Visalia, and Miss Edna Munford of Porterville, executives. This camp is for both high-school and grammar-school girls.

HUNTINGTON PARK, Aug. 4.—Raymond G. Bailey, son of F. F. Bailey of this city, has secured a position as one of the instructors in physical education at the high school in Westwood, Cal., his duties to begin at the first of the coming school year. He is a graduate from the Huntington Park Union High School and also from the University of California at Berkeley.

AIRPLANE GAS TANK EXPLODES

Flyer Killed High Over Mojave Desert During Thunderstorm

SAN BERNARDINO, Aug. 4. (AP) Apparently lost in the course of a severe thunderstorm over the Mohave Desert near Randsburg, Virgil Cline, San Jose aviator, was blown to pieces by the explosion of his gasoline tank 4000 feet in the air today.

Oliver Phillips, Randsburg mine superintendent, who reported the aviator's death to the county Coroner here, stated that evidently lightning struck the plane, which rained down in a thousand pieces.

Phillips reported that a mine physician, who was listening to the plane flying above the clouds, heard the explosion. His first sight of the plane was when pieces of it dropped out of the clouds, falling on the sun-scorched slopes of Fremont Peak, a desert mountain. The doctor, Phillips reported, hurried toward the spot where the debris was dropping and found light pieces of the wings and fuselage still raining down.

The aviator's remains, which were so torn and mangled as to be unrecognizable, were identified by cards found in a pocket. One giving his name carried the address, 749 Hedding street, San Jose, Cal. A Shrine card identified Cline as a member of Islam Temple, San Francisco. The body was taken to Osdick, Mohave Desert mining settlement.

Cline was flying a specially constructed Lockheed-Vega monoplane and was en route from the Burbank factory to Chicago when the accident occurred, Lockheed officials stated here last night.

The plane was valued at $20,000 and was the personal property of Bill Brock, member of the Brock and Schlee 'round-the-world flight. It was being ferried to Chicago by Cline for delivery to Brock.

Brock also left Los Angeles for the East today but he was at the controls of a tri-motored Bach transport.

Cline came here two weeks ago from San Jose and obtained a position with Brock through Lieut. Herbert J. Fahy.

Special tanks, capable of holding 350 gallons of gasoline, had been installed in the trim monoplane and it is understood that Brock had a special long-distance flight planned for the ship with himself at the controls.

Tax Money to be Used for Fire Protection

GLENDALE, Aug. 4.—Adoption of a county tax to finance a definite program of fire prevention and control, and also to inaugurate a plan for reforestation policy for areas that have been or that may be swept by fire, is contemplated by the Los Angeles Board of Supervisors, according to a statement of Supervisor Wright before the Glendale Realty Board yesterday.

A 1-cent tax, Wright said, would provide approximately $350,000 for this purpose, but it is not the aim of the board to provide for that amount, and a much lower figure will be fixed, if the Supervisors decide to impose the proposed levy.

Wright spoke on the proposed Antelope Valley road to be built by the county and the State Highway Commission, and insisted that Glendale eliminate the bottlenecks on Verdugo Road, between this city and La Crescenta Valley, as soon as possible to handle the increased flow of traffic from Antelope Valley and from the foothill system of traffic arteries that are to be built.

NEW COTTON GIN NEAR COMPLETION

TULARE, Aug. 4.—Construction of the main building having been completed, machinery is now to be installed in Tulare's new $40,000 cotton gin, which is being erected by the Pacific Cotton Seed Products Corporation. This gin is located on the Southern Pacific right of way in the southern section of the city, north of the stock yards. It will be a five stand, eighty-saw capacity plant and is expected to be in readiness for handling the coming cotton crop.

WILL PADDLE TO SEE MISSISSIPPI SOURCE

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 4.—Donald McNamara, son of B. C. McNamara, has departed for Brainerd, Minn., where with old school friends he will start on a long canoe trip at the headwaters of the Mississippi River. Four canoes will be in the party that will paddle into Lake Itaska, where the great stream begins.

CHIEF ON LEAVE

MAYWOOD, Aug. 4.—S. O. Myers, Chief of the local fire department, has been granted a sixty days' leave of absence, which he will spend in the East. Thomas Reed has been employed as a member of the department during the Chief's absence. Motorcycle Officer Charles Porter of the police department has resigned to accept a position with the Mercury Aircraft Corporation, and the vacancy caused by his resignation is being filled by Roy Maines.

FRUIT DISPLAY FAIR FEATURE

Ventura to Show Orchard Products

Dog Show Entries

Two champions in charge of Miss Margaret Ancell of Ventura Chamber of Commerce.

VENTURA, Aug. 4.—That the Ventura county fair to be held in this city September 12 to 15, inclusive, will be the greatest exposition of the resources of this county, both industrially and agriculturally, that has ever been gotten together, is the opinion reached after a meeting of the board of directors yesterday.

For the first time the Ventura county fair will have an exhibit of citrus fruit, occupying one entire side of a huge tent. That the Ventura citrus distributing organizations will exhibit 100 per cent is the statement of A. H. Call, County Horticultural Commissioner, following a meeting which was called by President Adolfo Camarillo last Thursday night. Both oranges and lemons will be displayed in rack displays and fruit will be exhibited which will come from every section of Ventura county. This is the newest feature of this fair and is creating much interest.

That a horse show will be staged each night, with Tom Donovan in charge, is also determined. The horse shows were discontinued a few years ago, but there is such a demand for these equine exhibitions that it was decided to build a tanbark ring 100 by 200 feet in size, and already Mr. Donovan has the assurance of several stakes in the name of prominent lovers of the horse in Southern California.

Reports from various members of the board indicated that there will be more county exhibits than ever before, these being Los Angeles, San Bernardino, Riverside, Orange, Santa Barbara counties, as well as the Ventura county exhibit, which will be brought here from the State fair.

The community exhibits within the county include Ventura, Oxnard, Santa Paula, Saticoy-Simi Valley, Fillmore, Moorpark, Mound and Camarillo.

Most of the industrial space has been sold, the auto show will be larger than ever before and the exhibits of live stock, horses, cattle, hogs, poultry, goat and rabbit shows will be complete in every detail. A dog show is also to be a feature.

Thrills are promised with a revival of the chariot races. The racing program, in charge of Tom Clark, veteran horseman, will bring a large number of the horses direct to Ventura from the State fair. Many vaudeville acts, including trained dogs, goats, ponies, clowns, bareback riders, etc., have been signed and there will be a celebrated band for the music stand.

The board of directors also set American Legion day for the closing day of the fair, with a contest among American Legion drum corps for cash prizes. A fashion review is under way, so that, all in all, the directors feel they are justified in believing that it will be the greatest fair ever offered the people in this section.

"Ether Burglar" Makes Escape

LONG BEACH, Aug. 4.—Using a squirt gun to shoot ether into the apartment in which Mrs. Ruth Hershey, 33 years of age, of 1240 Dawson avenue, was sleeping at 4 o'clock this morning an unknown assailant failed in his plan because his operations awoke the intended victim.

Screams of Mrs. Hershey sent the prowler fleeing to a car which he had parked near by. Police investigation revealed that a sharp instrument had been used to punch a hole in a screen door of the apartment permitting a squirt gun to be inserted into the room. The smell of ether remained in the apartment more than five hours after the attack.

Mrs. Hershey was unable to give police an intimation as to who might have manipulated the ether gun.

BELL CELEBRATES PROSPERITY WEEK

BELL, Aug. 4.—Decoration of the business houses for the "Prosperity Festival" to be given here starting tomorrow and continuing until Friday midnight, was started this morning. The big night of the week will be Friday, when there will be a street dance and parade. This will be known as "costume night," when everyone is invited to dress in costume, several prizes to be awarded. An airplane will, during the evening, circle above the city and at 7:30 o'clock, four aerial bombs will be dropped. This will notify the thousands of persons who are present that the festivities have started.

A caravan composed of at least 100 decorated automobiles will leave the city Friday morning, visiting several of the surrounding cities, when all "neighbors" will be given an invitation to be present. The event is being given in celebration of the completion of paving and installing an ornamental lighting system along Baker avenue, the main street in this city.

LIFE GUARD EFFECTS RESCUE

REDONDO BEACH, Aug. 4.—Marian Andrews of 324 Delmar avenue, Pasadena, was brought ashore on the north beach near the city pier early this morning after swimming out beyond her depth and becoming exhausted. Lee Jarvis of the Municipal Life Guard Corps made the rescue.

AUTO TRAFFIC INCREASES

Check at Redlands Shows Large Number of Cars Travel Important Highways

REDLANDS, Aug. 4.—The greatest traffic increase in San Bernardino county is through Redlands, figures of the State checkers show. The annual check of traffic has just been completed and with an increase of traffic of 35 per cent over last year, Colton avenue, the Ocean-to-Ocean Highway out of Redlands, showed the largest increase. In two days 10,030 machines passed over this road, an increase of 3513.

The figures showed that there were 5318 cars on Sunday and 4712 cars on Monday, that it is steady traffic, day in and day out, and not holiday traffic.

Another large increase was shown in the number of cars traveling over the National Old Trails through Cajon Pass, the figure jumping more than 20 per cent over last year.

Kendall Highway, which was not opened when the count was taken in July, 1928, made a notable difference in the number of cars passing Highland and Mt. Vernon avenues.

The number of motorists using the pass on the two days of the count this year was 4463, as against 3580 a year ago, last year the number of cars using the pass road was checked at Highland avenue and Mt. Vernon, while this year the figure had to be taken where Kendall Highway intersects the National Old Trails road at Verdemont.

Of the 4463 cars traveling over the National Old Trails route, 1716 used Kendall Highway during the two days' period. The Sunday traffic over Kendall Highway counted 992 cars and Monday the figure was 724.

At Highland and Mt. Vernon avenues, a three-day count of the traffic was taken to determine the number of cars going east and west on Highland avenue and south on Mt. Vernon avenue. In every instance the count was slightly below that of last year. Mr. Sullivan attributed this difference to the Kendall Highway.

Use of the new "high-gear" road to the crest was strikingly brought out by the count at the checking station located at Panorama Point. On Sunday and Monday the number of cars passing the checking station totaled 3822, the total reaching 3113 on Sunday and 709 on Monday.

At Running Springs Park 639 cars were checked headed toward Big Bear Valley on Sunday and 138 on Monday. Travel on the City Creek road reached 938 Sunday and 359 Monday.

YOUTHFUL SUPERVISORS

Inglewood Youngsters Manage Successfully Series of City Playgrounds

INGLEWOOD, Aug. 4.—What is believed to be a new and unique system of playground management is being tried out on Inglewood City school playgrounds this summer and reported to be uniformly successful. Under this plan, each of the four outlying playgrounds, on which a supervised program of play is being carried on throughout the summer under joint city and school auspices, is in charge of a youthful student-manager, who has complete control of the playground under his direction.

All the playgrounds have a team in each of the four divisions of the Playground League, and the playground manager is responsible for their organization. Regular schedules are maintained between the five playgrounds and the interest in winning is always at high pitch.

The extension playgrounds are visited regularly by the playground supervisors in order that the latter may conduct special activities, such as harmonica bands, ukulele clubs, whittling clubs and the like. This is only where leadership along an especially trained line is needed, but aside from that, each playground is under the sole management and control of its manager. Considering the fact that none of these youngsters is more than 14 years of age, all being in the grammar or elementary grades, they handle the occasional disciplinary and administrative problems that arise with little less than amazing aplomb and dispatch, according to the playgrounds director, Virgil Dahl, and his assistant, Lionel De Silva.

The only remuneration that the youthful student-managers receive for their activities is a distinctive sweater of which they are justly proud. It is pointed out by Miss Lucy H. Purdum, assistant superintendent of Inglewood schools, that notwithstanding the extremely modest honorarium, the positions are greatly in demand and the youngsters now holding the positions have already made application for the same or similar posts next summer! Incidentally, she says, it has served as a marvelous training in leadership that would be difficult to obtain in other situations. The scheme has its obvious advantages, even in addition to the exceptional training in leadership and executive ability which it gives the boys, and among these may be mentioned the fact that a greater number of school playgrounds can be conducted than would otherwise be possible with the funds available at this time, as under the present plan, only two full-time men are needed, the playground director and his assistant.

ALL SET FOR RIVERSIDE'S GREAT FAIR

Exhibition Management Announces September 24 to 29 as Dates of Show

RIVERSIDE, Aug. 4.—The official committee to administer the affairs of the seventeenth annual Southern California Fair was announced yesterday. The premium lists have been completed and the dates of the fair are to be September 24 to 29, inclusive, according to George W. Thomas, president.

The Southern California Fair is under the direct auspices and in charge of the Forty-sixth District Agricultural Association, which is a State institution, subsidized by act of the State Legislature.

The forthcoming fair is expected to be the largest in the history of the association and virtually all of the industrial space has been reserved, according to Cecelia G. Cravens, who has served as secretary for many years.

Officers and directors of the fair are holding meetings several times each week completing the preliminary details. The following appointments of division superintendents have been made: Horses, F. L. Hall; cattle, Roy Thomas; swine, F. A. Langdon; sheep, John T. Hamner; goats, Frank Mitchell; junior fair, M. A. Kipf; apiary, R. Powell; horticulture, Floyd Jorgenson; women's activities, Mrs. W. M. Hoagland; fine arts, W. W. Riddell; educational, E. E. Smith; poultry, pigeons, rabbits, Mark Butterfield.

A corps of twenty landscape gardeners have been set at work preparing the grounds so that a profusion of flowers will be in bloom at fair time. Additional tents are to be provided and an entirely new arrangement of buildings is planned.

Officers of the Southern California Fair are: George W. Thomas, president; August Rohrbacker, vice-president, and Harry B. Wells, treasurer; Mrs. C. G. Cravens, secretary.

The board of directors is comprised of A. S. Cooper, Oscar Crowell, D. S. Bell, R. E. Dillon, Cecil Funk, S. R. McDougall, August Rohrbacker and George W. Thomas.

Mother on Hand for Daughter's Golden Wedding

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 4.—Mr. and Mrs. William M. Pickens of Sarah street, this week are celebrating their fiftieth wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Pickens's mother, though advanced in age, is the only one still living of the twenty guests who were present at the wedding ceremony at Leavenworth, Kan.

Mr. Pickens for thirty-two years served in the United States Department of Justice.

ROAD IS PLANNED UP BIG TUJUNGA

TUJUNGA, Aug. 4. — Surveyors from the county road department are laying out the new road up Big Tujunga Canyon, which later is to be used to haul materials for the building of the first of the flood-control dams that are planned to conserve waters off the Tujunga watershed. The road will be in the bottom of the canyon and of a temporary nature for the present.

Sooner or later Big Tujunga Canyon is to be opened as a public recreation ground and after the huge dam is built, the road is likely to be widened and paved.

COMPILES HISTORY OF SAN FERNANDO VALLEY

SAN FERNANDO, Aug. 4.—A history of San Fernando Valley is being compiled by Clifford Smith, an instructor in one of the valley high schools, as a thesis for his master's degree from the University of Southern California. The work will comprise about 60,000 words. Prof. Smith has spent a year or more in research work, and the history is expected to be one of the most entertaining and accurate ever published on this section of Southern California.

CATHOLICS TO BUILD AT NORTH HOLLYWOOD

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 4.—A new Catholic church is to be established in this community this autumn, it is announced today by Rev. Father Riordan. The building will be erected at Stagg street, on Lankershim Boulevard, in the northern part of North Hollywood. There is another Catholic church here, the St. Charles Borromeo. A parochial school has been discussed for some time. It is likely definite decision will be reached when work begins on the new church.

PASTOR'S FATHER DIES

PACOIMA, Aug. 4.—Rev. A. Schwimley of Iowa City, Iowa, father of Rev. W. A. Schwimley, pastor of the Pacoima Community Church, died at the family home in Iowa, it is announced here. The latter is in Iowa to attend the funeral.

County Budget Cut to Quick

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 4.—Due to lack of county or general elections this year the County Clerk's office budget requirements will be some $37,000 less than for last year, the Board of Supervisors discovered after convening with avowed determination to reduce the State and county basic tax rate. Last year County Clerk J. B. McLees required $65,340 for office operations, including costs of elections. Elections last year concerned Federal, State and county offices. This year McLees will get along on $27,874, or thereabouts, according to his budget report submitted to the board. The board tentatively approved the reduced budget, and turned attention to other county government departments.

Every department must get along on less money—if possible, the Supervisors are determined. When consideration of the auditor's department came up, Deputy Auditor A. B. Cunningham pointed out an item of $4000 which might be cut.

"Then let's not argue," instantly declared Supervisor Thomas M. Hurley. "Out it goes."

And there was no argument.

The basic State and county rate last year, with a valuation much less than probable valuation figures this year, was $4.80, as applying to San Diego city. The city tax rate of $2.08 added to this, made a combined rate to city taxpayers of $6.88.

Outside the city, the county rate was $3.06, inclusive of county schools. To the $3.06 were variously added 60 cents levy for county roads and 12 cents for the county library, making a total of $3.78.

The Supervisors hope to reduce this rate this year, because of the higher valuations.

GOVERNOR FAVORS UNION DISTRICTS

HANFORD, Aug. 4.—Consolidation of school districts is interesting Gov. Young, it became apparent, when Mrs. Elsie Bozeman, Kings county Superintendent of Schools, received a letter from Gov. Young today making inquiry for a list of school districts which might be unionized. The letter was sent by the Governor through the State Department of Education.

Mrs. Bozeman has replied furnishing a list of nine districts in this county which, in her opinion, could be grouped into three union districts.

HANFORD CREAMERY MERGER COMPLETED

HANFORD, Aug. 4.—Properties of the Benham Ice Cream Company, located here and elsewhere in the valley, were formally transferred today to the Borden Company and by the latter to the Standard Creameries, Ltd. Documents are on file here today in the offices of County Clerk and Recorder, attesting the sale of the local plant on East Seventh street as a recording the transfer.

The transfers made today mark the final steps in the merger of Benham's with the National Creamery organization.

SIX-MILE-HIGH JUMP REPETITION PLEDGED

Mary Daly

CHICAGO, Aug. 4. (Exclusive)—Incensed at intimations that she had not actually performed a parachute jump from a height of 31,000 feet and drifted 256 miles to Louisiana, Mo., Miss Mary Daly, 20 years of age, today declared that she will repeat the stunt within two weeks, and that this time a corps of trained observers will be on the scene to testify to the truth of her achievement.

"I've never been so mortified in my life," declared Miss Daly. "I risked my life a dozen times and my reward is a lot of newspaper stories which insinuate between the lines that I was faking the jump."

Miss Daly said she could not reveal the name of the pilot who took her to a height of 31,000 feet.

"He's an army pilot and he disobeyed regulations because of his friendship for me, in order to take me up," she declared. "He would be court-martialed if his name were given out. But I'll get a commercial pilot next time, and anybody can look on."

Five Cornell Men Reach Azores in Twelve Days With Forty-six-Foot Ketch

HORTA (Azores) Aug. 4. (AP)—The forty-six-foot ketch Carlsark dropped anchor in the harbor here this evening with its crew of four amateur sailors, all of whom are Cornell University men, after a remarkable crossing of the Atlantic in twelve days.

The skipper, Carl L. Weagant of Douglaston, L. I., Cornell football manager last year, declared his three companions had not suspected they were crossing the Atlantic until more than half the distance had been covered.

"We let New York secretly last June and sailed up the St. Lawrence. We reached Nova Scotia and left there on July 22. My crew of D. N. Schoales, J. M. Rumnler and H. M. DeVereux, did not suspect my intention of crossing the Atlantic until we were half-way to the Azores, seven days out.

"Twelve days of good weather made a splendid journey for us. We encountered a whale on entering the Gulf Stream. We have two radio receiving sets. We intend to leave Fayal tomorrow and proceed by way of San Miguel and Gibraltar to the Mediterranean, returning by way of the Canary Islands and Cape Verde.

Gen. Moseley in Honolulu Tells of Engagement

EL PASO, Aug. 4. (AP)—The engagement of Brig.-Gen. Van Horn Moseley, U.S.A., commander of the First Cavalry Division of Fort Bliss, to Mrs. Florence Dubois of Pinehurst, N. C., and Englewood, N. J., was announced by cable today from Honolulu, where Gen. Moseley and his fiancee are visiting.

Gen. Moseley, 55 years of age, and Alice Dobbs Moseley, to whom he was married in 1903, were divorced several months ago. He was decorated during service in the World War and served as a member of Gen. Pershing's staff and along the Mexican border.

Mrs. Dubois is the daughter of of Mrs. James Barber of Englewood. She obtained a divorce from Mr. Dubois, a New York broker, in Paris about two months ago.

TUXPAN, JALISCO (Mex.) Aug. 4. (AP)—Enrique Mendoza, "commander-in-chief of the army of the south," has surrendered to Federal authorities with 112 men.

Mendoza was one of the principal leaders of the three-year Cristereo rebellion and his surrender followed the recent death in combat of Gen. Enrique Corosticta, chief of all the Cristereos.

Old Shell Kills Seven Farmers

WARSAW (Poland) August 4. (AP) Seven farmers were killed today by explosion of shell they found on the old battlefield at the village of Latnice, near Lemberg.

They unscrewed the fuse cap to take off the copper parts and the explosion followed. Several other persons were injured.

TURNING THE SPOTLIGHT ON MEN —AND WHAT THEY WEAR

A NEW FEATURE WRITER on present and coming fashions in men's attire, and a new artist who will illustrate the latest ideas in clothes and accessories found in the better men's shops, is presented today.

Every Monday hereafter, in this feature, The Chevalier will discuss clothes as worn by well dressed men, for business, for sports, and for formal affairs.

It is hoped that this page will render a real service to men, that it will keep them closely in touch with what is new and correct in dress, and be a source of authoritative information on men's fashions.

GENTLEMEN! The Chevalier makes his bow. His object in this column will be to furnish you with news and ideas from all centers where fashions for men originate. New York, Chicago, London, Paris, and last, but not least, Hollywood, will be the sources from which this information will be gathered.

The shops of Los Angeles and Hollywood will be searched each week for the latest presentations in men's apparel. Sporting and social events will be covered in order that you may be informed regarding the clothes worn by men with a reputation for good taste in dress, and whose activities place them in the spotlight.

With the greatly increased interest in clothes that is everywhere being shown by men, color harmony has become an important factor in the appearance of those who take pride in being smartly dressed, therefore the selection of ensembles will be thoroughly discussed from time to time.

The Chevalier believes that he can be of service also by advising upon the choice of suitable clothes and accessories to fit individual needs for particular occasions . . . business, travel, sports, social, and so on. He will therefore welcome inquiries on any problem of correct dress, and will reply in the first available issue of this page.

Only questions of general interest, however, can be replied to in this column, owing to space limitations. Other inquiries will be personally answered by an authority on the particular subject upon which information is desired, providing a stamped addressed return envelope is enclosed.

Watch this feature next week for the first article on men's attire. In the meantime, send in your inquiries to The Chevalier, care of THE TIMES.

The Chevalier

As British as the lions in Trafalgar Square is the styling of "The Warwick", a brogue pattern shoe of calfskin, with wing tip and new toe shape, as sketched. In the new autumn brown it will be especially smart for wear with the brown suitings that authorities predict as the leading Fall shade. The same model also comes in black calfskin.

At Walk-Over

Sir Thomas Lipton and yachting being synonymous, nothing could be more fitting for those who go down to the sea in ships than the new "Sir Thomas Lipton" cap. Of imported black broadcloth, with black embroidered band, and cloth visor. A sharp drop to the visor, and fuller top with larger side drape, gives a snappy air we particularly like.

At Desmond's

Looking for new ideas for the man who gets outdoors a lot we found a group of brushed mohair sweaters that are the very essence of smartness. And what shades the dyers have created! Rose tan, reseda green, canary, along with the more retiring buff, black, and white, offered a choice that should appeal to most any man. They're the slipover style with V-neck.

At Silverwoods

We couldn't pass by the fine points of English styling in this Fall model by Johnston & Murphy. It has all the substantial character that British designers invariably inject into their styles, but being built by American craftsmen it shows a refinement of lines and finish that are characteristic. We like the "Charing Cross" in its new shade of Russia brown.

At Wetherby-Kayser

When the designer selected saddle leather as the material for this overnight case he had an inspiration. It's a he-man bit of luggage that will prove its usefulness on many an overnight and week-end trip. Built throughout to live up to its saddle leather sturdiness, it promises years of service. In brown or russet.

At B. H. Dyas

With a four-piece suit of gray Shandon flannel, as shown, you're ready for whatever the day may bring. Golf or business, as the spirit moves you. For you have knickers or long trousers to fit either occasion. The coat, designed for all-around wear, is silk lined, and has notch lapels and patch pockets. The fabric is ideal for late summer and early Fall days.

At Roos Bros.
Hollywood

Seeing a lightweight, imported broadcloth in French azure, with a staggered self-figure design, we decided this would make one of the smartest of shirts for Fall. We found this material would be custom tailored, and have a medium point stiff collar to match. The cravat of jacquarded foulard was chosen to effectively complete the ensemble.

BISHOP CANNON DENIES CHARGES

Dry Leader Issues Pamphlet of 20,000 Words

Explains Flour Transaction and Stock Deals

Defends Wall-Street Trades as Not Gambling

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4. (Exclusive)—Bishop James Cannon, Jr., nationally known dry leader, today issued a 20,000-word denial of current interpretations of his recently disclosed Wall-street operations, war-time flour purchases, and political activities in the 1928 Presidential campaign:

In the circular entitled "Unspotted from the World," the bishop, while admitting that he had patronized a now defunct New York bucket shop, in 1926, and in 1917 had engineered a flour deal which was later denounced by the war-time food administration as "food hoarding," declared he is the victim of persecution by the "wet" and Catholic press of the country.

Explaining the flour transaction, the bishop recalled that he borrowed money from a Richmond (Va.) banker to purchase 650 barrels of flour which he held until danger of a feared shortage in the supply of the Blackstone female institute, which he then headed, had passed.

TOOK PROFIT

The flour was purchased on April 20, 1917. The flour was sold on or about May 8, 1917, which, according to the bishop, would indicate a maximum profit of $1200 at the prices then prevailing. "The statements in the papers declaring that there is 'indisputable evidence branding me as a food hoarder while other American citizens were helping to win the World War' are malicious slanders, not only denouncing me as a hoarder, but by reflecting upon my patriotism and my efforts to help win the war," declared the bishop.

STOCK BUYING

In the circular the bishop denied that he had traded on margin with Kable & Co., the bankrupt Wall-street bucket shop, but insisted he had purchased securities on the installment plan at 5 per cent a month and asserted the records of the bankruptcy proceedings will corroborate his explanation.

"I gave very full and thorough consideration to the question of propriety and morality of the purchase of stocks and bonds, both for investment and for resale at a profit," he said. "I became convinced that there was very much latent hypocrisy in the attitude of many persons on this subject."

The bishop declared that "all trading contains in it some elements of chance" and "elements of chance do not, therefore necessarily indicate gambling."

NOT GAMBLING

He insisted that if a man plays the market on the installment plan "there is no reason to call him a gambler because he sells the stock shortly after at a profit."

"I believe the time has come," the bishop declared, "to brush aside much muddled thinking on this subject. I thought this matter through very carefully before I ever purchased any stocks or bonds some twenty years ago and these are the views which I hold.

"If the trading in stocks and bonds, as carried on in the ordinary way throughout the country is immoral, then the church should so declare it and eliminate from her membership the heads of stock exchange houses, clerks, bookkeepers and working forces of these houses. Also the men and women who buy and sell stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange should be eliminated."

SUSPECT IN POISONING CONFESSES

Farmer Held in Death of Niece Admits He Placed Fatal Dose in Candy

OTTAWA (Kan.) Aug. 4. (AP)—Ray Pennebaker, 22 years of age, today confessed to officers he had put poison in candy which last week caused the death of his 6-year-old niece, Elva Irene Barnes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Barnes, who live near here.

Mrs. Pennebaker forgot about the candy until she reached her sister's home, where she divided it among Mrs. Barnes's children. After eating a portion of the candy Elva Irene died and her 7-year-old brother Gordon became seriously ill. The young woman said her husband told her to eat the candy and think of him on the trip.

The Pennebakers were married in June in Bedford, Iowa. He was arrested in Diagonal, Iowa, and removed to this city to be held on a murder charge. He also is charged with attempting to poison his wife.

In 1927 Pennebaker's first wife died five months after their wedding under circumstances which caused an investigation, but no evidence was developed against the farmer.

Pennebaker, who will be arraigned tomorrow, was calm as he told his story to officers today. He gave no reason for wanting to kill his wife.

Noted Ball Star Taken as Slayer

HARRISBURG (Pa.) Aug. 4. (Exclusive)—Samuel (Red) Crane, former famous baseball player on the Philadelphia Athletics, Brooklyn and other major league clubs, was held by police tonight to face probable murder charges arising out of the shooting of a rival for a girl's affection.

Jack Oren, 28 years of age, a salesman for a local brick manufacturing company, died today several hours after Crane is said to have shot him as he entered a local hotel in company with Miss Della Lyder, 26, of this city. Miss Lyder, wounded at the same time, is in a serious condition.

VEEDOL MOTOR OIL

DESIGNED by a German, made in Germany, built with German money, with German metal, fabric, motors . . . Yet the Graf Zeppelin flies on all her cruises with an American motor oil—The New VEEDOL.

Why? . . . Because the same engineering genius that designed and built the Graf Zeppelin also dictated the choice of its motor oil. And out of all the motor oils in the world, they chose VEEDOL.

VEEDOL made a perfect record on the first voyage of the Graf Zeppelin to the United States—the longest, hardest battle in the history of aviation.

Since that conclusive proof of its quality, no other motor oil has ever been considered.

On the cruise just ended, VEEDOL gave its usual flawless performance in lubricating the Zeppelin's 5 powerful Maybach motors. So VEEDOL now has 4 Atlantic crossings to its credit, 3 trips by the Graf Zeppelin and 1 by the Pathfinder, recently flown from Old Orchard, Maine, to Rome by Lieut. Roger Q. Williams and Capt. Lewis V. Yancey.

When the Graf Zeppelin sails on her trip around the world, VEEDOL will again be used.

Do you realize that you can stop at any orange and black VEEDOL sign and get VEEDOL of the same proven quality used

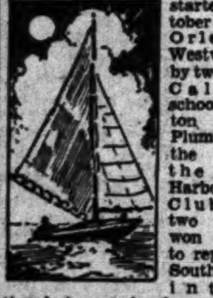
WESTWIND WINS YACHT LAURELS

Plumb Brothers Take Series at Newport Club

Schoolboys to Sail Craft in Internationals

Tom Robin in Second Place and May Star Third

BY THE SKIPPER



NEWPORT HARBOR, Aug. 4. (Exclusive)—When the international star boat championship contestants face the starter next October at New Orleans, the Westwind, sailed by two Southern California schoolboys, Preston and Ed Plumb, will fly the burgee of the Newport Harbor Yacht Club. These two schoolboys won the right to represent the Southland in the internationals here today by capturing the final elimination series sponsored by the Newport Harbor Yacht Club. The Plumb brothers skillfully maneuvered their trim little star, the Westwind, to victory in a final series of five races scoring a total of 55½ points with two firsts, two thirds and one second place.

Tom and Robb Webster sailed their Tom Robin into second position with a total of 46 1-4 points and L. A. Coffey's May Star took third honors with 43½ points. Walton Hubbard, Jr., and his gold star Tempe III finished fourth with a total of 43 points. Hubbard, a former international star boat champion, was considered the favorite to capture the Newport series.

Today's round, which was the last of the final series was captured by the May Star. The Tom Robin, sailed by Tom and Robb Webster, finished second. The Plumb brothers brought the Westwind home in third place, thereby cinching the series. Walton Hubbard, Jr., and his Tempe III took fourth place. The race was sailed in a very light wind and the contestants did as

KIDS OUTSHINE "QUEEN"

Fair Helen Wills Forced to Take Back Seat When Youngsters Steal Show at Maidstone Club

EASTHAMPTON (N. Y.) Aug. 4. (AP)—"Queen" Helen Wills made her first appearance on the courts of the Maidstone Club today, playing two doubles matches in the women's invitation tennis tournament, but her debut for the event was overshadowed by the performances of a group of unranked youngsters.

Miss Wills, with Edith Cross of San Francisco as her partner, met with a great surprise at the very start when Marie Fensterer of Englewood, N. J., and Genevive Fox of Southampton, N. Y., ran away with the first set of their first-round match. The Californians rallied after the bad start to win by scores of 1-6, 6-1, 6-1. They then went on to beat a pair of high-ranking opponents, Mrs. Charlotte Hosmer Chapin of Springfield, Mass., and Marjorie Gladman of Santa Monica, Cal., No 9 and No. 7 in the national ranking, 6-3, 6-2.

"In the singles matches, Virginia Rice of Boston, who failed to earn a national women's ranking last year and was placed only seventh among the girls, leaped suddenly to the fore by winning her way into the semifinal round with an unexpected triumph. In the third round she defeated yesterday's sensation, Penelope Anderson of Richmond, Va., a former first-ten star, in a terrific three-set battle by scores of 3-6, 8-6, 7-5.

Tomorrow, Miss Rice meets the last survivor of the British Wightman cup squad, Mrs. D. C. Shepherd-Barron.

Although she lost in the doubles, "Midge" Gladman became the first of the singles finalists by three brilliant victories in quick succession, finishing the second round, she swamped Josephine Cruickshank under a 6-3, 6-0 score. In the semifinals, Miss Gladman defeated her doubles partner, Mrs. Chapin, 6-1, 6-4, then smashed her way into the last round at the expense of Mrs. Phyllis Covell of Great Britain, 6-3, 6-4.

These brilliant performances completely overshadowed the play of Miss Wills, who was in decidedly bad form at the start. During the first set, her stroking was faulty and frequent errors were the principal cause of her defeat. Her young opponents twice broke through her service in the seven games. Both Miss Wills and Miss Cross were guilty of many errors in the other four sets they played, although their game improved rapidly.

YOUTHFUL STARS CRUSH VETERAN TENNIS TEAM

SEABRIGHT (N. J.) Aug. 4. (AP) Sweeping on from the point where rain halted their match yesterday, the youthful team of Berkeley Bell of Austin, Tex., and Gregory Mangin, Newark, N. J., defeated the old Davis Cup pair, Richard N. Williams II, of Philadelphia, and Watson Washburn, New York, to win the doubles title in the annual Seabright tennis tournament. The score was 7-5, 7-5, 4-6, 6-3.

The youngsters, placed eleventh and thirteenth in the national ranking, showed as great superiority in today's dry weather as they did in yesterday's rain, and lost but two games in running out the set and match.

The first three sets of the match were played yesterday during a heavy rain, which finally halted the struggle after the veterans had rallied to win the third set and were trailing, 1-2, in the fourth.

BOUND FOR MAJORS

Introducing Gus Suhr, the Coast League's bambino who is probably playing his last year in Coast League ranks. Suhr is the league's leading home-run clouter, he having registered thirty-one to date, and is being sought by several major league scouts. Gus is playing first base for the Sassy Seals and doing a good job of it, although until this year he had spent most of his time at second base.

UPLIFTERS' BLUES WIN OVER HOLLYWOOD FOUR

Running wild in the last three chukkers the Uplifters' Blue poloists rammed across eight goals to defeat a Hollywood four by 14 to 7 score at Rustic Canyon Field, yesterday. Will Rogers, captain of the Blues, and Snowy Baker, Australian star, led the rally that smothered the Film Colony players' hopes. The Hollywood four with Gwyn (Big Boy) Williams showing the way, caught the Blues napping in the fifth chukker and they sneaked over four goals and took command of the game by a 7-to-5 margin. Then the Blues woke up and they came on with vengeance to swamp the Hollywooders under an avalanche of goals.

Rogers was the outstanding performer of the day. The comedian slammed across eight goals with a mallet that was real hot. Jim Minnick, an old side kick of Rogers, aided a great deal in the Uplifters' victory, also. He scored four goals. Snowy Baker was the big gun of the Blues on the defensive. Baker broke up play after play that the Hollywood players started in an attempt to catch the Blues in the last two chukkers.

Williams was the star of the Hollywood team. The ex-cowpuncher rode like a madman all afternoon

WETZEL AND HULVEY HURL STARS TO TWO VICTORIES

Buzz is Hero as Vittmen Capture Opener, 4-2; Home Guards Half Game Behind Loop-Leaders

BY BOB RAY

Behind the effective hurling of Buzz Wetzel and Hank Hulvey, Hollywood's scrapping Stars made it a field day out at Wrigley Field yesterday afternoon by twice humbling the league-leading San Francisco Seals, 4 to 2 and 10 to 3, before an approving crowd of 15,000 souls. The double-barreled victory put the Stars back in second place, a scant half-game behind the pace-setting Seals, and gave Oscar Vitt's ambitious athletes the odd game of the series.

It was simply a case of too much Buzz Wetzel in the opener. Wetzel not only held the slugging Seal brigade to five scattered hits, but provided a single with the bases filled in the sixth that drove over what proved to be Hollywood's winning runs. Buzz would have registered a shut-out but for a couple of errors by Rollings and Burkett that enabled the Seals to get their two tallies.

BUZZ WETZEL

Hulvey pitched effectively if not sensationally in the nightcap and his mates made it easy for him by scoring a flock of runs with the aid of Mails's wildness and four boots by Frank Crosetti and Loris Baker. Mails issued no less than five walks during his less than three-inning tenure on the mound. The Sheiks also took full advantage of the four boots, profiting to the extent of a quartet of runs, which is what you call making the best of the opposition's errors.

Both sides got eight hits in the second contest, but those four Seal miscues and Mails's failure to locate the plate spelled the difference in the run column. Val Glynn followed Mails to the mound and the Stars, with the aid of three of the four errors, got their final

REDS AND SERAPHS DIVIDE

Angels Annex First But Drop Second Contest to Mission Club

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 4.—The Missions broke even with Los Angeles today at Recreation Park. The Reds won the morning contest, 10 to 9, but were beaten in the afternoon, 11 to 7. The series went to the Missions, five games to two.

SLUG TOLSON

Three Mission pitchers, Nelson, Pillette and McQuaid, failed to stop the Angels in the afternoon contest.

A homer by Sherlock with two on bases in the first inning gave the Reds an early lead but the Angels bunched six hits in the fifth to score five runs and came through with four more counters in the seventh. Two home runs by Slug Tolson aided the Angel cause.

The Missions came from behind

QUIET WEEK IN BOXING

Associated Press States There Are No Outstanding Matches Billed Throughout the Country

NEW YORK, Aug. 4. (AP)—The cauliflower industry throughout the United States is undergoing a severe depression this week after the big burst of enthusiasm over the Mandell-Canzoneri championship battle. Not one of the fights on the national card can be rated as a first-class affair while the important arenas of several of the big boxing centers are without any attractions.

Tuffy Griffith, Sioux City slugger, is the headliner in the boxing heavyweight show at Peoria, Ill., tomorrow. Griffith meets Jack Murphy of Boston over the ten-round route.

Lester Coleman Defeats Chester at Santa Monica; Caddy Tournament Starts Today

CALIFORNIA GOLFER WINS TILT ON TWENTIETH HOLE

Bay District Event Enters Third Round

BY EDWARD LAWRENCE

LESTER COLEMAN

While Fay, who holds the Los Angeles city championship and formerly the Southern California amateur crown, gets most of the publicity for his golfing feast, last week's second-round matches in the second annual Santa Monica Bay district championship were featured by two other members of the Coleman family, Lester and Chester.

Lester, playing from the California Country Club, defeated Chester, but only after a sparkling match, which went to the twentieth hole. As Lester can sometimes defeat Fay, it appears that on comparative dope the Coleman boys are about on par. Chester plays for the Santa Monica Municipal course and is rated as one of the finest public-course golfers in the Southland.

MEETS JELLIFFE

Chester had the edge going out and at the half-way mark was 2 up, but Lester came from behind to square the match. The second hole, where the match ended, boasts one of the trickiest greens on the course. Neither Chester nor Lester found the green with their approach shots, but Lester chipped dead for his par. Chester missed a difficult five-foot putt for a half. Both shot par golf for eighteen holes.

W. L. (Bill) Jelliffe of Girard and Lester will feature third-round matches this week. Both are favorites and the winner should make a strenuous bid for the championship.

Another California Country Club golfer, Nick Schaefer, has been playing better than average golf throughout the tournament. Nick was badly off his game a few months ago, but last week had a par for a 69 against Cyril Craig. Schaefer won the match, 6 and 5.

CHAMPIONSHIP FLIGHT

Ferris Hicks defeated C. E. Rooney, 5 and 4.

W. L. Jelliffe defeated R. Hutchison, default.

Caddymasters to Clash for Money Prizes

Southern California's second annual $1000 Open Caddy Tournament starts today over the Rancho and Sunset Fields courses with the initial eighteen holes of medal play.

A. H. "OLLIE" PAINTER

The thirty-six-hole qualifying play, eighteen holes today and eighteen tomorrow, will be played over both courses, the fields being reserved for the second eighteen. Low sixty-four and ties will play the final thirty-six holes on Wednesday.

With an entry of 194 a new record has been set for the tournament, and A. H. "Ollie" Painter, who is in charge, expects that records will also be broken for the 72-hole medal scores. Among the favorites are Ray Mangrum of Sunset Fields, who is capable of playing sub par golf, and may hang up a mark for pros and amateurs alike, to shoot at.

Caddymasters will have their inning today with a special thirty-six-hole tournament scheduled at Rancho. A purse of $200 will be divided among the winners. Chuck Rutan, who tied for second place in the caddy competition a year ago, but is now caddymaster at El Caballero, will be a favorite along with Elmer Vice of Midwick. Elmer has been practicing under the direction of Fred Morrison and should make a good showing.

SANTA MONICA WOMEN'S TOURNEY STARTS TODAY

With a large entry of public course golfers and members of the Women's Auxiliary of the Southern California Golf Association, the first annual Santa Monica Bay District Women's Championship starts today over the Santa Monica Municipal course with an eighteen-hole qualifying round.

The entire tournament will be run off this week, match play starting tomorrow and continuing through Friday. Santa Monica enjoys heavy play from the fair golfers, and an entry of more than 100 is anticipated, according to manager George W. Basil.

BEST BALL FOURSOME FEATURES AT RANCHO

Paul Jones, Arthur Clarkson, Clif Castle and Fred Langdon shot a best ball of 62 in the best ball foursomes at the Rancho Golf Club yesterday to win the event. Herb Preston, R. L. Mulroney, Frank Smith and Bert Smith were second with 63.

McCAREY WINS PRESIDENT'S CUP AT LAKESIDE

Leo McCarey won the President's Cup at the Lakeside Country Club yesterday by defeating E. L. Ball, 5 and 4. McCarey, who plays to an eighteen handicap, had rounds of 83-84—167, while Ball, a 16 handicap man, shot a medal of 87-87—174. Both are due to have their handicaps cut.

FAY COLEMAN OUT OF SPRECKELS CUP PLAY

Fay Coleman of the California Country Club, Los Angeles city champion and winner of the Spreckels Cup in 1927, will not play in the latter event over the Coronado Country Club on the 19th to the 24th inst. Coleman is spending all of his energy preparing for the national amateur at Pebble Beach in September and fears that playing at Coronado might take the edge off his game, and not permit sufficient time to rest before the national championship. The former Southern California amateur champ will go north three or four days before the tournament opens on Monday, September 2.

FRED MORRISON TURNS TO WOOD SHAFTS

Fred Morrison of the Midwick Country Club, one of the longest hitting professionals in the country, is going to try wood shafts for a while. Fred is planning ahead for a possible visit to England next year for the British open, and is also looking forward to an appointment on the Ryder Cup team in the future. Accordingly, Morrison wants to get acquainted with wooden shafts, which are required in English tournament play as steel shafts are barred.

Morrison enjoyed a good tournament season last year, tying with Bill Mehlhorn in the $5000 Hawaiian open and placing in several other tournaments of major importance. He will enter the island tournament again in November and confidently expects to win this time.

If wooden shafts improve Fred's game there will be no stopping him. He has been consistently under par figures since his return from Seattle where he played in the Pacific-Northwest championship, and has clicked off several 68's and 69's at Midwick.

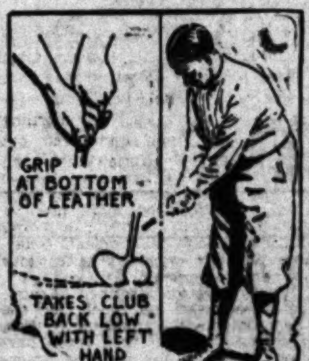
MRS. McLAIN WINS NET PRIZE AT RANCHO

Mrs. Robert McLain won low net at the Rancho Golf Club yesterday, 99-16—83. Mrs. Phillip Mallory was second, 104-16—88, and Mrs. Conway Teal, 103-14—89, tied with Mrs. Robert Lazarus, 107-18—89, for third place.

PROMISING PILOT

William Whitney, a Maryland lad, who recently turned in his first victory as a jockey, is expected to become one of America's leading gentleman riders with a little more experience.

How Jones Plays Short Approaches



GRIP AT BOTTOM OF LEATHER

BY SOL METZGER

Bobby Jones grips his irons for a short approach at the bottom of the leather, but for his long shots the Atlantan uses the full length of the shaft. Another noticeable point about his iron play is the way he takes the club back. It's a slow backswing—and it should be more so for you—controlled entirely by the straight left arm and hand.

The beautiful thing about Jones's irons is the compactness of his swing and the ease with which he plays the ball. The sole evidence of hurry comes just as his club is coming into contact with the ball. Then he lets go with all his power.

Jones uses a narrower stance than most golfers and is very erect on his long iron shots. There is no chance for loss of balance in this method and plenty of punch results, even though the others set themselves for long shots with a wider stance. Tomorrow—why the left takes the club back.

Your game is as good as your drive. Write Sol Metzger, care of The Times, requesting his free leaflet on Driving. Inclose stamped, addressed envelope.

COCKY O'BRIEN WINS STATE CYCLE CROWN

SAN JOSE, Aug. 4. (AP)—Henry (Cocky) O'Brien of San Jose won the State bicycle championship in spectacular fashion on the San Jose speedway this afternoon in competition with a field of fifteen of the best riders in the State. He took first place in each of the four competitive events, the half-mile sprint, mile sprint, and five and ten-mile runs, turning in a perfect score of 20.

Those who trailed O'Brien today were Pete Pizzo, San Jose, second, 11 points; John Cole, Los Angeles, third, 5 points; Theron Connett, San Jose, fourth, 4 points; Willard Hilton, San Jose, fifth, 3 points, and Geary May, Los Angeles, sixth, 1 point.

FASTER AND FASTER

Claude Bracey is one athlete who expects to see 100 yards run in 9 2-5s. next year, with the possibility that some one might come along and do it in 9 1-5s.

BEACH FIGHTER IS SHORTENDER

Northwestern Blue Streak Picked to Cop Nod

Negro May Enter Ring 10-8 Favorite Tomorrow

Hess Has Upset Dope in His Last Three Bouts

Wildcat Carter will probably go to the post a 10-8 favorite Tuesday night over young Goldie Hess in spite of the sensational climb of the Ocean Park boy.

Bud Taylor

The "blue streak" from the northwest is so highly touted and is such a sharpshooter with a knockout right hand it is figured he will make Hess more trouble than Santiago Zorilla, Bud Taylor or Tod Morgan did.

Hess whipped Zorilla as a 3-to-1 short-ender. He drew with Taylor on the short end of 3¼-to-1 odds. He gave Morgan a bad lacing on the despised 4-to-1 odds. But still they bet against Goldie.

Carter is a 19-year-old boy from Everett, Wash. He has never shown here before. For two years Jack Doyle tried to import the northwest phenomenon.

He held Morgan to a draw the first time he ever stepped ten rounds. Most of the smart boxing men are picking him to make it tough for Hess.

Frank Churchill is picking Carter to win easily, perhaps by a knockout. Joe Waterman thinks the Wildcat is a cinch. Eddie Mack is also tabbing Carter. Spider Roach has never seen Hess work, but likes Carter.

Being a short-ender is a joke to Hess. He is so sure he will take Carter he offers to bet Mack $1000 on the side and take him as a warm-up for Morgan.

Morgan, who has fought both Carter and Hess, is picking the little negro boy to swarm all over Goldie.

The weight is 132 pounds. Both Carter and Hess have posted $500 weight forfeit. Hess makes 130 easier than the black boy.

George Godfrey and his manager, Jimmy Dougherty, arrived here yesterday from Philadelphia. The Black Shadow is bigger than ever. He tips over 250 pounds catchweights. He'll probably lift 247 next week when he engages Long Tom Hawkins.

James J. Braddock is slated to arrive in Los Angeles the last of the week for the Yale Okun bout.

Kid Chocolate, the featherweight pride of Cuba, returns to the club that gave him his first chance in this country Wednesday night when he meets Tommy Lorenzo in a ten-rounder at Mitchel Field. The ever-popular California negro, Baby Joe Gans, tackles a tough opponent at the Queensboro Stadium Tuesday in Sergt. Sammy Baker, who rates well up among the welters. They also are due to go ten rounds.

An interesting and perhaps important bout is scheduled to take place at Dallas, Tex., at the tail end of a wrestling show Thursday night. Kid Kober of Dallas and Duke Tramel are the principals. The important part is that the bout is being staged as a test for the State antiprize-fight law, no admission being charged.

Other fights on the week's card include:

Movie Tennis Tourney Held

Play got under way yesterday in the motion-picture tennis tournament now being held on the courts of the Beverly Hills Hotel, first and second rounds being run off in the men's singles, and the first round in the men's doubles. The play was, for the most part, listless, with two matches being won by two love sets apiece. The feature match of the day's play was in the first round men's doubles, Francis Terrett and Hymer conquering Gallis and Wade by a score of 6-3, 8-10, 6-2. In the singles matches, J. Wood ran into some trouble before he finally subdued La Carba, 6-8, 8-4, 10-8. One singles and two doubles matches were won by defaults.

The summary:

MEN'S SINGLES

First round—Geisey defeated J. Cronwell, 6-2, 6-3; Harry McKee defeated A. G. Gallis, 6-1, 6-3; J. Wood defeated La Carba, 6-8, 8-4, 10-8; Pederson defeated W. Ruggles, 6-0, 6-0; S. Tuttle defeated Johnny Risso by default.

Second round—Simon defeated Geisey, 6-3, 6-3; Harry McKee defeated R. Wyler, 6-0, 6-0; Siano defeated De Lurie, 6-2, 6-2; Ted Von Eltz defeated F. Smith, 6-2, 6-8, 6-1.

MEN'S DOUBLES

First round—Struff and Gibbons defeated Myton and F. Smith, 6-0, 6-1; W. H. Ruggles and Montgomery defeated Garrett and W. Root, 3-6, 6-3, 6-4; Harry McKee and T. Moore defeated Simon and partner by default; Cornica and Ted Von Eltz defeated Selznick and McLean by default; Francis Terrett and Hymer defeated A. G. Gallis and Wade, 6-3, 8-10, 6-2.

DARO SIGNS STECHER

Former World's Heavyweight Champion to Enter Sonnenberg Elimination at Olympic

One of the very few great grapplers in the mat game who has not had a chance at the world's title in a long time—Joe Stecher, three times mat king—has been signed by "Carnation" Lou Daro, local promoter, to wrestle here for a chance at Champion Gus Sonnenberg.

Stecher, who has not had a championship match since he lost the title to Ed "Strangler" Lewis in St. Louis, February 20, 1928, will meet the winner of the Nick Lutze-Joe Malcewicz battle, scheduled as the first round of Daro's elimination mat tournament.

Lewis and Malcewicz are the only two grapplers ever known to have beaten Stecher in the last ten years. The Utican scored a default victory over him in 1926 when he forced the Nebraskan, then champion, to jump out of the ring without wrestling, and a clean-cut victory over him in Boston early this year. Stecher beat Malcewicz here April 17, and two weeks later dropped a very fast battle to Lewis.

Lutze has had several title bouts with Stecher here, and each time he gave the scissors-king a close run for his money. If Lutze is able to beat Malcewicz Wednesday night, he will stand a good chance to dispose of the former champion, in the opinion of mat experts. Unless Lewis, Marin Plestina and a few others enter the tournament, it is possible the winner of the Stecher match will be declared the winner of the tournament.

Lewis, through his manager, Billy Sandow, has posted a $5000 forfeit guarantee with the California State Athletic Commission, here, it is reported, to insure his appearance in the ring against any wrestler in the world, bar none. A similar amount has been posted with the Illinois commission with the same challenge. The headlock artist has yet to ask for a bout in Daro's tournament, however.

Malcewicz is anxious to get matches with both Stecher and Lewis again. He feels he can beat Stecher anytime they step into the same ring, and with a little more training, believes he can put away Lewis.

Lutze, however, is expected to give him all of the trouble he is looking for Wednesday night. The local mat idol is said to be in better condition now than he has been for any match he has ever had on the Coast, including his title matches. The young star rates this match as his biggest of the last year, as a victory would definitely establish him on a par with such grapplers as the two former champions. A defeat would be a decided setback for him in his title-seeking aspirations.

much drifting as they did sailing.

The victory of the Plumb brothers was considered very notable because of their extreme youth. The two boys are hardly out of the long-pants stage. The Westwind, besides winning the international elimination series, also took with it the Newport Club championship for the year.

The Regulus, sailed by Harry Hillman, won the Class C event here today. The Three Star was second and the Intrepid third. Snipe won the Red Division Snow Bird race. Curlew was second and Lark third. The Dove won the Blue Class event. Swallow was second and Ragged Ann third.

REID WINS PALOS VERDES SEMIMONTHLY TOURNEY

Austin Clapp is Arrowhead Swim Victor

Austin Clapp, Hollywood Athletic Club, swimming star, added another championship to his rapidly growing collection of titles, when he romped home in front of a field of twelve starters yesterday in the third annual Lake Arrowhead two-mile swim. Clapp finished the two miles in 55m. Frank Walton, unattached, paddled to the tape in second place and Fred Woods of the Los Angeles Athletic Club finished third. Fred Cady, Mercury aquatic director who handled the event, announced last night that all twelve starters finished in good condition. Cady declared that the result of the race conclusively proved that the altitude in no way affects the swimmers at Arrowhead. J. G. Van Nuys sponsored the race and donated the trophies for the contestants.

Valley Tennis Play Begins

The opening matches were run off yesterday in the first annual San Gabriel Valley open tennis championship tournament on the San Marino grammar school courts. Local net talent took the bows at the end of yesterday's play when J. E. Sisson of San Marino breezed through the first two rounds easily and entered the third-round bracket. Sisson disposed of Bob Roberts in his first match by a score of 6-4, 6-3, and then took the measure of Phil Rose of Alhambra in a three-set match, 6-4, 0-6, 6-1.

The seeded favorites who will see action in today's play are Leonard Dworkins and Frank Westsmith, both of the University of California at Los Angeles, and Ned Wheldon. In the women's singles, the favorites are Gladys Patz and Dorothy Robinson. The tournament is scheduled to be completed by next Sunday.

Yesterday's results:

Singles—P. Rose defeated L. Pipes, 6-3, 6-3; J. Sisson defeated Bob Roberts, 6-4, 6-3; J. Alman defeated C. Duryea, 6-4, 6-1; K. Endo defeated C. Higman, 6-1, 6-2; J. Sisson defeated Phil Rose, 6-4, 0-6, 6-1; W. Hudson defeated W. Hall by default; F. Goodman defeated C. McPherson by default.

Doubles—Snedden and Anderson defeated De Lory and McPherson by default; Bartz and Harris defeated Fisher and Duclos, 6-3, 7-5.

TODAY'S SCHEDULE

1 p.m.—Leonard Dworkins vs. C. Otis, D. Charnock vs. J. Clark, Mrs. Longcope vs. Jane Sharp.

Sidney Wood Annexes Title

Playing practically unbeatable tennis, Sidney B. Wood, young Pasadena net star, yesterday stroked his way to victory in a stormy three-set match over Jack De Lara, University of Southern California racket ace, to win the men's singles championship in the annual Los Angeles county tennis tournament held on the courts of the Palomar Tennis Club in Cheviot Hills. De Lara, who captained the Trojan freshman net squad last spring, was at one time during the match so close to victory that he only needed one point to win, the match standing, 6-2, 11-10, and 40-love on his own service, but Wood rallied to run out the set at 13-11. Wood won the match on the next set, 6-4.

Delf Muehleisen, the San Diego court star, who won the singles title last year, was eliminated in the semifinals by Sidney B. Wood, but he came back in the doubles with his partner, T. Easton, to win the doubles crown. Muehleisen and Easton downed J. Saunders and J. Ciano, to win, 5-7, 8-6, 6-3.

Gladys Patz defeated Dorothy Robinson in the finals of the ladies' singles by a score of 6-8, 6-2, default. The mixed doubles title was won by Mary Barbara Taylor and Jack De Lara, who conquered Marion Wood and Verne Neville in straight sets, 6-3, 6-2. Orville Scholtz won from Herb Carlson, 6-2, 7-5, to annex the junior singles title, and the junior girls' singles crown was won by Violet Doeg, who defeated G. Wheeler, 6-4, 7-5. The tourney for boys under 15 years of age was won by C. Mako, when he turned back L. Paterson in the finals, 6-2, 7-9, 6-3. C. Otis and H. McDavitt won the junior doubles tournament by defeating M. Whitman and L. Patterson, 4-6, 6-3, 7-5.

The results:

Men's singles—Sidney B. Wood defeated Jack De Lara, 2-6, 13-11, 6-4.

Men's doubles—D. Muehleisen and T. Easton defeated J. Saunders and J. Ciano, 5-7, 8-6, 6-3.

Ladies' singles—Gladys Patz defeated Dorothy Robinson, 6-8, 6-2, default.

Junior doubles—C. Otis and H. McDavitt defeated M. Whitman and L. Patterson, 4-6, 6-3, 7-5.

Gledhill and Vines Annex Tennis Title

HOLLY (MICH.) Aug. 4. (AP)—Fritz Mercur of Bethlehem, Pa., won the singles championship of Michigan here today when he defeated Emmett Pare of Chicago in four rather spotty sets, 6-3, 6-3 1-6, 6-4.

Carolyn Swartz, San Francisco girl, who ranks fifteenth in the national feminine listing, won the women's singles title by trimming Catherine Wolf of Indianapolis 6-4, 6-2.

A California team, Keith Gledhill and Ellsworth Vines, blasted its way to the doubles championship in four sets, 6-4, 6-2, 2-6, 6-3.

SOLONS SLAPPED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4. (AP)—Detroit rallied in the second game of a double-header with Washington today to win, 13 to 11, after taking the opener, 10 to 5.

The second contest was called at the end of the seventh on account of darkness. The Senators were leading, 7 to 0, at the end of the third inning, but Burke weakened and three succeeding Washington pitchers failed to stop the Tigers.

STARS DEFEAT SEALS TWICE

Wetzel is Hero of Sheik's 4-2 Win in Opener

WETZEL TRIMS JACOBS

In the opener Wetzel gained a pitching verdict over Elmer Jacobs, the Seals' leading winner, and Johnny Couch to even up the series. Jacobs had a bad inning in the sixth, when Hollywood bunched four hits for three runs, and retired for a pinch-hitter in the seventh with all of Hollywood's runs charged against him. It marked the second time during the series that Jacobs, who has won more games than any hurler in the league, failed to last the limit against the Sheiks.

Wetzel experienced a bit of difficulty in the last three innings, errors putting him in a jam in two rounds, but he had enough left to pull through victoriously.

Bob Reed, young Seal catcher, was the thorn in Buzz's side, the youthful backstop cracking out three off the invaders' five safeties.

The Stars threatened in the first, getting runners to second and third with but one away, but Jacobs disposed of Rumler and Heath to prevent any scoring.

In the third Reed led off for the Seals with a double down the right-field line, and was bunted to third by Jacobs, but Rollings tossed out Crosetti on a sensational play and then Wetzel fanned Baker to end the round.

Hollywood broke the ice in the fourth when Funk doubled to center, took third on Rumler's sacrifice fly to Jolley, who almost pegged Eli out, and scored when Heath hit a short sacrifice fly to Coleman. Funk just did slide home safely under Coleman's throw to Reed.

Jolley's rifle arm cut off a Hollywood run in the fifth when the big right fielder threw Burkett out at the plate when Howard tried to score from second on Rollings's single to center after two were away.

Crosetti doubled with one out in the sixth, but Wetzel fanned Baker and retired Coleman on a fly to Funk after walking Suhr.

The Stars gave Jacobs the "works" in the sixth when they added their final three runs. Funk beat out a perfect bunt for a starter, but was forced at second on Rumler's intended sacrifice. Heath sent Rumler to third with a hit to center and then Carlyle doubled to left center, scoring Big Bill. Bassler was purposely walked, filling the bases. The strategy looked good when Burkett popped to Baker, but Wetzel came through with a hit over second and Heath and Carlyle rambled home.

San Francisco picked up its first run in the seventh, Jolley opening the frame with a hit to center. Wingo looked at a third strike and then Caveney hit what should have been a double-play ball to Rollings. But Red's throw pulled Burkett off the base and both runners were safe. Jacobs fouled to Bassler and Crosetti skied to Punk to end the round.

Burkett's error on Baker's grounder paved the way for the Seals' second run in the eighth. Suhr walked and then Coleman went out, Heath to Wetzel. Wetzel decided to pitch to Jolley and Smead hit a sacrifice fly to Funk, Baker scoring. Burkett tossed out Wingo for the third out.

Reed singled and Couch walked with one away in the ninth, but Lee, Burkett and Heath turned Crosetti's grounder into a double play that ended the contest.

MAILS GETS IN JAM

Mails got in a jam in the first inning of the nightcap and the Stars put over one run with the aid of Crosetti's first error, and a double by Rumler.

The Seals tied the score in the third when Caveney led off with a double, remained on second, while Reed and Mails were disposed of, and came home on Crosetti's single.

Mails blew up in the third and, after fanning Lee, walked Maloney and then let Funk single. Rumler's sacrifice fly moved Maloney to third. Severeid and Heath both walked, forcing in one run, and Cleo Carlyle followed with a single that drove in Funk and Severeid. Glynn came to the rescue and fanned Burkett for the third out.

Red Wingo hit a home run for the Seals in the fourth, but the Stars staged a four-run rally in the fifth to further enhance their margin. Funk's double, Rumler's single, Severeid's infield hit, Heath's sacrifice, a walk to Carlyle, errors by Crosetti and Baker, and a pass to Lee with the bases full did the damage.

STARS SCORE TWO MORE

Coleman's double and Jolley's single gave the Seals their final tally in the sixth, but the Stars once more came to the fore in their half by scoring two more runs. Hits by Rumler and Heath, a walk to Severeid, a wild pitch by Glynn, Carlyle's infield out and Crosetti's third error brought in the last two Hollywood tallies.

Baker and Suhr singled after two more out in the seventh, but Hulvey fanned Coleman to preserve his victory. Scores:

to score a 10-to-9 victory over the Angels in the morning.

The Reds were trailing until the sixth, when they pounded on George Baecht for three hits and five runs to take the lead.

In the seventh the Angels shoved over three markers, but in the eighth the Reds scored another to tie the score and added the winning marker in the ninth.

The Missions used five pitchers. Harry Krause started and he lasted until the first of the third, when the Angels climbed aboard for five runs.

McQuaid went in to relieve him and worked until the seventh. Ernie Nevers replaced McQuaid and lasted two-thirds of an innings and was followed by Knott. Knott toiled but one-third of a frame and was replaced by Caster, a rookie, who got credit for the victory.

Baecht and Holling shared the pitching honors for the southerners.

Ike Boone led the attack for the Missions, clouting two homers, while Walter Berger and Schulmerich each clouted circuits for the Angels. Scores:

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 4. (AP)—Timely hitting behind the effective pitching of Sylvester Johnson enabled the St. Louis Cardinals to blank the Boston Braves, 5 to 0, today, in the second game of the series. It was the fourth straight victory for the Cardinals. Jimmy Wilson, St. Louis catcher, who was banished yesterday by Umpire Magerkurth for protesting was back in the game today but it was announced that President Heydler had fined him $50. Manager Bill McKechnie, who was chased out of the park by Magerkurth yesterday, escaped without a fine. The score:

OAKS SMOTHER SOLONS TO WIN DOUBLE-HEADER

OAKLAND, Aug. 4. (AP)—The Oaks smothered the Sacramento team under topheavy scores to win both games of a double-header in easy fashion today. In the morning game, the victors hammered out fifteen hits off Laurie Vinci and Larry Gillick for an easy 13-to-0 win and in the afternoon they came back with fourteen more hits off Vinci and Bill Cano for a 7-to-2 finish. Despite their defeats today, the Senators won the series four games to three.

Jim Edwards, former Seattle southpaw, was too much for the Senators in the morning fracas, shutting them out with seven hits. Lou McEvoy, pitching the afternoon game for the Oaks, allowed the Sacramento aggregation as many hits, but two runs slipped in on him. Scores:

CHISOX LOSE

BOSTON, Aug. 4. (AP)—Ed Morris held the White Sox to two hits here today and the Red Sox won the third and deciding game of the series, 8 to 0.

Both hits off Morris were singles. One was a slow infield roller by Cissell in the fourth and the other a clean hit by Berg in the fifth. Morris passed four men and Cissell alone of the White Sox reached third base.

Ken Williams led the Boston attack with a three-bagger and a home run, while Hal Rhyne collected three singles.

Santa Monica citizens led by Mayor Michels were guests of honor at the game. Two hundred horsemen paraded before the mallet squads took the field. Jimmy Rogers won the trophy for the best turned out Western rider.

Sunday the Santa Barbara Polo Club will open a Southern California championship series with the Uplifters' Big Four.

Contributions Pouring in for Grace

Boxing men from all over the country are contributing to the benefit given Jack Grace, boxer of another and fading generation, at the Main-street club tonight.

Those who are too far away to attend have sent their checks along. The boxing writers of New York came through with their bit. San Francisco fighters and managers have also given generously.

Grace, who has been sick the last few months, is one of the best-known old-timers in the racket. He has kept in touch with friends by almost constant globe-trotting.

Frank Morgan, Jack Russell and Carlo Curtis are handling the exhibition bouts. Every boxing star in Los Angeles will take part.

The tentative line-ups are George Godfrey vs. Leonard Dixon; Ace Hudkins vs. Roy Moore; Tod Morgan vs. Doc Snell; Jack Thompson vs. Leo Hernandez, Yale Okun vs. Poe Bitto; Eddie Mack vs. Joe Mancillas, Hymie Miller vs. Jackie Mandell.

The show starts at 8:30. Prices will be 50 cents, $1 and $1.50.

Dan Tobey will be the chief announcer. Jack Doyle will be master of ceremonies. Jim Jefferies—and possibly Jack Dempsey and Georges Carpentier—will be honorary referees.

Money derived from the show will all be turned over to Grace. He will be sent to the springs and given the best medical attention money can buy.

Grace is 62 years of age. He fought in the days when they used bare knuckles. He teamed up with Kid McCoy and they toured the world introducing boxing into countries that had never before seen it.

DOMINICK DUNDEE IN DEBUT SATURDAY

Dominick Dundee, heavy-punching Omaha lightweight, will make his Los Angeles ring debut at the Main Street Athletic Club next Saturday night when he tackles Joe Guerrero, Mexican champion.

Kano Nakamura defeated Harry Wallinder in six hard-fought rounds at the Main-street club last Saturday night. They are featherweights. In defeating Pancho Villa, Mexican middleweight, in the semi-wind-up, Al Cruise chalked up his eighteenth straight win. Marcus Zorilla kayoed Johnny Liles in the second round.

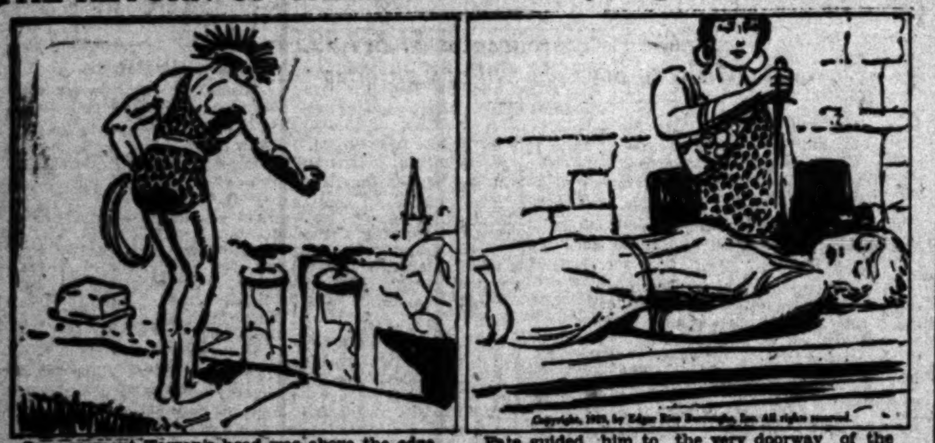
THE RETURN OF TARZAN

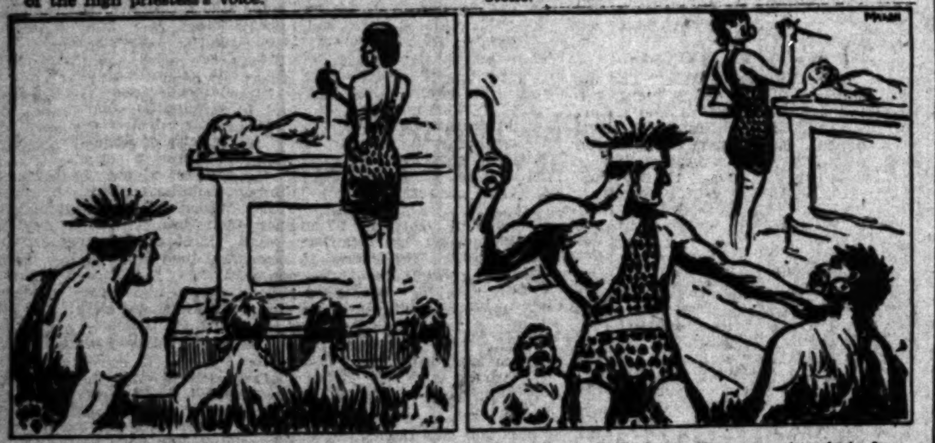
By Edgar Rice Burroughs



Copyright, 1929, by Edgar Rice Burroughs, Inc. All rights reserved.

In a moment Tarzan's head was above the edge of the shaft. The court was empty. The inhabitants of Opar were viewing the sacrifice. He heard the voice of La from the near-by sacrificial court. The dance had ceased. It must be almost time for the knife to fall! But even as he thought this, he was running rapidly toward the sound of the high priestess's voice.

Fate guided him to the very doorway of the great, roofless chamber. Between him and the altar was the long row of priests and priestesses, awaiting with their golden cups the spilling of the warm blood of their victim. La's hand was descending slowly toward the bosom of the frail, quiet figure that lay stretched upon the hard stone.



Tarzan gave a gasp that was almost a sob as he recognized the features of the woman he loved. And then the scar upon his forehead turned to a flaming band of scarlet, a red mist floated before his eyes, and, with the awful roar of the bull ape gone mad, he sprang like a huge lion into the midst of the votaries.

Seizing a cudgel from the nearest priest, he laid about him like a veritable demon, as he forged his rapid way toward the altar. The hand of La had paused at the first sign of interruption. When she saw who was the author of it, she went white. For she had never been able to fathom the secret of this strange man's escape from the dungeon in which she had locked him.

GOLD DOME IN MAIN ORE BODY

Angelenos' Battle Mountain Property Promising

Samples from Strike Held to Show High Values

Nevada Quicksilver Reports New Discoveries

RENO (Nev.) Aug. 4. (Exclusive) The Gold Dome Mining Company, working properties in the McCoy district near Battle Mountain, and controlled by H. W. Boyer, H. D. Brown and others of Los Angeles, reports that the main ore body has been opened on the 150-foot level of the shaft. Samples indicate that the material may average more than $100 per ton.

On the 100-foot level the vein is nineteen feet wide, with seven feet said to average nearly $60 a ton. The shaft has entered another ore body at 200 feet, but sufficient work has not been done to determine its extent and value. A raise, winze and drifts will be run on the 150-foot level to develop the ledge to advantage.

The Nevada Quicksilver Company reports two important cinnabar discoveries in its properties in the Antelope Springs field, near Lovelock. On the 300-foot level of the main property a five-foot vein of excellent ore has been uncovered in the hangingwall area, and is expected to add materially to the reserves. On the Montgomery claims, recently purchased by the corporation, a five-foot ledge of 2 per cent ore is reported to be showing, with the richer streaks carrying high values.

Excavating has started at Seven Troughs for the new 100-ton mill of the Seven Troughs Gold Mines Company. The plant will be electrically-operated and is scheduled to go into commission within two months. Splendid ore continues to be developed in drifts from the main tunnel, which has been driven 7900 feet from daylight.

Sale of all the assets of the Mason Valley Mines Company, near Wabuska, to the Eastern Iron and Metal Company of Salt Lake City is announced. The deal includes the smelter, Bluestone concentrator, the practically deserted town of Thompson, and all the mining claims of the corporation. It is said the plants will not be dismantled at present, as a deal for consolidation of the properties with the Nevada Douglass Copper Company is still being considered.

REBORED WELL REFUSES FLOW

FRUITVALE, Aug. 4. (Exclusive) Failing to restore production in its Marston No. 1 hole on Sec. 27, 29-27, by redrilling with cable tools, Mohawk Oil Company officials are attempting to bring back the well's initial flow by reboring with a rotary outfit, but have not yet obtained results.

The hole, originally a producer of more than 350 barrels of oil daily, went dead a few weeks ago and every effort has been bent by the crew to regain production. It was thought that the use of standard tools would gain the desired result, but that failed and the rotary drill now in use has struck iron in the hole.

On July 15 the crew dropped a slug of nitro-glycerine in the hole in an attempt to dislodge a conglomeration of materials that had lodged at bottom. Evidently the charge failed to bring about the desired results, as the rotary tools in use now are striking bottom heavily without making hole.

A dehydrating plant is being built on the property to heat the oil produced from the company's No. 5 hole, which was brought in a few days ago at 500 barrels per day. A large cut in the content prompts the erection of the plant.

Rig is up for the company's No. 6 well and as soon as the No. 1 hole is cleared out for drilling activities and the dehydrating plant is in operation the new location on the same section will be drilled by a rotary outfit, it is asserted.

Undersea Pipe Line Built by Richfield Oil

The Richfield Oil Company has practically completed a twelve-inch steel pipe line, 4700 feet long, across Alamitos Bay channel, from the Belmont Shore Development Company's lease at Seal Beach to the Naples Gas Company plant on the opposite shore.

The line is for supplying illuminating gas. Instead of going to the expense of constructing an overhead conveyor which would have required a great deal of time, the pipe line was submerged.

Permit for construction of the pipe line was recently granted by the War Department through the United States district engineer's office in Los Angeles.

New Fruitvale Test Planned by Western Gulf

FRUITVALE, Aug. 4. (Exclusive) The Western-Gulf Oil Company is rigging up for a new well to be known as No. 2-C on Sec. 28, 29-27, of the Fruitvale field. The rig will stand 1020 feet south and 325 feet west of the northeast corner of the section. This company has three other wells drilling in the Fruitvale area.

The No. 8-B and No. 9-B are on Sec. 22, 29-27, the former being down approximately 7385 feet, while the latter is down about 3678 feet. The company's No. 1-D hole on Sec. 26, 29-27, is drilling ahead at around 3980 feet with casing set at 3739 feet.

GOLD DOME IN MAIN ORE BODY

Hopeless' Battle Mountain Property Promising

Nevada Quicksilver Reports New Discoveries

RENO (Nev.) Aug. 4. (Exclusive) The Gold Dome Mining Company, working properties in the McCoy district near Battle Mountain, and controlled by H. W. Boyer, H. D. [illegible] and others of Los Angeles, reports that the main ore body has been opened on the 150-foot level of the shaft. Samples indicate that the material may average more than $100 per ton.

On the 150-foot level the vein is [illegible] feet wide, with seven feet said to average nearly $80 a ton. The shaft has entered another ore body at 200 feet, but sufficient work has not been done to determine its extent and value. A raise, winze and drifts will be run on the 150-foot level to develop the ledge to advantage.

The Nevada Quicksilver Company reports two important cinnabar discoveries in its properties in the [illegible] Springs field, near Lovelock. On the 300-foot level of the main property a five-foot vein of excellent ore has been uncovered in the hangingwall area, and is expected to add materially to the reserves. On the Montgomery claims, recently purchased by the corporation, a five-foot ledge of 2 per cent is reported to be showing, with richer streaks carrying high values.

Excavating has started at Seven Troughs for the new 100-ton mill of the Seven Troughs Gold Mines Company. The plant will be electrically-operated and is scheduled to go into commission within two months. Splendid ore continues to be developed in drifts from the main tunnel, which has been driven 700 feet from daylight.

Sale of all the assets of the Mason Valley Mines Company, near Yerington, to the Eastern Iron and Metal Company of Salt Lake City is announced. The deal includes the smelter, Bluestone concentrator, the practically deserted town of Thompson, and all the mining claims of the corporation. It is said the plants will not be dismantled at present, as a deal for [illegible] of the properties with the Nevada Douglass Copper Company is still being considered.

OIL EXPORTS REACH PEAK

Movement of 3,102,060 Barrels From Harbor During Last Week Heaviest This Year

The heaviest week in the year, from the standpoint of bulk petroleum exports from Los Angeles Harbor, was scored last week when the total movement of oils mounted to 3,102,060 barrels—a mark that has been reached only three or four times in the last seven years.

Heavy demand for vacation gasoline was one of the factors that sent the indicator well over the 3,000,000-barrel mark. A total of 1,039,931 barrels of gasoline was moved, while fuel shipments amounted to 1,095,250 barrels and crude oil shipments totaled 817,910 barrels.

One of the reasons for the unusually heavy movement of petroleum during the past month is believed to be that several of the big marketing companies in Los Angeles have filled most of their storage with Santa Fe Springs crude oil, and are able to buy a great deal of crude at comparatively low prices for shipment to distant markets. Two weeks ago the shipments ran to 2,774,525 barrels, which was considerably more than the average movement for a week.

Last week the Pacific domestic trade took 1,403,254 barrels, including 689,254 barrels of crude, 550,892 barrels of fuel, 170,322 barrels of gasoline, 8135 barrels of road oil, 3880 barrels of Diesel, 296 barrels of kerosene and 475 barrels of stove oil. The Atlantic domestic trade took nothing but gasoline, getting 627,324 barrels of it.

The Pacific foreign trade called for 938,050 barrels, including 148,656 barrels of crude, 544,358 barrels of fuel, 133,459 barrels of Diesel, 108,853 barrels of gasoline and 2724 barrels of kerosene. The Atlantic foreign trade took 133,432 barrels of gasoline. The shipments for the week were listed as follows:

PACIFIC DOMESTIC

Los Alamos to Portland with 37,723 barrels of gasoline for Union Oil Company.

District of Columbia to Richmond with 79,206 barrels of crude for Standard Oil Company.

Lake Miraflores to San Francisco with 12,947 barrels of gasoline for Western Oil and Refining Company.

J. A. Moffett to Willbridge with 65,000 barrels of fuel for Standard Oil Company.

Standard barge No. 2 to San Diego with 5329 barrels of gasoline for Standard Oil Company.

H. M. Storey to Richmond with 104,000 barrels of crude for Standard Oil Company.

La Purisima to San Diego with 36,000 barrels of fuel and gasoline for Union Oil Company.

D. G. Scofield to Richmond with 74,834 barrels of crude for Standard Oil Company.

A. F. Lucas to Longview with 34,892 barrels of fuel for Standard Oil Company.

Emidio to Portland with 74,000 barrels of gasoline for General Petroleum Corporation.

J. C. Fitzsimmons to Richmond with 65,334 barrels of crude for Standard Oil Company.

ATLANTIC DOMESTIC

Elisha Walker to Baltimore with 80,565 barrels of gasoline for Pan American Tank and Transport Company.

W. S. Rheem to Philadelphia with 113,868 barrels of gasoline for Standard Oil Company.

William H. Doheny to Baltimore with 78,000 barrels of gasoline for Pan American Tank and Transport Company.

PACIFIC FOREIGN

F. H. Hillman to Balboa with 109,109 barrels of Diesel and fuel for Standard Oil Company.

Brunswick to Wellington with 108,853 barrels of gasoline for Atlantic Union Oil Company, Ltd.

British Glory to San Antonio with 63,384 barrels of fuel for Union Steamship Company of New Zealand.

ATLANTIC FOREIGN

Oil Interest in Edison District Held Reviving

EDISON, Aug. 4. (Exclusive)—Interest is being revived in the search for oil near Edison, following the announcement that the Texas Company has made a location for a new test of the district. The Texas well will be drilled on Sec. 23, 29-27.

The district has already had a couple of wildcat wells go down and both showed fair oil indications. One was drilled by the General Petroleum Corporation and almost became a commercial producer, but water problems developed and the company finally abandoned the hole after futile attempts to shut off the water.

NEW WELL TO START

Project Will Test District on Kern-Tulare Border

DELANO, Aug. 4. (Exclusive)—Another new well will test the area just north of the Kern county line in Tulare county, where many attempts have been made to find oil production.

The Petroleum Securities Company has taken over Vedder Brothers' lease on Sec. 22, 24-27, and a site is being graded for derrick. Drilling will begin soon.

RICH STRIKE REPORTED IN LAST HOPE

Leasers Hit Good Vein of Ore on Property in Gilbert District

TONOPAH (Nev.) Aug. 4. (Exclusive)—Less than a month after starting work the Gilbert lease on the Mammoth Last Hope property, in the Gilbert district, has opened a five-foot vein of mill ore. The strike was made after driving through twenty-two feet of calcite. Drifting is now proceeding toward the area where the leasers hope to locate the extension of the rich deposit which caused the rush to Gilbert about four years ago. Gilbert Brothers, discoverers of the camp, located the ledge after the company had vainly sought the ore body.

Rejuvenation of the old Gold Basin district, near Chalk Mountain, has been started by A. C. Pepin of Los Angeles and associates. Considerable ore of mill grade has been opened on the Knight property and in Florence and Star canyons, with the veins reported as being large and strongly defined. Mr. Pepin is understood to be preparing to install a small amalgamating mill on the Knight property.

A five-foot ledge of shipping ore has been uncovered on the Charles State group in the Cararra district, three miles north of the Golden Ace property. The owners state that the vein carries excellent values in gold and silver and is developing satisfactorily. Good ore continues to be opened in the Gold Ace, Arista, Golden Ace and other Cararra properties. The zone of activity now covers an area of several square miles, with scores of prospectors at work.

TOM REED SHIPPING DUE SOON

Bullion from Rich Find Expected to Start for Mint Within Month

OATMAN (Ariz.) Aug. 4. (Exclusive)—Gold bullion from the sensational strike of the Tom Reed on its 950-foot level will be leaving Oatman within the next month. The mill is being put in shape for operation by September 1. Much low-grade material, of which the Tom Reed has plenty, will be mixed in with the high-grade from the new shoot.

In the meantime all the bunkers are filled and the ore is being dumped out on a stock pile until the tramway down to the mill can be put in commission. Not a piece can be picked up that does not show free gold.

The headings being run along the shoot on the 950-foot level are now 125 feet apart, and both are in ore that shows no change in character. This drift is five and one-half feet wide, but it is fair to assume that the width of the ore is at least eight feet and it may run sixteen. Assistant Manager Vic Light is quoted as admitting that this is the biggest shoot of high-grade gold ever opened in Mohave county.

Amendments to Ore Buyer Act in Effect Soon

State Mineralogist Walter W. Bradley announces that the amendments passed by the recent session of the Legislature to the Ore and Bullion Buyers' License Act will become effective the 14th inst.

One of these amendments which is of particular importance to the prospector and the smaller operators in the mountain districts is that which provides for an annual license fee of only $2, without the necessity of a bond, for local merchants who will purchase not to exceed a total of $1000 in gold or silver bullion or materials per calendar year. The license fee for purchases totaling over $1000 will be $15 a year, likewise without bond.

Any person or firm desiring an ore buyers' license should write to the State Mineralogist, Ferry Building, San Francisco, for application blank.

INTRUSION OF WATER PERSISTS

Standard Bails to Get Complete Shut-off in Bakersfield Well

BAKERSFIELD, Aug. 4. (Exclusive)—The Standard Oil Company's Oak-street well on Sec. 24, 27-29 is still producing quantities of water, according to field reports, and as yet the source of the trouble has not been determined by the crew.

The hole is directly off the Oak-street turn-off to Fruitvale and is immediately adjacent to the Bakersfield city limits, in a northwestern direction. The well was brought in July 1 with an estimated daily production of 300 barrels a day.

The quantity of water that is flowing with the oil makes the hole of little commercial value, and until the crew can succeed in shutting it off the well cannot be considered a successful prospect, it is asserted.

The latest theory advanced is that the water is flowing up with the oil instead of coming from a different source. Working on this theory, the crew expects to bring the hole through in good shape with a shut-off in a few days, at which time commercial production is expected.

WICKENBURG MINE PLANT IN TRANSIT

Bagdad Copper Moving Monte Cristo Outfit to Estate at Hillside

WICKENBURG (Ariz.) Aug. 4. (Exclusive)—Preliminary to an extensive new development program, the Bagdad Copper Company has bought a quantity of used and practically unused machinery from the Monte Cristo mine, east of Wickenburg. That machinery is now being moved to the Bagdad, west of Hillside station.

The principal items of the purchase are a double-drum Allis Chalmers hoist and a 1500-foot Sullivan Angle compound compressor.

For some time the Bagdad mill has been operating steadily and each day it turns out about 600 pounds of electrolytic copper.

A new shaft has been carried down 180 feet on the ore and from a station at the bottom a church drill hole has proved the existence of ore at a considerably greater depth.

Magma Copper Mine Will be Rehabilitated

MIAMI (Ariz.) Aug. 4. (AP)—Complete rehabilitation of the bottom of the Magma Copper Company mine at Superior, including installation of concrete shafts to replace timber work burned out two years ago, was announced yesterday.

Resumption of development work, according to present indications, will greatly augment the operations of the company and will increase the working forces. The present pay roll of the company is $140,000 monthly.

LOCATION STAKED

Calkern Oil Plans New Well in Belridge Field

BELRIDGE, Aug. 4. (Exclusive)—The Calkern Oil Company has staked location for a new well in the Belridge field, on Sec. 18, 28-22. The Ozena Oil Company is drilling in sandy shale at 700 feet in its No. 2 well on Sec. 27, 29-21. The Ventura-Pacific Oil Company has just finished a cementing job in its No. 1 well on Sec. 18, 29-22. The hole is down 3375 feet, with pipe set at 3115 feet.

The Belridge Oil Company has its No. 15 well in the Belridge field down more than 5050 feet and is going through sandy grey shale formation. The well is on Sec. 26, 27-20.

TEST OF MARICOPA FLATS PROJECT PENDS

MARICOPA, Aug. 4. (Exclusive) The Birch Oil Company is preparing to plug its No. 1 well on Sec. 7, 11-23, in the Maricopa Flats district at 2710 feet in order to make a production test. The nine-inch casing has been set at 2284 feet. The well is in the area where several good producers were recently brought in.

KETTLEMAN OIL PACT FORECAST

Work of Conservation Body Near Completion

Agreement on Way East for Milham Approval

Two-Year Curtailment Plan Appears Assured

With Dr. George Otis Smith, chief of the United States Geological Survey, hastening to New York to secure the signature of executives of the Milham Exploration Company, the work of the Kettleman Hills oil and gas conservation committee is nearing completion.

Appointed last April by F. C. Van Deinse, then oil umpire, the special committee of seven, with E. D. Reiter, chief counsel for the E. J. Miley interests, as chairman, has practically finished the work cut out for it by Secretary Wilbur.

Yesterday Dr. Smith obtained the signature of the Associated Oil Company in San Francisco, according to word received by Chairman Reiter, and while there, he received the promise of Standard Oil Company officials that a letter would be submitted, indicating its willingness to co-operate in a plan which calls for a two-year shut-down of operations on the north dome of Kettleman Hills as a means of conserving oil and gas.

Dr. Smith carries with him to New York the original agreement. It has the signature of nearly every operator active on the north dome. If he is successful in his meeting with the Milham Exploration Company, he will shortly afterward confer with Secretary Wilbur in Washington, before sailing for South America.

Under the agreement, the Standard Oil Company's No. 61, on Sec. 11, will be the first well to be completed in the future. It will be allowed to flow uninterrupted to deplete the gas pressure in the vicinity of Milham's Elliott No. 1 discovery well, so it can be capped. The Marland Oil Company's Elliott No. 12-6, may be completed while its Elliott No. 2-13 may continue into the oil sand. The General Petroleum Corporation's Ochsner No. 2, on Sec. 26, and its Ochsner No. 2, on Sec. 20, may be continued to completion and then shut in.

The Standard Oil Company has six wells drilling below 6000 feet, and one is producing approximately 800 barrels of high gravity oil per day. Foundation is being poured for No. 21, on Sec. 7, 22-18, while location has just been made for No. 278 on Sec. 33, 21-17.

The General Petroleum Corporation is making slow progress in its fishing job in Ochsner No. 2, on Sec. 26. About four stands of three-inch drill pipe remain to be pulled before drilling operations can be resumed. This project blew in several months ago and yielded approximately 2000 barrels of 63 deg. gravity oil per day, along with about 60,000,000 cubic feet of gas per day until it was killed to deepen.

The Armstrong No. 1 of George F. Getty, Inc., on Sec. 4, 22-17, is drilling ahead below 6260 feet, being one of the deepest in the field. The Ohio Oil Company's Smith No. 1, on Sec. 35, 24-19, is drilling ahead in oil sand below 6655 feet.

The Milham Exploration Company's Elliott No. 2 near the Elliott No. 1, discovery well, is drilling ahead below 6757 feet, while Kennedy No. 1, which was threatened with a blowout a short time ago, is drilling ahead at 7095 feet, and is rapidly nearing the depth of the discovery well. The Beal No. 1 is sidetracking down at about 5787 feet.

Gold Road Mill Due for Start by September 1

OATMAN (Ariz.) Aug. 4. (Exclusive)—It is expected that the Gold Road mill will be running again by the first of September. Eight men are employed in overhauling it under the direction of General Manager Robert H. Milne, and this force is to be increased soon.

Since the mill closed down a large tonnage of ore has been opened in the mine. Some of the most promising discoveries were parallel veins cut in the process of drifting around caved ground on the 300-foot level.

POSO CREEK OUTPUT OF SIGNAL OIL TOLD

POSO CREEK, Aug. 4. (Exclusive)—The Signal Oil and Gas Company shipped more than 23,000 barrels of oil by tankers from its Poso Creek holdings last month, according to reports. During the month the company shipped 21,823 barrels from its Maricopa Flats producers.

WASTE OF GAS ENORMOUS

Value of Loss During June Given as $1,347,995 in Study Made by Standard Oil of California

Pointing out that at a wholesale rate of 7 cents per 1000 cubic feet, $1,347,955 worth of natural gas blew into the air in California oil fields during June, the Standard Oil Company of California, in its bulletin for July, presents the following discussion of the gas wastage problem:

"At the end of August the new California law which prohibits an unreasonable waste of natural gas comes into full effect. Full success in the enforcement of this measure is of the greatest consequence to the people of California and to those interested in the California oil industry in all of its phases, including stockholders of oil companies. Its importance can hardly be overstated.

"To the people of California the enormous wastage of gas is the permanent loss of a natural heritage of great value, of inestimable worth in some possible day of the future when California's oil and gas supply approaches exhaustion. To those particularly interested in the oil industry a continuation of the present condition spells advancement toward demoralization and chaos.

EASY TO EXPLAIN

"The facts are simple. The discovery of new oil fields, highly prolific in both crude oil and natural gas, and their unrestrained development has brought about a condition of great overproduction of both oil and gas. During June, when 4,345,497 more barrels of crude oil and 19,256,500,000 cubic feet of natural gas were produced than could be used, the oil was sent to costly storage; the gas blew off into the air, gone from human use forever. The accumulation of surplus stocks in storage of petroleum reached a record figure—165,270,000 barrels, a gain of 5,475,590 barrels for the month.

"In the subterranean deposits in which petroleum and natural gas are found sometimes gas alone is encountered, but more often in California the two are in liquid combination in the same reservoir. As a well pierces the reservoirs the oil and gas rise under pressure. At the well-mouth the oil and gas separate. The oil is sent to tank farms. Much of the gas is used in the field for fuel, sent to market or, in some cases, put back into the ground. But there remain still enormous quantities for which there is no market nor use. This is the gas which is blown to the air. The cost of storing gas above ground is prohibitive. Older oil fields from which oil and gas have been removed, leaving voids, afford the only effective storage for gas, and quantities have been disposed of in this manner. This gas also serves the useful purpose of repressuring old fields.

PUBLIC INTEREST

"The interest of the public is clear. California's natural gas deposits constitute a great natural resource. Natural gas is a valuable fuel, and its wasteage in huge quantities is economically criminal. Southern California has long had the benefit of natural gas for industrial and domestic use. Its availability is one of the important factors in the rapid development of that region. Recent discoveries of gas in the San Joaquin Valley will give Central California and the great San Francisco Bay area a supply of this fuel. While there is much more gas available at the moment that California can use, there is no certainty as to how long the supply will last. Therefore gas now blowing off should be kept in the ground. In a sense, gas is like water. Running to the sea, water is lost; impounded it is made to serve a useful purpose. So also with natural gas.

"The development of natural-gas fields and establishment of a reserve is wise. The demand for natural gas fluctuates violently. The market consumes far more gas in the winter than in the summer—one authority states that at times there is as much as five-to-one variation between the average summer day and a winter day of peak demand. Hence there should always be available sufficient gas to meet the maximum public requirements.

HAS OTHER VALUE

"Gas has another value than its use as fuel. It performs vital services in moving oil toward a well and lifting it to the surface. In times of shortage of crude oil its utilization for these purposes might be warranted, even if it were necessary to let it go into the air.

"The detailed figures for the month of June indicate the magnitude of the wastes of natural gas. Every day during that month 641,883,000 cubic feet of natural gas from California oil fields blew off into the air. This is equivalent to the heat, or energy, value of 121,100 barrels of fuel oil, or 34,600 tons of coal per day. For the whole month of June the loss of gas amounted to 19,256,500,000 cubic feet, equal to 3,633,300 barrels of fuel oil, or 1,038,000 tons of coal. Inasmuch as there is no market for this gas, it is difficult to set down its worth in money; but applying a price of 7 cents per thousand cubic feet, for which great quantities of natural gas are sold in the field, a figure of $1,347,955 for the month is reached.

ACTION NECESSARY

"From every point of view the conservation of natural gas and the elimination of waste are essential. There is an excess of gas now only because the oil industry is producing too much crude oil. If the gas is shut in the overproduction of crude will be curtailed, bringing supply and demand more nearly into balance. Slower and more orderly development, enabling the gas to perform its most valuable functions of driving oil to the well and lifting it to the surface, will result in a greater ultimate recovery of oil. More orderly development will prevent periods of great overproduction, and eliminate the great expense of storing surplus petroleum. All this will work for a more prosperous industry. It will prolong California's supply of both oil and gas, and defer a possible day of importation of petroleum by California.

"For some years the oil industry has discussed conservation and the control of the production of crude oil. Many plans have been made; some of them have been tried. Nothing, however, quite so comprehensive as the new California law prohibiting the unreasonable waste of gas has been attempted. It deserves a thorough trial and the co-operation and support of the entire oil industry."

AIMS OF MINING CONCLAVE TOLD

PRESCOTT (Ariz.) Aug. 4. (Exclusive)—Extending encouragement to operators of small mines in Arizon is announced as the principal purpose of the "mining revival" that is to be held in Prescott, the 24th and 25th inst., under the auspices of the Arizona Industrial Congress and Yavapai County Chamber of Commerce. Several hundred mining men from all parts of the State are expected.

Among the topics to be discussed by speakers who have already promised to be present are: Valuation of prospects, A. L. Field of the International Smelting Company, El Paso; future of Yavapai county, mining department of University of Arizona; electric prospecting, with a demonstration of the "Radiore" method, by P. G. Spilsbury, president of the Arizona Industrial Congress; industrial insurance and compensation, by a representative of the Arizona Industrial Commission; powder manufacturing, by D. Gregoroff of the Apache Powder Company, Benson.

Power, first aid, safety first, nonmetallic minerals, transportation and smelter charges are other subjects that will come before the convention for discussion.

One of the features of the revival will be an exhibit of mining machinery under the direction of George D. French.

Gasoline Plant of Humble Oil to Start Soon

McCAMEY (Tex.) Aug. 4. (Exclusive)—Situated in the midst of the producing wells of the Yates field in Pecos county, the new casinghead gasoline plant which the Humble Oil and Refining Company is constructing will soon be completed and placed in operation. It will handle approximately 25,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily and the gasoline extraction will be approximately 20,000 gallons daily.

Interest in the new plant is more than usual, due to the fact that it will mark the first attempt to commercialize the hydrogen-sulphide gas of the Yates field. Successful operation, however, of two other casinghead gasoline plants, one in the Big Lake field of Reagan county and the other in the Crane county field, where the gas is similar to that of the Yates field, is regarded as insuring the success of the new plant.

KERN OIL ACTIVITY GAINS

BAKERSFIELD, Aug. 4. (Exclusive)—During the past week twelve new oil wells were started in the Kern county area. This is the largest number of permits issued in one week by the Kern county offices of the division of oil and gas of the State Mining Bureau for several months.

Honolulu Consolidated Oil Company is to drill two wells in the Buena Vista Hills, on Sec. 8, 32-24. Well No. 31 is 300 feet south and 2055 feet east from the northwest section corner. Well No. 73 is 1470 feet south and 885 feet west from the northwest section corner.

In the Buena Vista Hills, the Standard Oil Company is to drill its No. 52 on Sec. 5, 32-24. The location is 915 feet north and 2133 feet east from the southwest section corner.

In the Maricopa Flat area of the Midway-Sunset field three wells are to be drilled. Doyle Petroleum Corporation will drill its Berta Wier No. 2 on Sec. 8, 11-23, 250 feet south and 1620 feet east from the center of the section. Standard Oil Company is to drill its Graham No. 2 on Sec. 7, 11-23, 1024 feet north and 304 feet west from the southeast section corner. North American Oil Consolidated is to drill Sunset No. 2 on Sec. 8, 11-23, 978 feet south and 300 feet east from the center of the section.

The Pacific Western Oil Company is to drill well Glide-Vedder No. 3 on Sec. 15, 27-28, Poso Creek field, 117 feet south and 489 feet east from the west one-quarter corner.

The Western Gulf Oil Company will drill its K.C.L.-B. No. 9 in the Fruitvale field, Sec. 22, 28-27, 300 feet north and 650 feet east from the southwest section corner.

The Kern Hills Petroleum Corporation, Ltd., is to drill a well on Sec. 6, 28-29, 150 feet north and 100 feet east from the southwest corner of their property.

On the Kern Front three wells are to be drilled as follows: Pan-American Petroleum Company No. 21, on Sec. 22, 28-27, 655 feet north and 211 feet east from the center of Sec. 22; Chanslor-Canfield Midway Oil Company No. 27 on Sec. 23, 28-27, 1091 feet north and 1093 feet east from the south corner of the section; Shell Oil Company Core Hole "F" on Sec. 31, 28-27, 1203 feet south and 839 feet west from the northeast section corner.

ROAD OIL SALES GAIN FORECAST

General Petroleum Planning to Meet Demand

New Storage Being Added at Vernon, Torrance

Seattle Plant Under Way to Cost Near $100,000

Anticipating a substantial increase in the demand for road oil during the next twelve months, the General Petroleum Corporation is adding substantially to its storage facilities in Vernon and Torrance, and elsewhere on the Pacific Coast. Its sales department expresses the belief that its demand for all grades of road oil during the next year will total 25,000,000 gallons.

At Seattle, the General Petroleum Corporation is spending more than $100,000 in the construction of new storage and handling facilities for road-oil distribution in Western Washington. At Portland, which is the natural shipping point for road materials used in Oregon, Eastern Washington, Idaho and Montana, new road-oil tanks with a storage capacity of 2,500,000 gallons are being built to supply the paving activities of the Northwest. Tanks of similar construction are being installed at the company's Oakland terminal.

Most of General's road oils are obtained from certain wells in the Midway field, near Taft, which produce a high asphalt-content crude. This is stored at the company's Continental Station where tanks totaling 5,000,000 gallons capacity are utilized for segregating the various types of oil.

From there the crude oil, properly graded, is pumped over Tejon Pass to Los Angeles, through a 150-mile pipe line.

The Vernon and Torrance refineries cut the oil to meet the specifications of various road engineers, and pump it through pipe lines to Los Angeles Harbor, where oil tankers load it for delivery all over the world, and eventual reshipment by tank car to road-construction points.

NEW MINE ON LIST

Southwestern Metals Starts Shipping Ore

TUCSON (Ariz.) Aug. 4. (Exclusive)—Pima county's list of producing mines has been enlarged by one. Croft T. Boyd started shipping last week from the property of the Southwestern Metal Mines, ten miles southwest of Tucson.

The ore is mostly copper glance, single chunks of which weigh as much as 600 pounds. The company expects soon to begin extracting galena ore from its Commodore shaft.

Late Reports From California's Great Petroleum Pools

POSO CREEK OIL DEAL ARRANGED

Daily Amount Estimated at Near 5000 Barrels

Drilling Activity in Field Showing Increase

BAKERSFIELD, Aug. 4. (Exclusive)—With its Poso Creek pipe line nearly completed, the Union Oil Company has announced arrangements made recently with the Shell Oil Company for the shipment of at least 5000 barrels of oil daily from the Shell's wells in that district. The Shell company's wells in this territory have been shut in for some time but will be opened up coincidental with the completion of the line in order to comply with lease requirements.

Final disposition of the oil shipped has not been announced, though it is thought the oil will be cracked up into gasoline products in order to comply with the State ruling on the gas conservation subject.

Increased activity is being shown in the field, with the Pacific Western, Union, Signal Oil and Gas and other companies having signified their intention of drilling additional wells.

Shell's Buchner No. 1, located on the southeast quarter of Sec. 20, 26-28, will be placed on the pump immediately after being brought in, reports state. Bottom is at 1520 feet and the well has opened up more than twenty feet of oil sand. On a pump test the well produced sixteen barrels in twelve hours.

Bruce Frame's Bowles No. 1, located on the southwest quarter of Sec. 21, 26-28, immediately adjacent to the Buchner No. 1, is being brought in from a depth of 1480 feet. It is reported to have cored more than fifty feet of oil sand. The perforated liner is being run in preparatory to pumping.

TENNESSEE MINE PLANT PROGRESSES

Monarch Lead Reported Pushing Work on Mill at Chloride Property

CHLORIDE (Ariz.) Aug. 4. (Exclusive)—Good progress is reported by the Monarch Lead Company in the work of installing a selective flotation mill that is to treat the ores of the Tennessee mine. It is expected that the mill will not only save nearly all the zinc and lead, but the gold and silver values as well.

While a large surface crew is setting up the machinery underground development is being pushed on the 900 and 1250 levels. Stopes are being opened and other preparations made for heavy extraction.

When the mill is ready the shaft will be deepened to open the ore body opened on the 1600 by means of winzes from the 1400. It has been proved that the big ore body, which has already yielded 278,000 tons, extends down 1600 feet and probably much deeper.

ROCK GRAVEL UNIT LARGEST IN WORLD

The Pacific Coast Aggregates, Inc., with resources of more than $24,000,000, is said to be the largest concern of its kind in the world. Formation of the company through a merger of eighteen rock, sand and gravel companies in California was announced last week. There are twenty-one producing plants and twenty-six retail plants in the company's holdings.

RARE MINERALS, METALLURGY, CHEMISTRY

Qualitative analysis will be given in this department of The Times to correspondents on ores and minerals free of charge. Make each sample of an ounce or so in weight. Be sure to write a letter stating what tests are desired and give the approximate locality from which samples were taken. Do not pulverize the specimens. Give your name and address on paper wrapped with samples.

Silica

CORTEZ (Nev.) July 15.—Question: I am sending two samples. Will you kindly let me know if they are turquoise, and if good enough grade to be used by jewelers? No. 1 comes on the hard pan in a lime formation. No. 2 is from solid formation, and both samples occur near Cortez. X.

Answer: Sample No. 1 consists of several spherules of concretionary origin and react as chalcedonic matter mixed with opaline silica and flint. No. 2 is a mixture; it is partly flint and is not turquoise. It seems to be in part compact and amorphous semiopal, with some blue feldspar at one end of the specimen. Both samples represent very doubtful gemstone values.

Three Specimens

MINARET, July 15.—Q.: Under separate cover I am sending three pieces of ore for analyses. If there are any charges please remit bill. X.

A.: No charges. The two black samples are carbonaceous or graphitic shaly slate, containing traces of microscopic pyrite and peacock iron. They are somewhat on the order of the Lucille, Idaho, rocks which, according to the assays of certain metallurgists (?) run very high in platinum values (?) On the Lucille rocks the branch of the United States Bureau of Mines at Reno, Nev., obtained some 49 cents in gold and no platinum. Your specimens were very carefully analyzed for platinum with negative results. The remaining sample is a mixture of quartz, carbonaceous shale, and reacts sparingly for manganese. The reddish spots are of hematite and cinnabar is absent; it carries traces of pyrite and peacock iron, and limonite is present.

Two Specimens

ALBUQUERQUE (N. M.) July 16.—Q.: I am sending to you under separate cover two samples of ore which came from the mountains east of here. Tell me what samples are composed of? M.

A.: No. 1 is black tourmaline (Schorl) in quartz. Tin absent. No. 2 is sulphide ore, chiefly pyrite, peacock iron present, blende found, pyrrhotite, (magnetic pyrite) absent, and further on the mixed sulphides you are politely referred to quantitative work.

Two Samples

IMPERIAL, July 16.—Q.: Am sending two rocks for analyses. They are from Imperial county. Thanking you for past service and favors, as ever. X.

A.: The whitish-blue specimen is pegmatitic rock (granite.) The greenish-blue sample is impure Chromite—with radiated chrome diopside present.

A Mixture

LOS ANGELES, July 17.—Q.: Herewith a sample of feldspar. Locality near Escondido, Cal. What I desire to learn is the variety—orthoclase or plagioclase, and what are the black inclusions—hornblende, mica, or schorl? J.

A.: The sample is in part pegmatite, and carries a rather crude variety of feldspar. It is one of the triclinic feldspars which are often called by the general name—Plagioclase. Black mica as known to the mining boys in the hills, (biotite) is present, with traces of garnet and microscopical hornblende.

Free Gold Present

PALMDALE, July 17. Q.: Am sending two samples, No. 1 for gold, or silver, or platinum. No. 2 for silver or platinum. F. V.

A.: No. 1 carries quartz, hornblende in low percentages. It is somewhat high in titaniferous iron. Flake platinum absent. Some microscopical yellow mica (cat gold) present, and free gold four small colors. No. 2 is pulverized ore. It would be a pleasure to analyze a massive sample of similar ore for you. For other gold and silver values consult assayers.

Chiefly Garnetyte

INGLEWOOD, July 18.—Q.: I found the sample in San Bernardino county, California—in Rattlesnake Canyon mining district. Would like to have a qualitative analysis on it. J.

A.: The specimen carries massive and crystal garnet; some greenish epidote, manganese traces. Lime carbonate present in low percentage, and free gold absent.

Quartzitic Rock

LOS ANGELES, July 18.—Q.: Sample from North Hubbard mine, San Diego county, near Julian and Banner. Please assay for gold. H. R. H.

A.: The sample runs low in native gold; approximately $3 per ton ore. For other gold and silver values kindly consult assayers.

Altered Rock

TUJUNGA, July 19.—Q.: Kindly analyze the inclosed sample for manganese. It occurs in San Bernardino county. Many thanks for past favors. Y.

A.: The specimen is altered hornblendic rock coated with pimply-garnet, other garnet, and hematite. But little manganese present.

Some Sawings

LOS ANGELES, July 19.—Q.: I am sending you some sawings sawed from a small bar of iron taken from a stamp mill near Phoenix, Ariz. The iron bar also carries platinum, gold, silver and vanadium. Please analyze the sawings and oblige. F.

A.: The sawings were lifted entirely with a magnet, excepting four particles of matter consisting of one microscopic chip of titaniferous iron ore, one piece of quartz and two garnets. Rather odd matter, metallic silver, gold and flake platinum not found. Further on similar sawings should be by quantitative tests.

Five Specimens

LOS ANGELES, July 19.—Q.: Am sending you several samples from Southeastern Nevada and shall be glad to receive some information as to the contents. No. 1, blue-white rock; it burns like powder when put on a hot stove. Does No. 2 contain any special minerals? No. 3, clay; does it carry platinum? Please test No. 4 for cinnabar. No. 5, has this red clay any value? Would it make paint? D.

A.: No. 1 is oolitic limestone. No. 2 in part wollastonite (lime silicate.) It carries traces of microscopical pyrite, some little peacock iron, a trace of galenite (lead sulphide,) traces of copper and may give, by fire assay, low value in silver. No. 3 is conglomerate rock (pudding stone,) and flake platinum is absent. No. 4 is a mixture of brown iron oxide and clay; cinnabar not present. No. 5 value problematical for paint mixtures.

Free Gold Absent

VICTORVILLE, July 20.—Q.: Please tell me all that is in the rock samples. E. F. H.

A.: Sample No. 1 is a siliceous conglomerate rock. Lilly. No. 2 reacts for iron oxides, some zinc, silica and more or less lime carbonate.

SPRINGS MAKE CREEK TORRID

Hot Water Stream Located in Northern Part of California

The State Mining Bureau comes forward with the interesting information that there is a stream of hot water at a point about ten miles west of the town of Alturas, in the northern part of this State.

This stream, which the Mining Bureau refers to as Hot Creek, is made up of a number of hot springs flowing out of the mountains into a little valley which borders Pit River.

In that vicinity, a Mining Bureau report says, there are many hot springs, some of them putting out water hot enough to boil an egg. One of these threads its way down a valley and is used to irrigate hay fields after the water has been cooled by exposure to the atmosphere.

WILDCAT AREA DUE FOR TEST

BAKERSFIELD, Aug. 4. (Exclusive)—Plans for a thorough oil test of the Kern River mesa, two miles east of Bakersfield, are going ahead rapidly, according to Frank Heyd of this city, formerly an oil operator in Texas and Oklahoma. Mr. Heyd has announced that a well will be drilled on Sec. 26, 29-28.

A wooden rig is going up on the property, which was purchased by Mr. Heyd and his partner, A. K. Carlson, from James Cannon. The site of the new well is on the southwest quarter of the southwest quarter of the southeast quarter of the section. The property comprises 170 acres. The test hole will be known as Cannon No. 1.

Chris Becker, for fifteen years an operator in the West Side and more recently in the Santa Fe Springs field, will drill the well.

Geologically, according to Mr. Heyd, the formation runs northwest and southeast. The General Petroleum's test hole two miles away is at a great enough distance to warrant a through correlation of the Cannon territory, it is believed.

The hole is expected to be completed within sixty days from spuding in, as the formations are deemed to be of easy drilling character. It is expected that the hole will strike the Kern River series at 2000 feet and the Vedder zone at approximately 3400 feet. The topographic high is most apparent on Sec. 28.

That the territory is attracting the attention of the major oil companies is indicated by the fact that the Shell Oil Company is owner of more than 1200 acres of land directly north of the Cannon No. 1, and is expected to drill there shortly.

The General Petroleum Corporation has had a number of men on the ground for two weeks, checking and re-checking the territory. General owns more than two sections of land immediately east of the Cannon's initial well.

With the Oak-street well to the northwest of Bakersfield a producer; the Union-avenue wells on the south prospective commercial holes and the Taft Well Drilling Company's Delfino No. 1 directly outside the city limits in the southwest area, Bakersfield will know in a few weeks' time whether or not it is bounded on all sides by petroleum.

Glenidick Adds Group of Mines in Pinal County

FLORENCE (Ariz.) Aug. 4. (Exclusive)—The Glenidick Mines Corporation, which recently invaded Mohave county, has now come into Pinal. This company has taken over the twenty-seven claims of the Silver Bell and Martinez groups, owned by Richard Malik of Phoenix, and is arranging for an extensive development campaign.

For the last two years Malik has been shipping steadily and in addition he has blocked out 100,000 tons of $20 ore.

It is the plan of the Glenidick Corporation to sink a 500-foot two-compartment shaft to expedite ore extraction and exploration. Shipping will be continued. If the ore reserves continue to increase, a 100-ton flotation mill will be erected as the first unit of a larger plant.

MINE DEAL REPORTED

Arizona American Copper Taken Over by Venice Men

KINGMAN (Ariz.) Aug. 4. (Exclusive)—Paul R. Gray and Donald H. Gray, both of Venice, Cal., have taken over the interests of the Arizona American Copper Company and B. T. McMasters in the Copper Mountain mine, one of the famous old producers of Mohave county.

It is understood that they expect to install a reduction plant. In the past the mine has produced much high-grade copper ore and there is much ore of milling grade in the workings.

OIL HISTORY OF STATE TOLD

Discovery in California Held to Antedate That in Pennsylvania by Nine Years

Seventy years ago the twenty-fifth day of July, petroleum in commercial quantity was first discovered on Oil Creek near Titusville, Pa. It was not until eight years later, in 1867, that the first commercial oil well was completed in California, but the department of public information of the California Oil and Gas Association at Los Angeles has just brought to light the interesting fact that petroleum was produced in California for purposes of illumination way back in 1850, which was nine years prior to the completion of Col. Drake's oil well at Titusville.

While it may not be said that California was producing petroleum on a commercial basis in 1850, it is nevertheless a fact that petroleum was being refined at the time to provide oil for illuminating the old mission at San Fernando. And the man who thus served as California's first refiner was the venerable Andreas Pico, who obtained crude petroleum from seepages by driving short tunnels into the mountains near Newhall. The heavy asphaltum residue from his crude still, in those days is said to have been utilized in sealing leaks in the roofs of old adobe houses.

REAL START SET

California actually entered into the oil-producing business in 1867, when a group of drillers, brought from Pennsylvania, completed the Ojai No. 6, near Ventura, in Ventura county. Since then California has produced, in round figures, approximately 3,150,000,000 barrels of peroleum. While wells in the early days could be drilled to completion for from $10,000 to $25,000 apiece, today many of them cost as much as $250,000 to $350,000, because of the extreme depth to which drillers have to go for worth-while production. The great expansion of the automotive industry, with its constantly growing gasoline thirst, has compelled oil producers to drill deep for the light, refinable grades of petroleum.

The man who drilled the first oil well in California quit the oil business after a few years, believing it to be unprofitable because of the poor market. The first shipment of petroleum from Southern California went to San Francisco in the 70's and the shipper not only failed to sell the oil, but had to dump it out and pay $40 for the transportation charges.

UNION PAVES WAY

In the early nineties, when the industry was still suffering, not from overproduction, but from lack of market development, officials of the Union Oil Company, having failed to convince the railroad companies orally that oil would be an economical fuel for locomotives, decided to prove their contention practically. They borrowed an old engine from the Santa Fe Railroad, took it up to Santa Paula and there remodeled it to burn fuel oil. The experiment was so successful that the railroads soon began to adapt the rest of their equipment to burn oil. Thus the oil companies were provided with a new outlet for their product. Today the railroads consume millions of barrels of fuel oil every year.

Nearly eighty years from the time Andreas Pico distilled the kerosene for the lamps which lighted the old Mission San Fernando, California today still has a big marketing problem, coupled with tremendously increased production costs. Three million automobiles on the Pacific Coast require their daily supply of gasoline and the refinery makes only about one-third of the average barrel of oil into gasoline. The increase in the use of fuel oil, kerosene, distillate and other by-products of the refinery has not nearly kept pace with the production of crude oil required to meet the steadily increasing demand for gasoline.

"Had it not been for the development of the electric light the oil industry would still have, it is believed, an enormous demand for kerosene, and perhaps for illuminating gas, which California produces in such great quantities," the association declares.

STATUS IN MARICOPA AREA TOLD

North American Swabs Bronco No. 1 Well With Negative Results

MARICOPA, Aug. 4. (Exclusive) Bottom of the North American Consolidated Oil Company's Bronco No. 1 on Section 8, 11-23 is reported to be at the 3340 level with the crew swabbing for production. So far, no gas and but little oil is being encountered by the crew. Bottom of the hole is in the brown shale area, with the nine-inch casing standing cemented at 3276 feet and tubing at 3120 feet.

The company's Bronco No. 2 on the same section is 330 feet north, 300 feet east, on the southwest corner of the southwest quarter.

North American's Lincoln hole is down 2350 feet and into the brown shale formation with the casing cemented at 2015 feet.

North American's activities on Sec. 7, 11-23, include Sunset No. 1, producing 1000 barrels of 19.6-deg. gravity oil, with a 25 per cent cut. The casing has a 500-pound pressure. The Sunset No. 2 is rigging up 978 feet south, and 300 feet east of the center of the section, at an elevation of 702 feet. The company is building its No. 4 rig on the same section.

The Patterson hole on Sec. 12, 11-24 is down 1162 feet in hard brown shale with few streaks of oil sand showing.

MINE RUNS FULL SHIFT

The Kennedy mine at Jackson is now employing 200 men and operating at full capacity for the first time since the reconstruction work made necessary by the disastrous fire last September. The company is opening a cross-cut on the 4600-foot level preparatory to sinking.

Mr. Kinsley Van R. Dey, President of the Corporation, summarizes his letter to the Bankers as follows:

Business and Territory: North American Water Works and Electric Corporation, incorporated as North American Water Works Corporation under the laws of Delaware, furnishes directly or indirectly through operating subsidiaries electric light and power and water services to over 170 communities in Maine, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois, West Virginia, Maryland, Kentucky, and Arkansas, and ice service to 27 communities in Georgia, North Carolina and Kentucky.

The utility properties serve a population estimated to exceed 377,500, in territories where opportunities for expansion of the system's business are favorable. Water and/or electricity are furnished to approximately 69,500 customers. Electric current is distributed over 232 miles of transmission lines, and 768 miles of distributing lines. During 1928, over 28,000,000 K. W. H. were distributed.

The water properties have distributing systems aggregating about 758 miles of mains and over 3,508 hydrants.

The Corporation's ice system includes eighteen manufacturing plants, having an aggregate daily capacity of over 1,100 tons and adequate delivery equipment. The territory served has a population of about 387,000 and includes Savannah, Georgia; Wilson, Rocky Mount, Goldsboro, Kinston, Henderson, Fayetteville and Elizabeth City, North Carolina, and Corbin, Kentucky.

NEWS OF MINES AREA REPORTED

Globe Acquires Manzanita Gravel Property

Old Princess Taken Over by Los Angeles Group

Shamrock Gold Also Active in Sierra County

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 4. (Exclusive)—The Globe Mining & Exploration Company and the Shamrock Gold Mining Company, have entered the Sierra county mineral field. Globe has acquired the Manzanita gravel mine at Forest, formerly known as the Lucky Dog, and started active work. The property covers 158 acres of placer ground and is said to show considerable rich gravel.

The holdings of the Shamrock company include the Farrell-Valley group of four claims. Los Angeles interests have also acquired the historic Princess quartz mine at Sierra City, and are preparing for rehabilitation of the old producer.

The Kennedy Mining Company is preparing to sink a winze from the [illegible]-foot level of its property near Jackson. The shaft has a vertical depth of 4763 feet, the mine being the deepest gold property in North America. The veins have persisted as far as mining had progressed, and the projected winze is designed to explore extensions of the main ore bodies. Sixty stamps are dropping steadily, and 200 men are employed.

Rich gold ore is said to have been opened on the Belmont-Osborn mine near Angels Camp, operated by the Belmont Metals Company. The vein is five feet wide, was uncovered at a depth of 100 feet, and is said to average over $300 per ton. Streaks of richer ore are said to assay $5000 per ton. The ore is thought to be the continuation of a rich vein mined near surface in pioneer days.

Construction of concentrating and flotation plants is proceeding at the White Bear gold mine in the Salmon Mountains, north of Yreka, with production scheduled to start September 15. Ore development has been going on for several months, and a large tonnage is reported to be in sight.

NEW GROUP TO TAKE OVER OLD CASH MINE

PRESCOTT (Ariz.) Aug. 4. (Exclusive)—A group of Nevada operators, incorporated as the Betty O'Neal Mines Company, has taken over the old Cash mine in the Senator district. They intend to replace the present cyanide plant with a flotation mill, and carry on extensive underground development.

ORE SHIPMENTS OF SHATTUCK-DENN TOLD

BISBEE (Ariz.) Aug. 4. (Exclusive)—Shipments from the Shattuck-Denn mine to the Calumet and Arizona smelter at Douglas now average 350 tons a day. This may be increased by extraction from the 2200-foot level, where much new ore is being blocked out in the process of developing the vein.

SHIPPING NEWS

AND ACTIVITIES AT LOS ANGELES HARBOR

PORT FACILITIES GET HIGH PRAISE

Harbor Declared Foremost on Coast in Efficiency

Traffic on Wrigley Vessels Takes Huge Jump

Los Angeles Harbor leads the Pacific Coast in efficient passenger and freight terminals, in the opinion of Capt. Thomas H. Lyon, port captain of the Panama-Pacific Line at New York, who yesterday completed his survey of West Coast shipping facilities. He will sail this morning aboard the Panama-Pacific electric liner Virginia.

"I had a pleasant surprise this morning as I watched the efficient handling of the Virginia's passengers at the Admiral Line terminal and the swiftness with which her Los Angeles cargo of oranges and canned goods was being loaded," said Capt. Lyon. "This port's double-decked transit sheds on Terminal Island are the most efficient I have seen, since they permit simultaneous discharge and loading of passengers and freight without confusion."

During his visit on the Pacific Coast, Capt. Lyon has been the guest of Kirkwood H. Donavin, Pacific Coast operating manager of the International Mercantile Marine Company, operator of the Panama-Pacific Line.

In addition to 600 cabin passengers the Virginia this morning will take out for New York, via Havana and the Canal, nearly 3000 tons of Los Angeles freight, including 14,000 boxes of Valencia oranges, 9000 cases of Hawaiian pineapple, transshipped from the Lassco liner City of Los Angeles, and consignments of canned fruits and fish.

CATALINA TRAVEL SHOWS HUGE GAIN

More than 200,000 travelers have used Wrigley liners to come and go between the mainland and Catalina Island during July, a gain of more than 40,000 over July of last year, according to David P. Fleming, secretary-treasurer of the Wilmington Transportation Company. Increase of sailing schedules from two to five ships each way daily for the summer season is credited with part of the increase. August, Mr. Fleming said, always is the greatest month and he expects the July record to fall. An increase also is observed in number of folks who dance, the dancing rooms aboard ship being crowded far more than ever before. The new $2,000,000 dancing casino at Avalon is believed to account for this.

Forty passengers of the 100 aboard the Dollar globe-girding liner President Garfield disembarked at Los Angeles yesterday. Among them were Count and Countess Louis Hamon of England, Richard Sprague, George M. Fallon, professor of the College of the City of New York, and Mr. and Mrs. Morris J. Phillips of San Pedro, returning from around the world. Travelers for San Francisco include Miss Justina M. Eich, dean of women for Capital University, Columbus, O.; Dr. J. Peterson Ryder, dean of Drexel Institute of Philadelphia, and Richard Sprague, American Consul at Gibraltar.

The liner will embark fifty passengers and load 1200 tons of Los Angeles merchandise before sailing west today.

Capt. W. E. Calcutt arrived on the bridge of the Panama Mail liner Corinto from Central America yesterday, on his first voyage since promotion from mate on the Guagemala. The vessel brought a capacity list of freight and two-score passengers, including Capt. G. S. McKinnon, forty years a master with the old Pacific Mail Line, returning from vacation, and Capt. Thomas Boyd, who was on the Sunewco until taken ill recently at Panama.

Lindley Winser, chief operator at the Mackay Federal Radio station in Los Angeles, returned to his post yesterday after a fortnight's vacation passed in the Pacific Northwest.

The Danish East Asiatic motorliner Australian is due tomorrow from Hamburg, Antwerp, Newcastle and Copenhagen with 2300 long tons of freight for local discharge, including toys, silicon, ferro-manganese, pipe, whiting and paper. She is commanded by Capt. Hans Anderson, youthful Danish mariner, who recently was decorated by his King and promoted to command for his heroic rescue of the crew of a wrecked German steamer in the North Atlantic.

News of Ships and Sailings at Pacific Ports

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 4. (AP)—The Holland-American Line has ordered a new motorship for its Pacific Coast-Europe fleet, the San Francisco office for the line was notified today by E. F. R. Delaney, Pacific Coast manager, now in Rotterdam.

The new vessel will be built at Rotterdam along the lines of the M. S. Delft, now under construction there. The new motorship will be 500 feet long, 64 feet 6 inches in beam and will have 140,000 cubic feet of refrigeration space. A speed of fourteen knots will be attainable with the special Diesel engines.

The recovery of a fifteen-ton propeller from the bottom of the bay near Pier 33 was the difficult feat performed by Theodore Wick, diver, and his assistants last Friday. The propeller was dropped by the Union steamship Tahiti while docking. A strong tide made the salvaging of the heavy bronze casting more difficult, but Wick succeeded in lifting it to the surface after four hours. The propeller was replaced on the Tahiti at Hunter's Point drydock.

Eugene C. Lloyd, general freight agent for the Dollar Steamship Line, has been elected president of the Pacific westbound conference for the ensuing six months' period. He succeeds George Chapin, assistant general freight agent of the N.Y.K. Line.

Willis D. Benson, Pacific Coast manager of the Trans-Marine Line since 1923, has announced his retirement, effective October 15 next. He will be succeeded by Capt. C. L. [illegible], district manager at Seattle.

SEATTLE, Aug. 4.—Lumber operators in the coast trade are expecting a stiffening in rates by late September, it was learned here today. Space for lumber now is quoted at $10, with lumber hard to get. Bookings so far this month and for early September are $11 on the $10 basis, although it is reported that in some instances the price has been shaded by absorption of lighterage and wharfage charges.

Eastern Bomb Laid to Strike

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 4. (AP)—A stick of dynamite with a flaming fuse was tossed from a speeding automobile early today wrecking three houses in the northern part of the city. Hundreds of persons were terrorized by the blast, but no one was injured.

Police believe the explosion was caused by persons in sympathy with striking hosiery workers. An employee of a hosiery company who refused to strike lives in one of the wrecked houses.

"Yellow Bird" Marker Begun

SANTANDER (Spain) Aug. 4. (AP) A monument, the pedestal of which was laid today near Comillas, this province, will perpetuate the memory of the landing of the French trans-Atlantic plane, Yellow Bird, there recently after a flight from Old Orchard, Me.

Santander and Comillas authorities and the Spanish aces, Capts. Jiminez and Iglesias, and much of the public for miles around, assisted in the ceremony, which was imposing and solemn.

Pair Trapped in Plane Lose Lives in Crash

BURLINGTON (Iowa) Aug. 4. (AP) Trapped in the cabin of their plane, Paul A. Strawn, 35 years of age, of Jacksonville, Ill., and William Shepherd, 32, of San Francisco or San Deigo, were burned to death this afternoon when their Velie monocoupe crashed to the ground and burst into flames just north of an airport here on the second day of its dedication.

Poincare Gets Better Rapidly

PARIS, Aug. 4. (AP)—The condition of Raymond Poincare, former French Premier who was operated on last week, is improving greatly, so much so his physicians will discontinue their daily bulletins.

The bulletin today said: "The state of M. Poincare's health is as good as possible from every point of view, both general and local. He is getting better in every way. His morale is excellent. From today on no more bulletins will be issued."

AUTO MISHAP FATAL

WALDPORT (Or.) Aug. 4. (AP)—Hubert Veltum, 22 years of age, of Eugene, Or., was killed and his companion, Ann Fletcher, a nurse of Eugene, sustained several broken ribs when the automobile in which they were riding on the beach here today struck loose sand and overturned.

Drum Lummon Mine Seen as Big Producer

Following several months of intensive and aggressive development, the Drum Lummon copper mine at Paisley, British Columbia, now being operated by the Los Angeles-Vancouver Mines Limited, gives promise of being developed into one of the big copper producers of the northern copper belt, reports John R. Vernon, vice-president and general manager, who is in Los Angeles for a conference with associates.

Development of forty feet of high-grade copper ore in the upper tunnel has been followed by 400 feet of drifting, revealing an ore-shoot 285 feet in length with the determination incomplete, it is reported.

CONTINENTAL BRINGS IN MONDOTTE NO. 1

The Continental Oil Company has brought in its Mondotte No. 1 well at Atwood with an initial flow of 300 barrels. The well is the best producer thus far located south of the Santa Fe tracks in what has been a semiwildcat district.

Tunnel Drains Humboldt Mine of Phelps Dodge

MORENCI (Ariz.) Aug. 4. (Exclusive)—The Humboldt mine of the Phelps Dodge Corporation, Morenci branch, is now being drained through a 4300-foot tunnel, just completed. From the face of the tunnel a 160-foot raise was made to the 1400-foot level, the lowest operating level of the mine.

All is in readiness for installation of a new hoist of the elevator type in the Joy shaft, recently deepened to the 1400 level. Shaft No. 6 has also been put down to the same level; eventually it will be connected directly with the drainage tunnel.

This tunnel, shaft improvements and other alterations will increase the capacity of the Humboldt from 4000 to 5000 tons a day.

PINAL MINING WILL BUILD SMALL MILL

FLORENCE (Ariz.) Aug. 4. (Exclusive)—The Pinal Mining and Milling Company is clearing the ground for erection of a small mill to treat its dump of low-grade lead-silver ore.

Oil Search in Woody Section Seen in Offing

WOODY, Aug. 4. (Exclusive)—Ambrose Villard, who has large land holdings in the foothill district near this town, has executed a lease for twenty years to Edward S. Gilbert covering the south half of Sec. 36, 25-27. The lease carries one-eighth royalty.

Mr. Gilbert, in turn, assigned the lease to the Chanslor-Canfield Midway Oil Company. This company, it is understood, is obtaining leases and land in fee in the territory south and east of a former test of theirs on Sec. 20, 25-27. This hole followed one in 1922 by local people and capital on the Hodgman ranch. It was started by the Sentinel Oil Company, which, after drilling more than 1000 feet, with a good showing, sold out to the Chanslor-Canfield Midway Oil Company, which afterward abandoned the test after several futile attempts to complete it, and started another well in the same neighborhood, which likewise was abandoned when granite was struck.

ONE WOMAN FAILED IN EXAMINATION

LINDSAY, Aug. 4.—Out of 450 applicants for drivers' licenses examined, failed to pass. Only one of these was a woman. The Automobile Club of Southern California is conducting examinations for its members on Saturdays, thereby relieving congestion at the city offices. About 1000 applicants are expected to take the examinations in this city.

PLATICAS DE LOS LUNES

POR EL PROFESOR R. GUERRERO
Encargado de la Sección Española de Este Diario

Entre los pasajes de algunos escritores modernos, cuya construcción castellana tiene fuerte sabor galicado, cita don Miguel de Toro los siguientes, transcritos de la página 135 de "Los Parias", novela del escritor colombiano Vargas Vila:

"El sol horizontal daba un resplandor lívido al grupo inmóvil. La vieja se hacía fantosmal. Colocada sobre el asno era simbólica . . ."

"El incendio se extinguía en el seno de la muerte que surgía. El grupo parecía estremecerse y borrarse en las ondas de sombra que ganaban la llanura y la montaña."

"La mujer se puso de rodillas, como si rezase a una Madonna invisible, los niños lloraban amedrentados, sin saber por qué; la vieja abrió los brazos esqueléticos en la sombra, como una protesta de la muerte; y el hombre, alma del pueblo esclavo, no tendió los brazos al horizonte en señal de furia, no amenazó con los puños cerrados, no tuvo una frase de venganza; dobló la cabeza tristemente y lloró . . ."

"Las lágrimas rodaron por los surcos del rostro curtido y cayeron al suelo. La tierra las devoró."

Todo este trozo, dice el señor de Toro, podría traducirse palabra por palabra al francés, sin alterar el orden una sola vez. En el "Camino del Triunfo", del mismo autor, hay páginas enteras que parecen literal traducción del francés.

El orden directo de la frase francesa: sujeto, verbo, atributo, que no presenta ningún inconveniente en aquel idioma, donde el acento desempeña tan secundario papel, hace perder al castellano casi toda su armonía. ¿Por qué quitarle a nuestro idioma esa flexibilidad musical que nos envidian otras naciones y que con nada podríamos sustituir?

Acaso piensen algunas personas que dé la construcción directa mayor claridad a la frase. No creo que sea cierto. Comparada nuestra lengua con la francesa, resulta, en punto a claridad, muy aventajada la nuestra, aun en sus más enrevesadas construcciones. La lengua francesa, con su pronunciación atónica, sus letras de sonido variable con el puesto que ocupan, sus sílabas finales tan frecuentemente mudas, resultaría una incomprensible algarabía sin el orden lógico de la frase.

No debe ésta considerarse, por lo demás, desde el punto de vista gráfico, sino más bien desde el fonético.

Tomemos, por ejemplo, el verbo "amar"; en francés, "aimer". Allí donde el español, al pronunciar una de las palabras: "amo", "amas", "aman", "ame", "ames", "amen", puede expresar un concepto perfectamente inteligible y capaz de subsistir por sí solo, el francés no tiene más que un sonido único: "em", para expresar las diversas personas correspondientes del verbo "aimer": "aime", "aimes", "aime", "aiment"; y para expresar las mismas ideas que el español, necesita emplear las formas más complejas: "J'aime", "tu aimes", "il aime", "ils aiment", "que j'aime", "que tu aimes", "qu'il aime", "qu'ils aiment".

Así como en la frase latina perfecta permite la declinación diversa de las palabras presentarlas en el momento oportuno y aderezadas de tal modo que sea imposible equivocarse en su significación propia y relativa, así nuestra conjugación nos permite colocar el verbo en el lugar que más conveniente nos parezca y de suerte que, al presentarse, pueda por sí solo manifestar al oyente todo cuanto se quiere expresar con él.

El francés sólo tiene una conjugación imperfecta, casi inexistente. ¿Qué nos importa que en el papel se escriban de distinto modo, "je pourrais" e "il pourrait"; "je finis" e "il finit", si para el oído son la misma cosa ambas palabras?

Puesto que tenemos la suerte de poder caminar sin muletas, añade el señor de Toro, dejémoslas a quienes las necesitan, y en vez de escribir en francés traducido, empecemos por estudiar nuestra lengua. En Francia se forman los escritores leyendo los clásicos franceses; los escritores italianos leen los clásicos de su país; los españoles y sudamericanos, no sólo no leen los clásicos españoles, sino que ni siquiera leen los clásicos franceses: abusan de lo moderno, y entre lo moderno suelen escoger lo peor.

¿Qué hemos de hacer para librarnos en lo posible de la plaga que nos amenaza? En primer lugar, contesta el mencionado crítico, evitar en lo posible las malas traducciones. En segundo, volver decididamente a la lectura de los clásicos españoles. En ellos únicamente está la salvación. Entre los escritores modernos debemos preferir siempre la lectura de aquellos que supieron defenderse contra la corruptela francesa. Sólo después, y cuando nos sintamos capaces de descubrir los defectos en las obras menos castizas, podremos dedicarnos a su lectura con alguna utilidad.

Los diarios, concluye diciendo el señor de Toro, que constituyen toda la lectura de la mayoría del público, están escritos, en gran parte, en una lengua híbrida, semisalvaje. Entre las novelas, muchas adoptan el mismo estilo; otras se dedican a "renovar" la lengua con la guardarropía de los impresionistas franceses, y sólo en algunas se observa decidido empeño por escribir en algo que sea castellano.

Boarding-house for Cats Opened

BERLIN, Aug. 4. (Exclusive)—The German Animal Protective Association, which already possessed a boarding-house for dogs, has now added one for cats. At present there are fifty-six separate compartments, and before each one is a small patch of ground surrounded by a tight fence, permitting the animals to spend part of the time in the open. The funds required for the new building were contributed by cat lovers. Board and lodging cost 90 pfennigs, or about 22 cents a day. Prices in the dog boarding-house run from 1.35 marks a day up. Both houses can be heated in cold weather.

MILITARY FUNERAL FOR PRINTER VETERAN

PORTERVILLE, Aug. 4.—Military ritual marked funeral services of Harry B. Wiese, 50 years of age, a Spanish-American War veteran and resident of this city for the past four years, who died at the family home Friday, following a lingering illness. A native of Monroe City, Mo., he enlisted in the Spanish-American War in 1898. He held three honorable discharges from the Army, receiving his final discharge from the Presidio at San Francisco in 1908.

Mr. Weise was aprinter by trade and had worked in newspaper offices at Hollister, Richmond, Benecia and Red Bluff before coming to Porterville. Prior to his last illness he had been employed as foreman in the shop of the Porterville Evening Recoder.

RANCHER ARRESTED FOR STARTING FIRE

DINUBA, Aug. 4.—E. Weise, a rancher of the Traver district, was taken before Justice of the Peace Wallace of Dinuba on a charge of burning a ditch bank without a permit. Weise lost control of the fire and it burned over sixty acres of feed and some fencing before it was extinguished.

The rancher pleaded guilty and was fined $20. The complaint was sworn to by Cecil Metcalf, Tulare county fire warden. Three similar complaints have been filed by Metcalf this season, and each resulted in a conviction.

BIRTH RATE GROWS

TULARE, Aug. 4.—Warm weather does not produce any feeling of lethargy in the stork in Tulare. On the contrary, that famed bird was more active during the month just closed than at any time during the year, according to vital statistics of City Clerk C. W. Cobb. There were forty-four new babies born during the month, surpassing by one urchin the mark of forty-three set in December of 1928, also bettering the record of forty in October, 1928—the only near approaches to last month's total.

EGG-LAYING CONTEST

TULARE, Aug. 4.—Special feature of the poultry department of the Tulare County Fair of 1929, to be held here in September, will be a ten-pen egg-laying contest.

John W. Thompson, manager of this section, reports entries from a number of the leading poultry men from this section of the San Joaquin Valley.

AUTO DRIVER ARRESTED

HANFORD, Aug. 4.—Henry Rodriques, a young motorist, crowded another driver off the road near here last night and a serious accident was narrowly avoided. Rodriques was jailed on a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated.

Assault Victim Survives Many Knife Wounds

EXETER, Aug. 4.—Although his lung was punctured five times by the knife wielded by W. J. Galloway of Lindsay, Fred Rayner, who lies at the Exeter Hospital with twenty-eight knife wounds in his body, inflicted by Galloway, is expected to recover.

Galloway was infuriated at asserted attentions of Rayner to his former wife. He is held in the Tulare County Jail in Visalia, and will be charged with assault with intent to commit murder, in event that Rayner recovers. This was his second attempt upon the life of Rayner. Last June he shot at Rayner while the latter was working at a packing-house near Lindsay.

Trouble between the two men has been of long standing, and is due to asserted illicit relations between Mrs. Galloway and the injured man. Galloway was granted an interlocutory decree of divorce from his wife after the first attack.

He was bound over to the Superior Court at a recent preliminary, and was to face a charge of assault with intent to commit murder in connection with his first attack.

Mrs. Galloway has worked in local packing-houses during the fruit season for several years and several times has been compelled to seek county aid in caring for her children. Rayner has also been employed in Lindsay packing-houses. He is separated from his wife and has custody of three children.

Mrs. Galloway, mother of a month-old baby, born shortly after divorce proceedings started, is said to have feared her former husband, members of the family sleeping with all doors tightly locked.

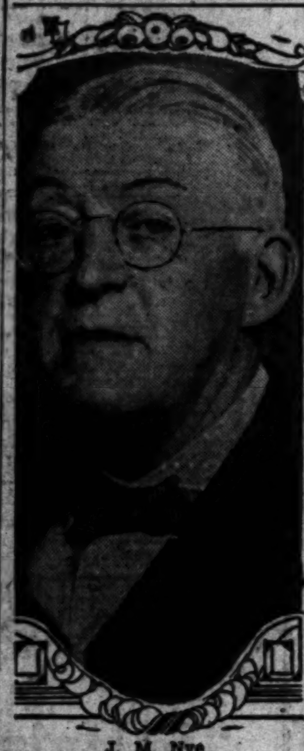
ROYAL BUFFER HERE TO RELAX

Ex-Secret Service Man Eyeing No One

TIRED of being the buffer between visiting kings and the public; weary of seeing that presidents are not harmed and through forever with the task of seeing to it that no unfriendly stiletto is inserted between royal ribs, J. M. Nye, former United States secret service man and famous as head of the squad assigned to protect celebrities on their trips through America, is seeing California this month for "the first time."



J. M. Nye

"I have been in California twenty times," he said, "but I never saw it before. I was always busy, but this time I am here on a real vacation. No prince to guard and no queen to watch—boy, this is the life! I am coming out to California some time, build a bungalow right next to No. 1 hole on a good golf course and on a spot not too far from tuna fishing grounds and just stay here. You can tell 'em for me that I like California."

Mr. Nye was with the United States Secret Service for twenty-eight years and most of the time he was on the "celebrity" squad. He is writing a book on the funny side of his experiences, he says.

"I have a libel suit every fourth page, a friend of mine tells me. I have chapters devoted to social climbers, to lens lice, to small-town officials and to the celebrities themselves. I will just touch the funny side and I am telling you that some of the experiences I went through and some of the people I met were queer."

Mr. Nye now is executive assistant to the Guarantee Trust Company of New York. With a friend they left Buffalo in a private car, went through Canada and the Canadian Rockies and did some salmon fishing in Vancouver. From there they came down the coast, stopped at San Francisco and now are at Los Angeles. Mr. Nye is registered at the Biltmore.

He will visit the studios tomorrow, play golf and fish for tuna and finally make a leisurely return to New York when he gets good and ready to go—and not before, he says.

"My last trip to California was with the King and Queen of the Belgiums," he said. "I also was here with the Prince of Wales and with other notables.

"Some one always is asking me if I am a relative to the famous 'Bill' Nye, so I formed the habit of saying in advance that I am not a relative. I told a Mississippi Sheriff that I am no relation to Bill. Five minutes later he called me aside and asked me who 'Bill' was. That is the kind of a life I have lived—so you see I really appreciate California and this first real vacation of my career."

Humidity Jumps as Southland's Heat Continues

The inseparable twins—Heat and Humidity—put on their act here with a 15 per cent higher voltage yesterday than on Saturday, according to H. B. Hersey of the United States Weather Bureau.

Sunday was the fourth consecutive day with temperatures above 80 deg. The hottest time of the day was at 1:45 p.m. when 90 deg. was registered. The same temperature was reached at noon on Saturday but an increase of 15 per cent in the humidity was registered at the warmest hour yesterday. On Saturday the atmosphere was but 29 per cent "damp" but yesterday it showed 44 per cent.

The heat for the past four days has been 7 deg. above August normal, Col. Hersey stated.

Record Plane Starts East

The Bach cabin plane which Brock is flying is the same one which Waldo D. Waterman, manager of the Metropolitan airdrome, took up to 20,000 feet with 2200 pounds of sand aboard.

A stop was scheduled last night at Albuquerque, N. M., and their arrival at Detroit for tonight.

SIGNAL RECOMMENDED

A Finance Committee report recommending that $400 be made available to cover the cost of installing blinkers and flashers at the intersection of Centinela Boulevard and Culver Boulevard has been passed by the Council.

FILM DATA BROUGHT BY NOVELIST

Woman Writer Compiles Material in France to Aid Screen Producers

Margaretta Tuttle, novelist and writer for the Saturday Evening Post and the Ladies' Home Journal, arrived in Hollywood yesterday. She came direct from France, where she made a survey of the quota situation for the Motion-Picture Producers and Distributors of America.

MARGARETTA TUTTLE

Mrs. Tuttle said she is here for an eastern publisher, but did not divulge her mission. She wrote "Feet of Clay" and "Unguarded Hour" for pictures.

"I think Los Angeles is the grandest city in the world, despite the fact that I have just come from Paris," Mrs. Tuttle said. "I wish it were possible for me to make my home here. I expect to remain until the latter part of August. I hope to go into the talking situation thoroughly while I am here."

Mrs. Tuttle was met at the station by her daughters, Katherine and Greta. Greta is playing in motion pictures and makes her home in Hollywood.

POLICE INCREASE REFUSED

The Council has refused the request of the Police Commission for seventy additional patrolmen. The Council acted upon a report of the Finance Committee, which states that the budget provides for additional personnel.

STREET ORDERED VACATED

The ordinance calling for the vacation of Tujunga avenue, between Collins street and Burbank Boulevard, has been passed by the Council.

SOUND FILMS A BOON TO EQUITY

Furnished Union a Coveted Toehold in Hollywood

Invasion Follows Smaller Victories in Crafts

Big Drive Now on to Yoke the Whole Industry

(This is the second of a series of articles dealing with the efforts of the Actors' Equity Association to get control of the Los Angeles motion-picture industry. The third will appear tomorrow.)

Not in all the years of contest between the two theories of employee-employer relations has Fate turned so odd a trick as it did in the Actors' Equity Association phase of the American Federation of Labor campaign to unionize the United States. And it happened right here in Los Angeles, known the world over as this country's outstanding example of the success and soundness of the open shop or American-plan principle of industrial freedom.

Long bent on elimination of this city as a prosperous refutation of the principles of unionism as they actually work out, the American Federation of Labor gained a vantage ground here when the films began to reproduce the sounds that go with what is pictured. When motion-picture production required actors who could talk as well as act the only ones already proficient in this field were stage players. They followed into picture production in such mass that they became a considerable element among cinema players, a group which they consider far more prosperous and favored generally than their own.

EQUITY'S FOOTHOLD

By reason of years of unionization strategy, stage players are members of the union. They have virtually no alternative if they wish to enter this profession, so firmly has Equity gained control of the theater. This gave Equity its first real foothold among picture players—when stage players invaded the studios. Theretofore, both film producer and film player as a class vigilantly had repelled each attempted invasion by Equity. In fact, many stage players abandoned Equity the moment they saw a possibility of becoming independent of the union in picture work. Those who foresaw the possibility of having to go back to the stage were not so ready to desert Equity. There may have been fear of customary union vengeance.

Among the front-rank battlers in the present movement to prevent Equity's domination in the films are stage players who for years worked under Equity domination of both stage player and producer. In typically union fashion, unionists immediately began a nation-wide campaign to injure the standing of such players among theatergoers.

EQUITY IN PICTURES

Equity established itself in Los Angeles about nine years ago. Shortly after the strike in New York in 1919 it came virtually into control of the legitimate stage player situation and by 1920 the local unit of Equity was proposing that stage plays be produced with none but Equity members. However, beyond casting wistful eyes at the motion-picture situation, it was unable to go far outside of the legitimate field here.

By 1922 the local branch of Equity had begun trying to have local film producers accept an Equity contract form for employing players. Its executive officer came from New York headquarters to try to get an Equity foothold in the film industry. It then began talking about getting more pay for the smaller players. Equity began working for a real toehold in the industry.

By the middle of the summer of 1917 motion-picture stars' salaries had mounted so high and film production cost so much that the producers, especially some of the great-

Grid Outlay by School Held Legal

Now that football players get scholastic credit in city schools, it is up to the school boards to provide laboratory equipment for the work, County Counsel Mattoon has opined in response to a question by school authorities.

It is legal also, according to the opinion, for the schools to buy suits, footballs, cleated shoes, sponges, arnica and adhesive tape required in playing the great school game.

It has been the practice in the past for "athletic associations" to be formed at schools which take in the receipts at football games and spend the money for the necessary supplies. In some of the smaller schools, however, the receipts were not sufficient to meet the outlay for equipment, so the question of the school buying extra footballs arose.

County Counsel Mattoon holds that if scholastic credit is given for football work, it is just as proper for the school to buy padded suits and cleated shoes for students in advanced football courses, as it is to buy rubber aprons and hydrogen sulphide for members of the chemistry class.

The Street Opening and Widening Committee has recommended that property owners be furnished with a petition for the opening and extending of Abbott Place to a width of thirty feet between Avenue 50 and Avenue 51.

CONSULAR POST LIKE HEIRLOOM

Position at Gibraltar Has Been Held by One Family 98 Years

Richard Sprague just couldn't help being an American Consul at Gibraltar. He was born to it. His grandfather had held the post nineteen years and his father fifty-four. So, like an heirloom, it just naturally was handed down to him.

RICHARD SPRAGUE

That was twenty-eight years ago, making the unbroken tenure of the office, 98 years in the Sprague family, he explained as he arrived yesterday on the Dollar liner President Garfield from Panama.

"My grandfather took three sailing ships into Gibraltar before the War of 1812, liked the place and later promoted the job as Consul. That was in 1832, and in 1932 I hope to hold a sort of countryside celebration of the hundredth anniversary."

Consul Sprague exemplifies a polished world citizen as only such a cross-road of the world might induce. Tall, with silvered temples, British in type, he thinks in Spanish, talks diplomacy in English and makes love in French. Yet he still is a bachelor, albeit a handsome and debonair one. Women passengers on the liner attested to that.

Los Angeles is a familiar stamping ground for him as are most famous watering places, so this trip he is proceeding to see of what San Francisco is made up, thence on to Washington to report, and back to the rock made famous by the advertising of a certain insurance company—Gibraltar.

NEW DISCOVERY BY MICHELSON

Light Measure May Prove Boon to Surveying

Might Replace Instruments in Fixing Boundaries

Scientist to Set Up Huge Tube on Irvine Ranch

(By a Times Staff Correspondent)

PASADENA, Aug. 4.—Apparatus with which Dr. Albert A. Michelson measured the velocity of light between Mt. Wilson and Mt. Baldy may replace surveying instruments and revolutionize present methods of fixing boundaries between States and nations, the famous University of Chicago physicist revealed here today.

After completing preliminary tests at Ross Field, Arcadia, of an experiment which he says will round out his life of scientific research, Dr. Michelson is preparing to leave the Hotel Maryland, his local headquarters, for Laguna, from where he will supervise construction of a mile-long vacuum tube to be located on the Irvine Ranch, between Laguna and Santa Ana.

Due to the cost of the giant tube, the scientist set up a temporary apparatus at Ross Field six weeks ago, to test the principle he will use in the tubular experiment.

EXPLAINS TEST

"It was not my intention," he said today, "to correct my Mt. Wilson and Old Baldy results, which were accurate to one-one-hundredth of 1 per cent, but merely for my own satisfaction to determine the distances involved without the assistance of others."

Dr. Michelson revealed for the first time that the apparatus, consisting of rotating mirrors, which flashed light between Mt. Wilson and Old Baldy, may have a far-reaching practical application.

In talking with an official of the Coast Geodetic Survey, the scientist learned that a certain project involving the measurement of the distance between two points located about 250 miles apart would take about two years with present surveying methods. By flashing light at different points along this line and computing the time it took for the light to travel, he estimated that it might be possible to make the survey in a few days.

"Where there were no vantage points on which to place the mirrors," he explained, "temporary towers might be erected at convenient distances along the stretch to be measured."

CONSTRUCT TUBE

In speaking of the preliminary experiment completed this week at Ross Field, Dr. Michelson asserted that while he has been hampered by atmospheric conditions, the results have shown the wisdom of going ahead with the construction of the long tube.

The apparatus at Ross Field consisted of two forty-inch mirrors, two twenty-two-inch concave mirrors and small rotating mirrors. At night a beam of artificial light was flashed back and forth between these mirrors along a half-mile section of the old railroad track that formerly carried patrons to the "Lucky" Baldwin race track.

Dr. Michelson, who is 77 years of age, has been in great demand at the Maryland as a bridge player.

Asked why he saw fit to perform the arduous mental labor involved in performing an experiment, the accuracy of which has been proved, he said, in his quiet manner, "Well, I think it may be because I have so much fun doing it."

As versatile as he is renowned in his chosen field, the research physicist admits that he has had "more than my share of fun in life."

Besides being an expert bridge player, he has won success as an artist; his painting, an "Arroyo sketch," having been reproduced last month on the cover of a California magazine.

And when he tires of these things, there is his violin, and those who have heard him "fiddle" assert that the sensitive perception which has made him an outstanding figure in this age, is best exemplified when he draws a bow.

NAME CHANGE PROTESTED

The Los Angeles Star has filed a protest with the Council against the proposal to change the name of Ninety-sixth street to Colden avenue.

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

AFTER ALL, I wonder if the boy discovered by Edison has the same chance to become famous as the tank-town telegraph operator, who discovered himself and became Thomas A. Edison.

JUST TRY ME

There is one question that I could answer myself—out of the long questionnaire through which the Edison candidates had to drill.

"What would you do with $1,000,000 if some one left it to you?"

SEND THEM BACK

The government deportation machinery must be badly gummed up when Communist Red riots can be staged all over the country—including Los Angeles.

Two-thirds of these people are of foreign birth, and have no business in this country. Some of them slid past the naturalization bureau by virtue of being able to answer trick questions on the Constitution. It would seem that the alien laws of this country should be so modified that citizenship could be withdrawn at any time by the court which granted it.

THE SENOR

We read in the public prints that Capt. Edguardo Von Schroeder, commander of the Chilean training ship now at San Pedro, "speaks the language perfectly." Which language? Nevertheless, it's a safe bet this is one South American ship where the crew walks the chalk line.

THE HELL SHIPS

If the spirit of one of the old bucko mates of the brutal clipper ship days should come back to earth I hope he finds himself reincarnated on this British tanker where the captain has organized a "josh" fraternal organization to keep the crew in good spirits.

And when he looks for his allowance of the old-time wormy salt horse he will find ham and eggs for breakfast. The "hell ships" of hoary tradition are no more.

A TAME AGE

You have to say this, however, for the defense of the old days. They were out there all alone on the sea—three or four officers against a wild crew. Brutality was their only defense. In these days if a crew shows signs of mutiny the captain radioes for a policeman.

TAKE NOTICE

Whoever it was that put ties across the railroad track at Fontana may be interested to hear that an attempt to wreck a train is an offense punishable by death—under the laws of California.

COUNCIL APPROVES ASSESSMENT DISTRICT

GAS BAG STUNT FOOLS MANY

Balloon's Bursting and Descent of Parachutes Scare Thousands and Enrage Police

An enterprising tire manufacturing company, hoping to reap a rich reward in advertising, yesterday struck terror to the hearts of hundreds of thousands of people and enraged the police of Los Angeles, Culver City and the beach towns with a stunt which led all who witnessed it to believe there had occurred a major disaster of the skies.

Released by the perpetrators from a location police have been unable to learn, a medium-sized gas-filled balloon drifted to a point about 2000 feet above Culver City, where, apparently, as the result of an intricate timing device which detonated a percussion cap, it exploded and sent floating to earth two parachutes at the end of each of which there dangled what later proved to be a sawdust-filled dummy.

The drifting bag made its appearance seemingly out of nowhere shortly after the Goodyear blimp Volunteer had paid a visit to the air lanes over Santa Monica for the admiration of a record-breaking Sunday crowd of bathers. To the vast majority, police learned, the bag appeared to be the Volunteer, it being difficult for the layman, viewing a small dirigible longitudinally, to distinguish it from a balloon.

Police estimated that fully a half-million pairs of eyes were fastened on the bag when without any untoward preliminary movement it burst into flames, disintegrated and started drifting earthward. Then the horrified observers discerned the two parachutes, with what palpably was a human form depending from each, appear out of the pall of smoke and begin their slow descent to the ground.

A moment later ambulances were speeding toward the general direction of Culver City from Sawtelle, Venice, Santa Monica and even Redondo Beach. Frantically they raced about the streets of Culver City, looking in vain for the mangled victims of the "tragedy," but not until Police Captain Shaw

MODERN YOUTH UPHELD

Ohio University Dean Here From Panama Sees Sheiks and Flappers Making Good Parents

Freedom and license for youth today means a stern yoke for those tomorrow—such alternating discipline is the history of mankind down through the ages, according to Miss Justina M. Eich, dean of women at Capital University at Columbus, O., who arrived from Panama yesterday on the Dollar liner President Garfield.

Justina M. Eich

"It seems a natural reaction," she said, "that liberty in one generation expresses itself in more severe discipline the next, but in each rotation humanity gains something. We don't slip back so far."

"Youth today handles his social problems about as well as we, but he's frank about them, whereas we did them under cover. Complexities of today, autos and such are a greater challenge to his self-control, but they are not submerging his character.

"As I watch these so-called flappers and sheiks marry and raise children, I come to the conclusion they are making better parents than their parents. They are more enlightened, having tasted the liberties, and can better discriminate between pure indulgence and what is really good for children."

Miss Eich devotes each summer re-establishing contact with the world outside her school ken. "I want to be human, and to understand humanity outside my educational environment—it helps so much my counseling with the youth at school." She will continue to San Francisco on the ship today, returning by way of the Yellowstone Park to her chair at the Lutheran University.

PLAYGROUND RESCINDED

The Council has repealed an ordinance setting aside certain property at Avenue 18 and Pasadena avenue for a playground.

FRED STONE VISITS ROGERS

Noted Comedian Recuperating on Friend's Ranch After Long Time Abed With Broken Leg

Fred Stone, noted comedian and dancer, who crashed in a flight over Long Island a year ago, and who for a while was considered fatally hurt, is visiting with his family at the Will Rogers ranch, and getting well in the California sunshine.

FRED STONE

Stone, barely able to walk, arrived with his wife and two children, the first of the month, and already the "Wizard of Oz" is getting a tan and his feet are getting restless and itchy.

"Another year more and I will be doing tap stuff again," he told a crowd yesterday at the Rustic Canyon polo field, where he witnessed the game between the Uplifters and Hollywood. "I consider that I am 1 year of age—just a kid—my new birth date was the day I crashed and failed to pass out. Right now I am a punk dancer and my comedy isn't what it should be, but I still maintain that I am a good aviator."

The two Stone children are having a great reunion with the three Rogers children. All five of the youngsters know their stuff when it comes to horseback riding. Mary, Jimmie and Will Rogers, Jr., are busy showing their New York friends how to get freckles and how to climb mountain and hill trails on horseback. All the bridle paths of the neighborhood for miles are being explored.

When Stone crashed on Long Island a year ago, Dillingham had a big show, "Three Cheers," about ready for production.

With his daughter, Dorothy Stone, Fred was slated for a long run as star. Will Rogers, a lifelong friend, stepped in and took his place and gave his friend the satisfaction at least of seeing the play make a hit and of witnessing the triumph

BUSSES TO RUN FOR STUDENTS

Lines Projected to U.C.L.A. Westwood Campus

Two Companies Preparing to Start New Services

Construction Work Being Pushed Rapidly

Adequate transportation facilities for students and faculty to and from the new Westwood campus, which the University of California at Los Angeles will occupy for the first time this fall, will be assured by the opening day of school on September 20, according to announcement from university authorities. Bus service will be provided by the Los Angeles Motor Coach Company and the Santa Monica Bay District Transit Company and will begin when the university opens for the fall term.

The Los Angeles Motor Coach Company has obtained permission from the State Railroad Commission to extend its Wilshire Boulevard line to the new campus, and also permission from the Board of Regents of the University of California for its busses to enter the U.C.L.A. campus on Westwood Boulevard to the foot of the steps leading up the hill to the main quadrangle. Its busses will start from Pershing Square at Fifth and Hill streets, proceeding on its present route south to Eighth street, west to Rampart Boulevard, north on Rampart to Wilshire and then out Wilshire to Westwood Village. At Westwood Village busses will enter the campus on Westwood Boulevard, now under construction. Westwood Boulevard will have a 118-foot roadway, including sidewalks, and the east side of it will be ready for use by September 20.

TEMPORARY SERVICE

The Los Angeles Motor Coach Company will not open the extension of this line until September 20, but to accommodate employees in the business office of U.C.L.A., which will be moved to the Westwood campus about September 15, one bus will be run out in the morning and one back in the evening.

The Santa Monica Bay District Transit Company has obtained permission from the State Railroad Commission and from the Los Angeles Board of Public Works to open four new lines. Number one route will start at the end of the yellow Los Angeles Railway "P" car line on Pico Boulevard, at Rimpau Boulevard, and will continue west on Pico to the west side of the Fox Hills Motion Picture Studio, north to La Grange avenue, and then west into the Sawtelle business district. Its Number two line will run from Culver City north on Overland avenue to Pico Boulevard, west on Pico to Westwood Boulevard, and then north on Westwood to Westwood Village.

Students will have to ride on the yellow "P" car out to the end of the line, then board the Number one bus, and then where La Grange avenue crosses Westwood Boulevard, transfer to the Number two line bus to the campus. The Number three line will run from the city of Santa Monica to Westwood Village near the campus, and the Number four line from the southwest part of Sawtelle to the Westwood Village. The Santa Monica Bay District Transit Company has not as yet made application to the Board of Regents for permission for its busses to enter the campus on Westwood Boulevard, but it is expected that it will before school starts.

MOVING STARTS SOON

The move of the university from its present campus on Vermont avenue to its new campus at Westwood officially will start next Saturday and will continue until the 27th inst. It is expected that the university will be entirely moved in the week's time. Several hundred husky men students have been hired by the university to aid in the move. Since the summer session of the university will not close until the 10th inst. and refunds and adjustments will be needed to be made to the students, the business offices will not be moved until about the middle of the week.

Construction work is progressing at Westwood, with work on the Kerckhoff Student Union Building scheduled to start today. The two temporary gymnasiums being constructed at a total cost of $3500 each are under way, and a concrete floor for the Armory Building is being laid. When the floor is finished the Armory Building will be moved from its present site on North New Hampshire avenue on the Vermont-avenue campus to Westwood. The proposed fifteen-acre turf field for the use of the R.O.T.C. units and the physical education classes has been graded and an automatic sprinkler system installed. Blue grass will be planted shortly and it is expected that the field will be ready for use at the fall term. The landscape gardening of the campus is also being carried on under the direction of Dr. John W. Gregg, professor of landscape gardening at the University of California at Berkeley.

ORIGINAL GOLF BUG FOUND

Fore! Hole In One Likely

Salvador Tases playing ancient game like golf, rising beetle known as pegadore. Lucia Morales and her dog watch his "drives." Below, close-up of the "golf bug."

EUREKA!

After years of search, a Times reporter has been able to locate and classify the original golf bug. It was found yesterday.

The story goes back to the dim legends of the Mayans and Aztecs whose lost cities are just coming to the sight of man through the prying eyes of adventurous aviators flying over the Central American jungles.

Research has found that for years unnumbered, the Atlantidans, the Mayans and the Aztecs have enjoyed the game of golf. Under another name, of course, but golf. But in Toltecland, it is a boy's game and only children play it.

Strangely enough, the game is played today just as it was thousands of years ago. Fim., the native youth catches a small beetle known there as a pegadore. The insect is about a half an inch long and has the peculiar habit of snapping its back when caught. The first Aztec youth who played the game discovered that if he would hold the bug against a tiny roll of rubber, the beastie would snap the ball in a direction determined by the stance, hold and driving angle.

Today the youth of Sonoratown in Los Angeles, the section of the city where the sloe-eyed senoritas listen to the guitars of their sideburned lovers, still play the game with the golf bug in the same old way. Miniature courses are laid out on sidewalks, two or more pegadores are caught and the ends of rubber erasers are used for golf balls.

Two muchachos or perhaps a foursome squat on the walk and the game is on. Salvador, a quiet 10-year-old, may tee off with a bug shot that will land him near his first hole and with the same technique of the Scotch game, the boys finish their round.

The game is undoubtedly the forerunner of the so-called ancient Scotch game, now exposed as a mere plagiarism of some forgotten Aztec youth's pastime.

Golf bugs are common in Los Angeles, and in fact on all of the Coast of the Pacific, from this city to Panama. Only further south in Central America, the golf bug is a sort of lightning bug and when the boys finish playing with them, their parents put them in bottles and use them in the evenings to read the sporting page.

But imagine the embarrassment of some hungry robin eating a golf bug and finding his dinner snapping away in his crop.

MARINE SCHOOL PLAN DETAILED

Full-Rigged Ship Declared Best for Purposes

Governors of Sea College Soon to Be Named

Capt. January Points Out Benefits of Project

A full-rigged vessel rearranged and equipped with modern machinery is the ideal type of craft to serve as California's first nautical schoolship, in the opinion of Capt. G. T. January, member of the State Board of Pilot Commissioners, who issued a statement yesterday, setting forth the advantages that will accrue to the youth of the Pacific Coast with the launching of this marine college. However, responsibility for obtaining the ship and organizing the school, in accordance with the bill signed by Gov. Young, will rest with a board of governors soon to be chosen and announced.

LISTS EQUIPMENT

"A full-rigged ship is ideal," said Capt. January, "for purposes of training and of instilling a certain psychological reaction possible through no other means in the world. It should be equipped with Diesel or turbo-electric propulsion units; ice, electric, sanitary and other auxiliaries; machine shops; radio equipment, direction finders, gyroscopic and magnetic compasses, and commodious classrooms and quarters.

"We realize that such a vessel at present is out of the question, but not an impossible idea. There are several fine ships on the Coast, one of which no doubt can be readily obtained. The cost of equipping can be worked out through the interest of wealthy citizens, shipping companies, the great engineering and shipbuilding companies and the State."

The bill making the ship possible, according to Capt. January, proves that the Pacific Coast and California in particular realizes the important part water-borne commerce is to play in her future economic development; and it is his contention that the boy who wants a career at sea should be given the same opportunity of study and training as the boy who elects to become a doctor, lawyer or engineer, or to follow any of the other numerous vocations ashore made available to him through junior colleges and universities.

ALL WILL HELP

"American boys are not the only ones who will benefit by this new school," the captain declared. "Every citizen in the State will indirectly derive material benefit. The steamship companies will be directly benefited by having scientifically trained men to officer their vessels, with an increased efficiency that will enable them to compete with their foreign competitors with greater financial success. Successful operation means more ships. More ships mean employment for more citizens in the varied phases of ship-building and operation; and more employment means greater purchasing power, which in turn affects every business.

"It may be found desirable to develop a course of three, or preferably four years, giving the cadet an education equivalent to that of a junior college in foreign trade and business. Then, every cadet will on graduation be a well-educated trade emissary of the United States when his vessel goes to alien lands, opening new vistas of opportunity for himself and his country's trade, returning many fold the cost of his education by his value as a trained trade developer."

Hymie Cohen's 'Dope King' Case Resumes Today

Preliminary hearing of Hymie Cohen, millionaire asserted "dope king" of Los Angeles, will be resumed this morning by Municipal Judge Stafford. Mrs. Mary Lawrence, State's witness, who testified last week that she purchased morphine valued at $55,000, which was introduced into evidence by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Bialock, from Cohen, is expected to resume the stand for further cross-examination by M. G. Phillips, defense attorney.

Police officers, given a search warrant by Judge Stafford to search Cohen's safe deposit box at his bank for morphine, reported to the court that the box contained nothing but $52,000 in currency.

GAS BAG STUNT SCARES CROWDS

of Culver City came upon one of the parachutes, with its makeshift dummy "survivor" did it dawn upon the authorities that the spectacle had been only an advertising stunt for a certain automobile tire. Chagrined and outraged, ambulance drivers and police returned to their stations. For several hours solicitous citizens continued to besiege the various police divisions with requests for information of the supposed disaster.

Of all police officers who investigated the incident, Capt. Shaw was most bitter in his denunciation of the joking company. He intimated that he may present the matter today to the District Attorney's office for possible prosecution.

Alumnae Will Meet Tonight in Fund Drive

Meeting tonight in the auditorium of Immaculate Heart College at Western and Franklin avenues alumnae of the institution will have the expansion plans explained to them, Mrs. Ysabel Del Valle Marquard, president of the graduate students' organization, has announced.

An active part will be played by the alumnae in the building-fund drive for which twenty-five teams are now being organized, Mrs. Marquard said. During the period from September 23 to October 5, hundreds of workers will make solicitations for funds to erect new buildings, providing for greatly increased enrollments of students.

Associated with Mrs. Marquard are Mrs. Herbert Quinn, first vice-president; Mrs. Theodore Smith, second vice-president; Miss Mary Maher, third vice-president; Miss Madge Turner, recording secretary; Mrs. J. Walter Clune, corresponding secretary; Mrs. George Cote, Jr., treasurer.

JUDGE AGGELER TAKES OVER NEW POST TODAY

The master calendar of the criminal division of Superior Court today will pass into the hands of W. T. Aggeler, Superior Court judge sitting in Department 26, who succeeds Hartley Shaw, who has handled this routine for the last six months. Judge Shaw recently was appointed to one of the three offices created for judges in the Superior Court whose sole duties will be to hear appeals from the Municipal Court. County grand jury matters still will be handled by W. C. Doran, judge in Department 23 of Superior Court, it was announced.

ISLAND'S ACTRESS SAILS FOR HAWAII

Agnes Auld

Agnes Auld, the only Hawaiian girl who ever made a success in motion pictures, according to those who keep records of such things, was a happy passenger aboard this week-end's Hawaii-bound Lassco liner Calawaii. She is on her way back home to renew island friendships and receive the adulation of the mid-Pacific folk who long have dreamed of some day having an island girl make good on the screen. Miss Auld took with her several trunks of up-to-the-minute mainland apparel.

AUTO CRASHES FATAL TO TWO

HIT-AND-RUN DRIVER

Victims of a hit-and-run driver, according to police, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Wall of 2511 Alessandro avenue were taken to the Southwest Hospital suffering from possible internal injuries. Police stated the Walls were riding in their automobile when another car struck it at One Hundred and Fourteenth street and Western avenue.

Misses Royal and Betty Paynor of 1357 West Thirty-eighth Place, passengers in the Wall car, were painfully bruised and cut. The driver of the other machine did not stop, police reported.

Eugene W. La Voie, 29, aviator, of 2444 Crenshaw Boulevard, was arrested on a charge of driving while intoxicated and of possession and transportation of liquor following an altercation with a truck driver, Robert Cordova of 6939 Vinevale street, Bell. The asserted argument took place at Ninth and Figueroa streets, after La Voie is asserted to have attempted to run Cordova into the curb.

Richard W. Hills, 27, of Inglewood, a laborer, and Daniel S. Shaw, 20, a mechanic of 3781 Angeles Mesa Drive, who were with La Voie, were held on charges of being drunk in an automobile.

WOMEN MAY DIE

Two women may die as the result of a traffic crash in Bell last night. Gladys Moberly, 6220 Albany street, Huntington Park, has a fractured skull and her sister Florence suffered internal injuries and concussion of the brain. They were in a car driven by W. J. Trovost, 2242 Elizabeth street, Bell. Their car collided with one driven by Casper Hert, 766 Live Oak street, Bell. Mrs. Hert and small daughter, Betty, also were slightly injured. Deputy Sheriffs McQuaid and Ivenberg took the injured people to the Corby Hospital at Bell.

Johnny Falcon, 1928 senior national champion of the Junior Olympics, and a resident of Azusa, was injured yesterday afternoon when a car which he was driving was struck by a Pacific Electric train on Dalton avenue. Falcon sustained a deep cut across his left knee and severe lacerations in the head. Whether his injuries will incapacitate him is problematic, according to Dr. E. L. Cook, who is treating him.

A 7-year-old girl chasing her dog across the street was struck by an auto last evening and probably will die from a fractured pelvis and internal injuries, according to reports from the Orthopedic Hospital, where she was taken. The child is Alice Hidell, 114 East One Hundred and Second street. Mrs. Helen McGivney, 325 East One Hundred and Second street, reported to the police that she saw the dog cross the street but did not see the child following it, until she struck her.

TWO PEDESTRIANS HURT

Late last night Mrs. Mary Reed, 71, 1502 East Adams street, was struck by an auto while crossing Adams street near San Pedro and sustained injuries from which she probably will die. She was taken to Georgia-street Receiving Hospital where it was found she has a basal skull fracture, a broken left thigh and internal injuries. She later was sent to General Hospital. J. P. Custer, 419 West Santa Barbara, whose auto the police say struck her, was not held.

Nick Brillos, 38, living on San Julian street, number unknown, suffered a skull fracture when he was hit by an automobile last night at Twenty-eighth and San Pedro streets. He was taken to Georgia-street Receiving Hospital for treatment and later taken to General Hospital. He is expected to die. Police say he was struck by a car driven by A. M. Hutton, 823 East Jefferson street, who was not held.

ARMY OFFICER KILLED AND TWO HURT IN CRASH

Col. Albert L. Denman, formerly assistant manager of the Ambassador, was injured seriously, and a passenger in his car, Lieut. Alden Hearn of the United States Army, was killed, when an automobile driven by Col. Denman crashed through a fence on the coast highway near Santa Maria yesterday morning and overturned. Col. Denman's 9-year-old son Albert, who also was in the car, escaped with severe, but not dangerous, injuries.

The accident apparently was caused by a blowout of one of the front tires on Col. Denman's car. Lieut. Hearn, who was 25, was thrown clear of the car and received a broken neck, dying almost instantly. The colonel, who is 42, and his son, were pinned underneath the car. They were rushed to the Santa Maria Hospital, where it was found that Col. Denman had suffered a possible fractured skull and his son had received a fractured rib and a broken arm.

Col. Denman came to this city from Chicago in 1924 and has been living at 741 South Normandie avenue. Before coming here he served as a traffic expert in Chicago, where he organized the mounted police in 1911 and several years later organized and commanded the Cook county highway police. Before America entered the World War he served as a major in the One Hundred and Eighth French Field Artillery and after transferring to the American Army he became Chief of Police of Bordeaux and held that post while thousands of troops passed through that port on their way home.

FILM WATCHES HAVE BAD TIME

Tom Mix and Clara Bow Both Report Loss or Theft of Gem-Set Belongings

Coincidentally Tom Mix and Clara Bow reported to the police yesterday the loss or theft of valuable watches. Mix's watch was taken from his residence at 1010 Summit Drive. It is of platinum construction set with thirty-eight diamonds with a chain set with twenty diamonds. Miss Bow's time-piece, a platinum wrist watch set with thirty-eight diamonds and ten sapphires, was reported lost in Santa Monica.

ROGERS VISITED BY FRED STONE of his daughter. Dorothy is in New York and did not make the trip west.

Stone was injured badly. His legs were broken and smashed and he was so badly hurt that his life was despaired of for a long while. He has been in plaster casts for months and it was but recently that he could stand a railway trip.

At the Rogers ranch he is taking things easily. Yesterday was his first appearance in public since the crash. A loud speaker was installed at the polo field and when it was known that Stone was in the crowd he was asked to say a few words.

He is able to walk without crutches or cane. Those who have seen his nimble feet fly on the stage and have laughed at his comedy, while they would hardly recognize him now, might see far back in his eyes a flash of his old indomitable courage.

One thing is certain. He says it himself. He will dance again—if it is physically possible.

Kansas Society to Hear Capper

Senator Arthur C. Capper of Kansas will be the guest fo honor next Thursday evening, the 8th inst., at a meeting of the Kansas Society in Veterans' Hall, 246 South Hill street. He will be introduced by former Judge William F. Scoch of the Topeka Probate Court.

Entertainment will be furnished by Miss Mary Harvey and dancing and refreshments will follow the reception.

"In Union There Is Strength"

THIS old adage might well be the motto of the Union Bank, for strength permeates the whole institution.

There is the sheer strength of adequate capitalization and ample surplus; there is the strength of long experience in banking; there is the strength of reputation and integrity. But as great as any of these is the strength of concentration —every officer, every employee and every service all in one place, under one roof at Eighth and Hill, where as a complete unit, the Union Bank waits to serve you.

FINN WILL CASE TO BEGIN TODAY

Contest Depends on Court's Findings in Proceedings

Many of Iowa Financier's Kin Slated to be Present

With a large number of heirs from different parts of the country present, preliminary proof will be offered today before Superior Judge Bishop on a document purporting to be a valid will distributing $1,000,000 worth of property left by George Lafayette Finn, at one time a State senator in Iowa, who died here on January 20, last, at the age of 83. The hearing will start at 10 a.m.

The will is dated January 17, last, it is asserted, three days before the financier died. The document's authenticity is being contested by Mrs. Gladys L. McAfee of [illegible], a grandniece of the decedent, represented in court by Attorney E. W. Pottle, who holds that the signature on the will is forged. If Judge Bishop finds a contest to the will warranted the battle [illegible] will be carried into another [illegible] before a jury.

TWO OTHER TESTAMENTS

During his lifetime Finn made two other wills, one in 1925 and another in 1928, followed by the execution of eight codicils. He also made a revocation document on January 16, last, four days before he died, which reads: "I hereby revoke all wills and codicils by me made."

Pending the admission to probate of the revocation, the will dated January 17, last, was dismissed.

Under the terms of this will the property is divided principally among David Burr Luckey, a nephew; Jane Corwin Finn, a niece; [illegible] and W. H. Finn, brothers, and others. Mrs. McAfee is cut off with only $1.

Luckey, who was named administrator of the estate and who holds that the will in question is genuine, is represented in court by Attorneys Ben Griffith, Anna [illegible] and Thomas W. Cochran.

PLAINTIFF'S CHARGES

Mrs. McAfee asserts that the signature on the will is forged; that the will was not signed after the revocation document and that the witnesses to the instrument were incompetent, also that Finn himself was ill and of advanced age and susceptible to the influence of others during his last days.

The will that figures in the contest has been torn down the center. It is asserted by attorneys for Luckey that the document was obtained by investigators from the District Attorney's office from Dr. [illegible] Murphy, physician for the financier and one of the witnesses, during a scuffle in the doctor's office.

Should this will be found by the court to be invalid and that Finn died intestate, the dead man's property will be divided among about [illegible]-five heirs.

YOUTH DENIES HE'S JOHN DOE

But He Spends Three Days In Jail Because Officer Thought So

Pete Morgan, 21 years of age, spent three days in jail because he was wrongly identified by an unidentified police officer as the "John Doe" wanted by Officers Jordan and Turney for sale and possession of liquor, Municipal Judge Ambrose discovered when Attorney Harry Margid took the man before him in court. Margid found that no complaint had been filed filed against Morgan, whom he discovered in jail.

Morgan was arrested on a John Doe warrant issued for a bell-boy in a downtown hotel. He declared he has never worked at the hotel in question. Judge Ambrose ordered him freed when Officer Jordan declared he is not the man who sold him liquor.

ASSERTED BOGUS COIN MAKER HELD

Federal Agents Arrest Man in San Diego as Counterfeiter

Asserted to have been responsible for a series of excellently counterfeited silver dollars, Carlos Gomez, alias C. E. Gonzales, 50 years of age, yesterday was in custody of Federal authorities.

Gomez, according to W. W. Ashe, secret service agent, in charge of the government office in Los Angeles, was arrested in San Diego and will be removed to San Francisco to face the charge of making spurious coins in Oakland.

The arrest of the asserted counterfeiter, according to Ashe, came about through the arrest of Ray Ibanez and his wife, Lillian, several days ago in Modesto. The pair are asserted to have been engaged in passing plated $1 coins and to have informed Federal agents they were made by a man known to them as Elicon Gonzales in Oakland.

When arrested in San Diego, Gomez was preparing to manufacture coins, Ashe said.

DISCHARGE OF STORM WATERS PROTESTED

Property owners have filed a protest with the Council against present conditions permitting the discharge of storm waters from the Larga-street drain near Fletcher Drive and asking that this be corrected before the rainy season. The matter has been referred to the City Engineer and Public Works Committee.

ROUND PLAYING CARDS VOGUE

Novelty Pasteboards Find Favor Here

Myra Wells Displays Innovation

Round playing cards are finding their way onto tables in Los Angeles, Hollywood and Beverly Hills, the first innovation in the pasteboards for hundreds of years. "Just another round" will have a new meaning now when the hour grows late and winners are fidgeting to go.

Myra Wells yesterday displayed a round hand of the new cards evolved by John Waddington of London. They are said to be easier to shuffle, and the spots can be read from any part of the circle. Incidentally they roll off the table more easily.

THOUSANDS OF TROUT TO BE PLANTED

San Gabriel Hatchery Shipment to Prairie Forks Due Soon

Thirty thousand baby trout will leave the San Gabriel fish hatchery near Coldwater Camp next Monday and make their way eighty-six miles across mountain trails to Prairie Forks, at the headwaters of the East Fork of the San Gabriel.

The young trout will be chaperoned on their long, dusty trip by L. F. Chappell, captain of the fish and game patrol in Southern California. Mr. Chappell will use an automobile equipped with fish tanks to transport his charges.

Other shipments of fish will be made as they hatch later in the summer, Capt. Chappell said. Fishing in Big Pines Park was very good last year, due to the planting of fry two years ago, it was said.

SOUND FILMS A BOON TO EQUITY

er financial interests backing them, began looking for a way to reduce production costs. They let it be known that wholesale cuts were to be made. The player folk raised a storm of objection and Equity officials, moving quickly to the front posed as the champions who would lead them to victory.

UNION IS DEBATED

Equity officials submitted a proposal for Equity control of film players and virtually set themselves up as a Moses come to lead the film folk to plenty. An analysis of the situation after this interval leads to the opinion that some of the film actors played with Equity in order to scare the producers out of the salary reduction proposal, but at the same time took the precaution to see that Equity did not gain control of the situation. The producers held the proposed cut in abeyance. Equity officials were ousted from the dealings and the Academy of Motion-Picture Arts and Sciences, a body of all film interests, became the medium of settling the disturbance.

Under direction of the academy, producers, players and others in the industry co-operated toward reduction of costs and before the end of the year a standard contract was agreed upon and accepted by players and producers. Equity's New York headquarters denounced the academy's results. Equity went back to its inch-by-inch method of slowly working up in pictures.

CRAFT UNIONS WIN

In the meantime American Federation of Labor craftsmen unions played a more successful game than Equity. They got the producers into a conference with them. This story is one of the dark ones in Los Angeles' long fight for the preservation of the open shop. Local exponents of the American plan were told by producers virtually to keep hands off and New York interests in control of the industry here and New York heads of the unions signed a contract which gave the craftsmen's unions a firm foothold in the studios and so gained for the union federation its first grip on a major industry in Los Angeles and its first real grip on the huge film industry. It subsequently has tightened this grip.

In the meantime also the talking films came to the front. Under skilled exploitation among a people growing tired of both stage and picture shows as then provided sound pictures rejuvenated the entire film industry. As explained earlier in this story, it was the dawn of a new day for stage players, all of whom were Equity-controlled. They brought a new Equity strength into the local film colony.

BIG DRIVE ON

Eight months ago the writer stated in a series of articles on the union situation in Hollywood that Equity quietly had begun its biggest drive for capture of film-player control and that its leaders intended that the drive should reach its objective in eight to ten months.

A few weeks ago, as followers of current events will recall, Equity's chief executive came here from New York and announced that no member of Equity thereafter could contract with a motion-picture producer except under Equity conditions. One condition is that the casts in which Equity members work must consist of Equity members. Equity had served its ultimatum on the producers to accept unionization of players. It began a vigorous campaign to make all players members of Equity and began to penalize its members who took issue with its demand for film domination.

The producers announced that they would go on as they had been doing, finding talent where and when they can without regard to whether that talent pays tribute to Equity. A host of film players, including some former Equity officials, denounced Equity officials for intruding into the film field and declared that whatever were the conditions upon which Equity had entered and captured the stage field no such conditions exist in the film field.

Equity officials here proclaim that they have come to Hollywood to eliminate abuses which they assert are being perpetrated upon players by producers. The producers and opposing players answer to this that the film industry already has in the Academy of Motion-Picture Arts and Sciences an adequate film organization working to eliminate any such causes of dissatisfaction.

As a matter of fact the campaign is just another American Federation of Labor move to unionize all employees, to subjugate the country's outstanding open-shop city and to capture one of the nation's chief industries for unionism.

SECOND CONFERENCE SCHEDULED FOR TODAY

A second meeting between representatives of Actors' Equity Association and of the Association of Motion-Picture Producers concerning Equity officials' attempts to place "Equity shop" in Hollywood is scheduled for today at a secret place for a secret time.

The producers' as well as actors' representatives are making much ado over keeping their movement carefully guarded, each side refusing to comment on the result of the first meeting which was conducted last Friday behind closed doors at a secret place. The producers even cautiously guarded from the public the names of their representatives. Frank Gillmore, president; Ethel Barrymore, vice-president; and Frank Turner, attorney, are representing the actors' interests at the meetings, Turner announced Thursday.

BOSTON LABOR UNION CONDEMNS CLARA BOW

BOSTON, Aug. 4. (AP)—The Central Labor Union today branded Clara Bow, Lionel Barrymore and four other prominent motion-picture actors and actresses "unfair" because of their attitude toward the Actors' Equity Association, and called "good union men and women to walk out of the theaters when these men and women appear on the screen."

Marie Dressler, Conrad Nagel, Noah Beery and Louise Dresser joined Barrymore and Miss Bow in union disapproval.

The action was taken pursuant to a request from the Los Angeles Labor Union, which declared that organized labor can assist in a fight between the Equity association and motion-picture producers.

House Party by Airplane Arrives Here

The first progressive house party flew into Los Angeles last night.

Mr. and Mrs. Macy Teetor and Mr. and Mrs. Donald H. Teetor, of Hagarstown, Ind.; John C. Sunn, Chicago pianist, and B. Howard Smith, head of a Middlewest bakery chain, arrived on a Western Air Express plane from Kansas City and plan to remain here at the Andalusia Apartments, 1475 Havenhurst avenue, for two weeks.

The party started out a week ago yesterday from Lake Forest, Kan., and visited homes of friends en route to Kansas City. The Teetor brothers are manufacturers of automobile motor parts and plan to lead the house and plane party back home by air.

Today's Bible Text

For we are saved by hope: but hope that is seen, is not hope for what a man seeth, why doth he yet hope for? But if we hope for what we see not, then do we with patience wait for it. Romans viii:24-25.

PLANE SAILING

This massive German plane that easily flew aloft while carrying forty-five tons of sandbags should be able to move quite a bunch of folks hither and yon. With German citizens at ten to the ton the craft could pull off a large party.

GOOD NIGHT, NURSE

The great point in these aerial endurance tests is to have a competent nurse. The refueling job is a delicate and tricky one—just as vital and important as if it were a hospital affair. The boys who do the feeding are heroes, too.

STILL GOING

Wrigley's Cubs have already drawn more than 800,000 cash customers to the gate in Chicago. Thus indicating that the American interest in the game has not slumped as seriously as some critics have asserted. It will take years to push the game off the boards and nobody wants to.

THE GREAT COMMUTER

Once more the world's champion commuter has been dragged into the limelight. This time he is a New York insurance man who has made his ninety-three miles every day for forty years and has covered more than a million miles in the doing. He caught his train to the city at 6:40 in the morning and in forty years he missed it but twice. He couldn't have done any better had he been headed for a golf course.

FRUITFUL SUBJECT

Bananas and other tropical fruits that are not raised in California are to be produced in vast numbers on the Pacific coast in Panama, Costa Rica and other Central American countries. Heretofore, the Atlantic side has had the best of it. Conditions are better on the other side, however, and huge plantations are being established with California as the market of entry for Uncle Sam's business. More work for our busy harbor. Anyhow, this is the world's fruit basket to start with.

BEYOND THE LIMIT

Old-timers will remember Bosco, used to eat 'em alive in the side shows of another generation. He used to lunch on hardware and cutlery, with a live rattler or two as dessert. He had a stomach that would turn a ten-penny nail. He could fill up with enough iron to make a cookstove. But now at the age of 70 he is in a hospital because in a moment of foolishness he tried to absorb a few drinks of Buffalo gin. He could get away with barb wire and pounded glass, but the bootleggers finally got him.

HARBOR UNITY

There is no need for any division of authority or interest in our adjacent harbor. It may be accepted as a Los Angeles county asset or a California enterprise or as an all-America pride. Citizens of Long Beach may call it theirs. The men of San Pedro may give it their brand. We of the larger city may cite it as Los Angeles Harbor. Thank heaven! there is glory enough for us all. The point is to let the government know and understand that the port is unified and complete and that there is no division in its operation or control. Now that it is doing a billion-dollar business every year it has become a great national asset.

DEMOCRATIC LOSERS

A distinguished lady Democrat, who has long been a member of the national executive committee of her party, admits that one great failing of the Democrats is that they get more of a kick out of fighting one another than they do in facing the foe. When platforms are built and nominations are made Republicans put their personal likes and opinions aside and join hands in what they felicitously call "saving the country." If the Democrat doesn't get the platform and candidate he wants he either sulks in his tent or goes over into the Republican camp. He is a good loser in the election, but a poor one in the convention.

OUR ARCHITECTS WIN

The superior competence of Southern California architects is probably less responsible for the winning of the first two grand prizes in the 1929 National Better Homes Architectual competition by Los Angeles men than the superior type of architecture that has been developed in California during a long period of years. Los Angeles has excellent architects, but so have many other cities and communities. The latter, however, have not had the close acquaintance with southwestern home styles which appear, according to all reports, to be growing in favor in all parts of the country.

The result, none the less, is somewhat surprising, as well as gratifying. In this competition, the nation was divided into twelve regions, the competition in each being sponsored by a prominent newspaper and as a result it was given more widespread publicity than such contests usually receive. Under the circumstances, a vast number of designs were submitted by the best designers of all sections and for Southern California to emerge with two top prizes and an honorable mention, out of a total of three prizes, is highly significant.

It is the more significant because it would be supposed that California architecture, being peculiarly designed for the unique California climate, would be unsuited to the needs of other sections of the country. But the winning designs were found adaptable to any conditions.

The design of the first-prize winner is a combination of Spanish, early Californian and Colonial, while that of the second is Georgian English, to which the Colonial is closely allied. H. Roy Kelley won first prize for one of his designs and honorable mention for another, while second prize went to Harrison Clarke. These two men won all three prizes and two honorable mentions in the regional competition, Mr. Kelley with four designs, Mr. Clarke with one.

One of the conditions of the contest which put local designers at some disadvantage was the requirement that each house submitted must be provided with a basement and these are not common in California. Some adaptations of the design to include this feature were necessary and prevented the use of any stock design.

This Southern California victory is pleasing, of course, to The Times, which sponsored the contest in this region, but it must be pleasing also to the local jury of awards, since it amounts to approval of their judgment by the country's highest architectural authorities. David J. Witmer was chairman of this jury of award, the other members being Myron Hunt, Pierpont Davis, Preston S. Wright, K. P. Lowell and Edgar H. Wileman.

The result constitutes another milestone in the progress toward constituting California as the cultural center of this continent. Pre-eminence in art, in architecture and in science do far more for any region than mere dollars and cents and the State should strive for them with as hearty energy as for material production. News that California architecture is being accepted elsewhere as the most desirable type is very good news, indeed.

BRITAIN AND RUSSIA

News that there is a breaking-off of negotiations for a resumption of diplomatic relations between Great Britain and the soviet government should not be particularly surprising to those who recall that a burnt child dreads the fire and who are aware that radicals of only slightly differing beliefs hate each other like poison. Ramsay MacDonald had his administration wrecked about his ears once by Russian intrigue and it is natural that he should attempt to safeguard it with a demand for the abandonment of propaganda. The demand for recognition of the Russian debts may have been added, in the knowledge that it would be refused and give MacDonald release from his pre-election pledges.

From a Russian standpoint, it seems likely that recognition by the British government was not so much desired for itself as for a point of approach to American recognition. The soviets had British recognition once before without gaining much advantage from it; British capitalists proved obdurate and hard to borrow from. But with American recognition might come bigger and easier loans. There is little doubt that the Stalin administration looks upon the American money market with very, very covetous eyes, since an abundant supply of capital is a very pressing need, to allay domestic uneasiness and distress. It is easy to believe that factories run on Communist principles can swallow a lot of money.

There will, therefore, be a good deal of disappointment in Moscow over the apparent failure of the British negotiations and new tentatives and hints of possible compromise may be expected. That Russia will or can meet fully the British conditions is beyond probability, but she may try to offer something just as good, or which seems to be.

The propaganda condition is, in fact, the most difficult to comply with. Putting a Communist on parole not to agitate is like putting a cat on parole not to kill birds. The agitation psychosis is as difficult to resist as a craving for morphine.

A $20,000,000 CO-OPERATIVE

Organization of a $20,000,000 co-operative with various grain marketing associations of the wheat belt as constituent members, is being attempted by the new Federal Farm Board as one of its first undertakings. The organization is being planned, it was announced, to start operations where the present co-operatives stop and to carry on the distribution of wheat until it reaches the mill or the final market of wheat as wheat.

What better distribution such a corporation will afford than is provided by the present marketing facilities is somewhat difficult to foretell, but it is to be presumed it will fill a need or the Farm Board, which is not made up of visionaries, would not be recommending it. While it was said that the problem of what to do with the surplus had not yet been discussed, it was suggested that the new corporation may be able "to deal with the surplus at its source." This can only mean that it is being planned, at least tentatively, to have it seek to restrict acreage. It will have better luck or management than any co-operative in history if it has real success in such a move. It is not theoretically impossible, but it has always been most difficult to persuade a vast number of individual farmers of all possible variations of views and temperament to fit their growing plans to a central scheme, since the declination of any considerable number to take part upsets the whole plan.

There has, to be sure, been a great development in the past few years in getting farmers to co-operate and with many failures there have been some successes. With the Federal government behind it, the new organization should have prestige enough to induce a changed viewpoint in many growers. It has been estimated that some 500,000 farmers in the North Central States are served by various grain co-operative associations, including farmers' elevators, wheat pools and the like, and these form a very respectable proportion of the total of the country's grain producers. Two-thirds of the organization of co-operatives has taken place since 1915; the big years for organization were 1919 and 1920, which were, incidentally, years of great prosperity for agriculture.

The mortality among co-operatives has, however, always been heavy. The Department of Agriculture estimated that 20,000 had been formed in this country since the late 1860's, when the movement first began, and that about half that number were still in existence in 1925. Sixteen grain pools were organized between 1920 and 1925, and but nine were operating in the latter year.

Experience has shown that co-operative marketing associations need to control 60 per cent or more of the total product to have much effect on price. In the case of wheat, the price of which is fixed in the world market, the reaching of any such percentage is impracticable; much organization remains to be done before 60 per cent of the American product can be brought under control. The new corporation, however, is frankly organized for a long pull rather than for immediate results and may in time be able to wield a very considerable influence.

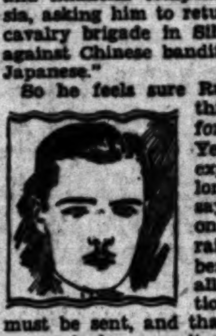
BILL IS NOW BROKE

Also the money that talks is this broken speech we hear about.

The LEE SIDE O' L.A.

BY Lee Shippey

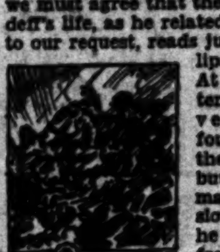
IF IVAN LOBEDEFF of Hollywood still cared for that sort of thing he now might be the Russian general whose flashy attacks on the Chinese were startling the world. For the Russian campaign, Ivan says, will follow lines he proved advisable in the World War, and three years ago a man who seemed to be an accredited envoy of the soviets sought him out, despite his record as an imperialist, with ample guarantees of both liberty and financial compensation in Russia, asking him to return and head a cavalry brigade in Siberia, "to fight against Chinese bandits and possibly Japanese."



So he feels sure Russia has seen this war coming for three years. Yet he does not expect it to last long. Russia, he says, has only one thin line of railroad to Siberia, over which all men, munitions and food must be sent, and that road isn't in as good shape as it was under the Czar. He thinks things are not so good in Russia and the best way to create a national unity is to divert people with a war scare, and then patriotism will be brought to a high pitch by dazzling victories which the Russian cavalry will win; but after that Russia, unable to stand a long war, will gracefully listen to the League of Nations and the Kellogg pact adherents, and the war will be all over.

Captured a General

Harry Carr, who revels in thundering cavalry charges and the clash of swords, told us Lobedeff was one of the most interesting men in Hollywood; so we went to see him. And we must agree that the story of Lobedeff's life, as he related it in response to our request, reads just like E. Phillips Oppenheim.



At 21, after attending two universities, he found himself in the World War, but his commanders were too slow for him. So he got permission from the high command to organize an independent command of cavalry, under orders of the high command only. He was on a front in which there were many swamps and similar areas mapped as impassable, but he had hunted all through that country and knew there were passable places. His plan was to lead small parties of his troops through those places, fall on the Germans suddenly from behind, retreat before he could be attacked in force, speed behind the Russian front in motor cars, and next night repeat the stunt 100 miles away. Thus, on the Minsk front, he captured Gen. Von Fabareus, the only German general commanding a division to be captured by anybody during the war, he says.

Then the Germans sent word that his irregular troops would be classed as guerrillas and if captured would not be treated as prisoners of war.

Enter the Beauteous Spy

But Lobedeff wasn't daunted worth a cent and kept on till badly wounded. Then he was sent to St. Petersburg, the town which since then has changed its name oftener than a motion-picture actress with the divorce habit. The Czar, whom he greatly admired, decorated him with the Order of St. George and it looked as if he would be a general at 24!

But first he was sent to Odessa to capture a beauteous woman spy, the plan being to let word leak out that he was carrying messages so important he had memorized them and carried no papers. That secret information, of course, inspired the beautiful spy to try to infatuate the handsome youth. To cut interesting details, she captivated him, he captured her, she confessed and he refused to divulge her confession until assured she would be protected.

Released by "Mistake"

Lobedeff still was in Odessa, he says, when revolution broke. He and other imperialists had planned to kidnap the Czar, to assure his safety, but the Czar would not co-operate. He was a Russian, willing to face his Russian accusers. Odessa still was a stronghold of the "white" army, the soviets being the "red." With the aid of a French garrison, he says, Odessa seemed quite safe. In the spring of 1919 he went south of Odessa on private business and while he was away the French garrison was withdrawn, he says, and the soviet army fell suddenly on the town. "I got an engine and an engineer," he says, "and held a gun at the engineer's head, and we went back to Odessa. There I found my uncle, an official, had been imprisoned. But there were brokers who could arrange with the red patriots to have certain men released by mistake, with understanding that the mistake would be discovered twenty-four hours later. I was captured, too, but my aunt gave four large diamonds and we were allowed to escape. I put out to sea in a small boat, was picked up by the French gunboat Taureg, the commander of which could not return to Odessa, but gave me a smaller boat in which I returned next night and brought away fifteen emigres.

Sidelight on History

"Gen. Deniken gave me permission to try to recapture Odessa and Lieutenant-Commander Carr of the British cruiser Carratoc joined the adventure. We recaptured Odessa on May 10, 1919, and it became the last stronghold of the white army."

A year or two later, in Berlin, Lobedeff received another hard knock—an accidental bump—from a preoccupied stranger. He threw over his shoulder a look of such haughty indignation that the stranger was interested. He was, Lobedeff says, a motion-picture director who wanted an actor to register just that look. The result was that Lobedeff became an actor, first in Berlin, then in Paris, and then came to Hollywood. He is working now in "They Had to See Paris."

WHAT OTHERS THINK ABOUT IT

BUILDING A MERCHANT MARINE

(Washington Post)

The report just issued by the National Industrial Conference Board is more valuable for its analysis of the present status of the American merchant marine than for any suggestions for strengthening the position of this country upon the seas. American merchant vessels are confronted with unusual competition because of lower costs of building and operating ships in other countries. This unfavorable condition is aggravated by increased construction of vessels of foreign registry and a steady reduction in the percentage of American trade carried by American ships.

The question presented by the board is: "If the shipping industry of any country is in an inherently unprofitable position, how far is such a country justified in aiding the expansion of its merchant marine from the point of view of its own domestic interest and of international considerations, to provide an indispensable minimum of support for its foreign trade and to assure its national security?" This question is answered in a general way in the statement that "it would appear that the provision of shipping facilities required to carry one-half of the foreign trade of a nation would constitute a reasonable standard." The United States fleet does not meet even this low standard. In 1920, American ships carried 42.7 per cent of our total water-borne commerce. By 1928 the percentage had been reduced to 33.6 per cent. During this same period the importance of the United States as a maritime nation became more pronounced and foreign trade was rapidly expanded.

THE OVERDRESSED MALE

(New York World)

We are overdressed. In comparison with women, we are foolishly, pathetically overdressed. These charming creatures, whenever they are privileged to watch the protracted rites of our dressing, always shake their heads in dismay.

"Why do you wear two sets of everything?" they ask.

"As for example?" we retorted haughtily.

"As for example, two sets of underclothing," they say. "You wear an undershirt and then you wear another shirt on top of it. What sense is there in that? Look at us. We wear one undergarment, and then put our dress right over it."

"A hot-looking spectacle we would be," we retort, "if we put our coats on over our undershirts."

"All right," they say, "but why do you wear two top garments, a coat and a waistcoat? Look at us. We only wear one dress. We would never think of wearing two."

"A gentleman would never think of appearing without a waistcoat," we retort, "except in summer time, when he wears a belt."

"A gentleman must be a sap," they say, and there the argument ends.

It ends because they have won it and there is nothing we can say.

A NEW CONSTITUTION FOR STATE

BY ROCKWELL D. HUNT

It is well that Gov. C. C. Young has decided to seek the best talent in the State from which to compose the special commission to make an investigation as to the need of a new constitution for California. The problem is a very far-reaching one, worthy of the best thought of our ablest citizens. Indeed, it would be better not to launch forth upon such an undertaking at all than to undertake it with listless spirit or with dubious motivation, or with but mediocre talent.

Since the roots of the present lie deep in the past, a primary qualification in contemplating the framing of a new fundamental law for the commonwealth is a thorough and sympathetic knowledge of the genesis of California's first constitution, of its essential features and limitations, of the conditions under which the second constitution was framed, and finally of the shafts of criticism directed against it in the light of its actual use during the years since its adoption half a century ago.

California's first constitution was framed by a body of delegates, elected under authority of de facto Gov. Bennet Riley, sitting in Colton Hall, Monterey, during September and October, 1849. In the selection of these delegates there had been no scheming of political parties nor combination of special interests. From Bayard Taylor and other contemporaries we are amply assured that the convention commanded respect as a dignified and intellectual body of earnest, honest men who did honor to California.

The constitution of '49, based largely upon those of New York and Iowa, was liberal in character and thoroughly democratic in spirit. It was adopted by popular vote on November 13, and on December 20 the State government was actually established and Gov. Peter H. Burnett inaugurated, although—as is well understood—California was not admitted into the Union until September 9, 1850.

Contrary to the expectation of its framers, the constitution of 1849 endured for thirty years. But that it was increasingly inadequate to meet the requirements of a phenomenally growing commonwealth was clearly recognized. On at least four different occasions the Legislature had recommended the desirability of a new constitution; but each time the proposal had been rejected. The provisions governing taxation had become entirely inadequate; any section on the subject of finance was wholly lacking; there was no provision for separate senatorial and assembly districts, leaving numerous counties quite without representation in the Legislature. Added to a recognition of very real defects—frequently exaggerated, to be sure—there was a constantly widening stream of propaganda growing out of conditions of the times and emanating from the ranks of the discontented.

As the result of an election held September 5, 1877, Gov. William Irwin declared that a majority favored calling a convention for the purpose of revising the State constitution. After considerable delay, a law was enacted in accordance with which the election of delegates was held June 19, 1878. It must be confessed that a relatively small number of conspicuously able men were chosen, the great majority of delegates being perhaps of respectable mediocrity. As a body, the men of '78 cannot be compared very favorably with the men of '49. Moreover, they failed to maintain the high level of political idealism and singleness of purpose that characterized the pioneers at Monterey. Of the delegates, there were seventy-eight nonpartisans, fifty-one working men, eleven Republicans, ten Democrats and two independents. In truth, in that body of delegates were to be found all sorts and conditions of men, though men of conspicuous leadership were almost entirely wanting.

The convention continued for 157 days! In certain particulars, the new constitution went into effect on July 4, 1879; for all purposes, on January 1, 1880. But it seemed to evoke little enthusiasm on the part of any group of citizens; it failed to achieve the major objects it particularly aimed at. As adopted it was about seven times as long as the United States Constitution and more than three times as long as California's constitution of 1849. In short, it was, as James Bryce pointed out, a conspicuous example of what a State constitution ought not to be!

To be more specific in suggesting the defects of the constitution of '79, it reflected an unworthy bias of labor agitators—particularly under the brand of Kearneyism—and was vitiated with an immoderate anti-Chinese feeling, rather than worthily expressing the deliberate political judgment of California. It has been repeatedly criticised as being more like a code than a constitution, since many of its provisions are purely statutory in character, thus seriously limiting the legislative powers of the people's representatives and denying them the confidence that should always be shown the lawmaking branch of government. As a corollary to this proposition, many provisions were included which dealt with special problems of that particular time, but failing to have a just regard to the future of a greater California. Again, the constitution has been amended so many times—running into hundreds—as to earn the characterization of "a crazy quilt of direct legislation;" as an orderly organic document it has been pronounced well-nigh "void and without form." Finally, it contains many dead-letter provisions, which inevitably make for a lessening of respect not only for itself, but for all law.

Viewing these and other defects and shortcomings of our fundamental law, Gov. Young said, in his biennial message;

"Our State Constitution is described by students of government as one of the worst in form in the Union, because of its total lack of comprehensive planning and the necessity of constant changes based on immediate expediency. If we are to treat fairly the California of tomorrow, we must cease tampering with one section after another and seriously study the constitution as a whole in the light of the new conditions that face us."

Obviously the desideratum is a new but brief and orderly document of fundamental principles, embodying such concepts and ideas as the modern commonwealth demands. It must be advanced, liberal and genuinely democratic; enlightened in all its provisions, exalting the best political and jurisprudential philosophy.

Preceding any actual call for a third constitutional convention—even anticipating the report of the Governor's commission—the electorate of the State must be brought to a realization of the need and some appreciation of the importance of so consequential a project. It would not be possible for any body of delegates, however intelligent, to sit together and bring forth an ideal constitution unless first they were motivated by a high and noble purpose and prepared by long and sympathetic study of the past history and present needs of their State, then upheld and sustained by an awakened and prepared citizenry throughout the State.

Let there be inaugurated, therefore, an educational campaign of State-wide scope, which shall reveal the need of the hour and assist in molding and crystallizing the consensus of sentiment relative to outstanding features of a new fundamental law. In due time—but not with undue haste—let there be the call for election of delegates to whom the sovereign people shall commit the exalted task of framing the third and greatest constitution of California, Empire State of the Pacific.

WHERE CAN I LEARN

Jewelry Manufacture?

BY LOUISE L. TEMPLE

[Prepared in co-operation with the Los Angeles evening high schools. Questions concerning free evening classes will be answered if stamped addressed envelope is inclosed. Address Louise L. Temple, care of The Times.]

On September 3 the Frank Wiggins Trade Evening School, Venice Boulevard, between Hill street and Grand avenue, plans to begin a course for jewelers who wish to perfect themselves in their trade. By attending evening classes they may advance themselves from an apprentice position, paying about $12 a week to a position paying $30 a week.

Designing is a great help to a jeweler. This art can be learned in about three years of study, if the student attends three evenings of school a week. No set time can be stated, however, because everything depends on the aptitude and application of the student.

When design is mastered, the jeweler becomes a first-class platinum worker, at $2.50 an hour.

The teacher and hours for this class have not been decided yet. There is no charge for instruction, but there is an enrollment fee of $1, payable once each semester.

SONG OF THE MERCED RIVER

I came singing from the mountains,
From the hilltops far away,
Leaping over cliffs and boulders
In my journey toward the bay;
For my heart was so exultant
With the beauty of the earth,
That I long to tell in music
Of the place that gave me birth.

Of the snow in which I slumbered
Through the winter's silent night,
And the giant pines that whispered
Constantly of their delight;
As I came with gliding measures
To the canyon's outer grim,
Where a rainbow arched its colors
And a vale showed cool and dim.

Tumbling down toward the meadows
I gave voice with fullest throat!
To Yosemite who answered
With a deep and echoed note!
And the soft Aeolian breezes
In the branches of the trees,
Seemed to mingle with the cadence
Of a reed-flute's vibrant keys.

So rejoicing in my birthright
I flow down to meet the sea,
Through the lowlands and the meadows
Where the song birds call to me;
Wishful that my cooling waters
Born where snow and wind were wed,
Should fulfill their needful mission
For is not my name Merced?

Grade Crossings on the Increase

Despite the great number of grade crossing accidents and the occasional elimination of this menace, the number of grade crossings in this country is increasing at an alarming rate. In 1927, reports to the Interstate Commerce Commission showed 236,283 highway grade crossings, an increase of 1125 compared with 1926, and 2582 compared with 1925.

SOCIETY

BY JUANA NEAL LEVY

Word has just been received from John Bole McCandless and William Percy, two Los Angeles students who are traveling in Europe this summer, that they are motoring through France, Italy and Switzerland, and are enjoying everything they see immensely. They will reach England the latter part of the month and will spend a month or more there, stopping for part of the time with Mr. Percy's relatives, many of whom reside in London and its environs.

George C. Brock has returned to Paris from Carcassonne, France.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Pike have crossed to Europe aboard the French liner Paris from New York.

Miss Edna Addison has arrived in Paris from New York and is stopping at the Hotel Saint-James et d'Albany.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Cohn, well known in California art circles, are devoting their attention during their stay in Berlin to a study of German theater conditions. They have pursued a similar study in Vienna and after finishing in Berlin, will have a look at the French stage in Paris. While in Berlin, they are staying at the Hotel Adlon.

Mrs. Isaac Milbank and Mrs. Catherine Pechan, who are visiting in Italy, have been staying at the Excelsior Hotel in Rapallo.

Mrs. H. N. Haggerty has been in Venice for the season there, staying at the Grand Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Leyden of Hollywood have been visiting in Berlin as guests of the Hotel Bristol.

E. T. Heyden and family of Hollywood, also traveling in Germany, were recent visitors to Dresden, where they stopped at the Europahof.

Recent guests of the Hotel Bayerischer in Munich, Germany, include Stephen Hurst.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank McCoy have arrived at the Hotel George V. in Paris from London.

Miss Mary C. Mixon is in Lucerne, Switzerland, for the summer season, staying at the Hotel Beau-rivage. Robert B. Selander is a guest of the same hotel, where other California guests include Miss Cora M. Upton and Mrs. Margaret Howe of Pasadena and Miss D. O. Mackenzie and Miss M. E. Mackenzie of San Jose.

By a coincidence the two California aviators, Chet Loomis and Ross Haldy, who are making a flying tour of Europe, arrived at the Waalhaven airdrome the day before the opening of the Rotterdam Air Club's second air tournament. This tournament had the largest number of entries of any air meet ever held in Europe. One-half of the competitors were British airmen. Mr. Loomis and Mr. Haldy, although unable to take part in the events, followed the flight around Holland with thirty-four other aviators.

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Coleman of Santa Barbara have arrived in London and taken an apartment in Dalmeny Court, Piccadilly.

Morris Cohn, who has been traveling in Germany, was a recent visitor to Dresden, where he registered at the Hotel Bellevue.

Mrs. N. M. Richardson is in Lausanne, Switzerland, stopping at the Lausanne-Palace Hotel.

Mrs. Irving Wright and Miss Katherine Wright of Santa Barbara have gone to London after a stay in Paris and are now at the Carlton Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Rose of Beverly Hills, who have been passing the last two months in the Scandinavian countries, are now in Paris stopping at the Hotel Metropolitan. After touring the British Isles they will go to Carlsbad, Czecho-Slovakia. They will return to the United States September 26 on the liner Statendam.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sears have returned from a stay in Switzerland and are at the Hotel de Crillon in Paris.

A. F. Reveney, journalist, is in Europe gathering material for a series of stories and articles. He is at present in Berlin at the Hotel Adlon, where other California guests include Miss Rose Jeffrie and Albert Reiss of Los Angeles; Louis Upright of Hollywood and Thomas Hamilton and family of Beverly Hills. Dr. Albert W. Wilson is at the Central Hotel in Berlin.

Mr. and Mrs. Brooks Jenkins have returned to Paris after a tour of Italy. They are at the Hotel Continental.

Rev. John M. Hogarty and Rev. William O'Donnell, who have been in Lucerne, Switzerland have arrived in Paris for a short sojourn and are staying at the Chateau Frontenac.

Mrs. Phillip Louis Wilson and her daughter, Miss Catherine Wilson are at the Hotel Regina et du Golf in Biarritz, France. They have been motoring through Italy and France and will continue their trip, going to the British Isles and then sailing home aboard the liner Carinthia September 1.

Miss Elizabeth H. Packard of Santa Barbara has arrived in Paris from London and is at the Hotel Lotti.

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Wylie and Miss Mollie Adelia Brown were passengers aboard the White Star liner Homeric on its most recent crossing from New York to Cherbourg.

The summer season in St. Moritz, Switzerland, is drawing an unusually large number of American visitors this year, among those from California being Mr. and Mrs. Eugene B. Price of Pasadena, who are staying at the Suvretta House.

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Coleman of Santa Barbara, have gone to London for several weeks and are stopping at Dalmeny Court, Piccadilly.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

All Prepared

A bottle of pure lemon juice in the refrigerator comes in very handy these warm days, when company comes in hot and tired. Lemonade is a matter of a minute.

Will Serve Two Extra

A cup of boiled rice added to the meat loaf will make it moist, add in amount and make it interesting. It is a fine way to increase the size of the loaf should unexpected company arrive.

Rinsed First

It is a good habit to get into to rinse out the saucepan before using, even if you did put it away absolutely clean. An occasional mouse or bug may have passed its way since you washed it and a rinse out in hot water takes but a minute and will do away with any feeling of contamination.

Privacy

If the youngster is interested in birds and wishes to have a bird house, limit him to one house. Birds like privacy during the incubating and brooding and are impatient if bird neighbors are too near. Usually you will find only one bird house occupied if several are placed close together.

Examination for County Rangers to be Wednesday

F. E. Wadsworth, superintendent of county recreation camps and playgrounds, will hold an examination for rangers to be employed at county parks at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday at Room 1002, Hall of Records, it was announced yesterday.

The successful applicants will be employed to patrol and police parks, put out fires and give educational talks to visitors on minerals, woodcraft and wild life in the parks.

Age limits for applicants are 21 to 45 years, and educational requirements are two years in high school and one year in a recognized school of forestry. Six months' employment as a forest ranger is required. Rangers are paid $140 a month and maintenance, but must provide and feed a horse.

HEALTH and DIET ADVICE

By Dr. Frank McCoy
author of "The Fast Way to Health"

STAMMERING AND STUTTERING

Stammering has an unfortunate effect upon the personality and character out of all proportion to the speech defect, itself. A child so affected will usually be mentally retarded or at least seem so. He will be backward and shy, and show antisocial characteristics and will have a tendency toward an inferiority complex. The ridicule and giggles of his school companions only add to an embarrassment that is already keen, and such a child is to be pitied when he is called upon to recite and tries his best to do so, only to be unable to correctly enunciate his sentences.

Stammering children often appear to be stupid and backward, when actually they may have brilliant qualifications. All scolding and teasing at home should be carefully avoided, and sympathy and understanding substituted.

It is generally admitted that imitation plays an important part in the habit of stammering. The fact that the child hears its parents stutter and imitates, will tend to make him a stammerer, too.

It is interesting to note that at least 85 per cent of all children who stammer are boys. It is also interesting to note that many who stammer while talking can sing without the least impediment.

Stammering is usually the effect of a neurosis, and all stammerers are highly impressionable, nervous, excitable children who will stammer more during emotional excitement than they do ordinarily. Their trouble is worse particularly in social gatherings, where they would most like to shine, and they retire, covered with defeat and laughter.

Teachers should give these unfortunate children the most careful attention and consideration. Unfortunately, teachers are sometimes so rushed with work that they may not have the time to understand the youngster. The child may be blamed for not knowing, when he knows perfectly well, but would rather be marked as "dumb" than go through the ordeal of reciting when others of his classmates laugh at him.

We always find that stammerers are in a state of mental haste and anxiety, which only impedes them the more. Sometimes the victim can only stand still, being totally unable to say anything at all.

Most of these youngsters have trouble with words or sentences beginning with W, B, P, T and D, and they may have trouble with their own names, or difficulty only with the beginning of sentences; or, they may stand and hopelessly repeat syllables.

While stammering is usually a habit spasm of mental origin and capable of being overcome, there may be other causes such as adenoids, abnormalities of the uvula, or an enlargement of the tongue. A cleft palate or wrongly formed dental arch, a defective sense of hearing, or a nasal obstruction may all be contributing factors.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Diet in Low Blood Pressure)

Question: Mrs. F. G. R. asks: "Will you kindly advise proper diet for one with low blood pressure?"

Answer: One with low blood pressure should live on a well-balanced diet. No special foods are required, but simply good combinations, such as I suggest in my weekly menus. Increasing your physical exercise each day will do more than anything else to bring up your blood pressure.

(Milk)

Q.: Mrs. J. D. asks: "What is the matter with milk which after standing a week does not curdle but merely acquires a bad odor? Is pasteurized milk in any way more desirable than condensed milk?"

A.: I do not know what could be the trouble with the milk not curdling unless a preservative has been added to it. I would suggest that you take a sample of the milk to your local board of health and have it examined. Condensed and pasteurized milk are of about the same value. I usually recommend the raw certified milk.

(Dislocated Shoulder)

Q.: A. H. writes: "I am 19 years of age and want to take up boxing in order to help pay my way through school. About a year and a half ago I badly dislocated my left shoulder and am at present working at a trade that requires quite a bit of heavy lifting. Can anything be done to remedy this condition, and will a straight left jab throw the shoulder out of the socket again? The shoulder has been out of the socket on three different occasions before, being set by a physician, and I suffer from a numb feeling continually."

A.: Once a shoulder has become dislocated the ligaments remain stretched for a long time and it is very easy for the shoulder to become dislocated again. The best plan is to avoid the exercises of the joints which tend to dislocate the shoulder for at least a year. If this is impossible you may be able to strap your shoulder in some way with adhesive tape to protect it against the more severe strains.

GUIDING YOUR CHILD

CAMPING OUT

By Mrs. Agnes Lyne

Sally and Phyllis came running into the house fairly bursting with excitement.

"Oh, mother, what do you think we've found? The loveliest spot down by the brook. It's a pine grove and the ground is all red and springy with pine needles. We want to build a fireplace down there and cook our meals and sleep there, too, all by ourselves. May we?"

Mother went down to the brook and saw that the place was safe and lovely and within call of the house. "All right," she said. "Make a list of the things you need and you can get your camp all fixed before supper tonight."

The two girls built their fireplace of stones. Beneath the pines they placed two army cots and made camp. For a week they slept under the trees until rain drove them back to the house.

But during that week they had one of the happiest and most worthwhile experiences of their lives. They had the thrill of their first independent exploit. They learned not to be afraid of dark solitude under the quiet starry sky. They learned to know the friendly noises of the woods. They noticed and observed intimately things and creatures of whose existence they theretofore had been unaware. They learned to plan and share the tasks of their common undertaking without help from a grown-up.

If you have taken your children to the country this summer don't let them miss an experience which will make them so happy and which, at the same time, will do so much for them.

Let them make camp among the trees just out of sight of your house. Let them have a campfire where they may cook their own meals. Let them camp away from the house without question from you for days at a time. The experience will strengthen their growing independence and give them the exhilaration of authentic adventure.

Truck Speeders to be Curbed

Complaint that heavy trucks are speeding down the hill from Laurel Canyon, loaded with decomposed granite and shaking the windows in houses of North Fairfax avenue, led Supervisor Wright to seek relief for the suffering taxpayers.

Capt. Cannon, of the county motorcycle squad was asked to detail motorcycle officers to the area of abuse, which is located in West Hollywood, with orders to arrest all speeding truck drivers, and incidentally to check on overloads.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

BY MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope, forwarded to this office, will bring a personal reply.

This department offers leaflets on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, outfits for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb-sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, lime water, rupture, styes and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

IGNORE "TEMPERAMENT" AT FIVE MONTHS

Mrs. C. writes:

"Thank you so much for your feeding leaflet. It is wonderful and I am going to follow it all the way through. Are there any rules you can give me for making my child well-behaved? Honestly, it sickens me to see the way some children are allowed to behave. Some mothers think it is funny when children are impudent to older women and hit another child with anything that is handy.

"When my little girl gets old enough to realize that she needs spending money, her daddy and I are going to give her five cents a day. Then I intend to teach her to spend a little and save a little. We are going to give her small tasks to perform, if it is only putting her chair away and if she fails to do this she forfeits her pay. Is this a good plan, Mrs. Eldred? I am so anxious to make her a dear little girl, for I have seen so many of the other kind. We love her dearly as we lost our little boy and are trying our best to curb her displays of temper. She is only 5 months old. She eats her cereal from a spoon and drinks all water from a cup."

ANSWER

As I read your letter through, I had various visions of your daughter ranging from a child of 4 years to one of 6 or 7. It came as a real shock to discover that she is only 5 months old. "Her displays of temper" at this age are of relative unimportance and will be "curbed" if they are ignored. Don't let her think she is having a display of temper or that she profits by it, and she'll soon find such conduct useless.

There are no rules for good behavior. Children cannot be little models of deportment. They grow gradually, not all at once, and their behavior changes from year to year. If their "smartiness" is laughed at, they continue to be "smarty." If they find that people disapprove of what they are doing, they will soon end it (unless by so doing they get unusual attention.) A child imitates those about him and will show deference and respect to older persons if he observes that that is the sort of treatment older people always receive in his family. We often blame the child for conduct copied from the parents.

When the child arrives at the hitting stage, he soon finds himself isolated from his playmates or receives a smart rap from them in return. He soon abandons the habit. Children have a way of managing these things for themselves without much help from the grown-ups.

You are right to give the child an allowance, but not so generous a one. Five cents a week, then 10 and so on as the child's needs grow. An allowance should be inviolate. When the child is old enough for tasks he assumes their responsibility as his share toward keeping the house neat and comfortable. If paid for his tasks he'll soon begin escaping them, because money means less to him at this age than work. Just because he is older is excuse enough for giving the child some share of the household duties, not as a means of paying him money, but as a sign of his growing ability to bear larger responsibilities.

(Mrs. Eldred's leaflet on "Etiquette for Boys and Girls," containing suggested rules for conduct at mealtimes, etc., is available to any mother wishing it. Inclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope with each request.)

SARGENT'S RITES TO BE WEDNESDAY

Title Company President Will be Laid to Last Rest With Masonic Services

Last rites for Edwin W. Sargent, pioneer California authority on legal titles, who died Saturday, will be conducted at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday at the Masonic Temple, under auspices of the Southern California Lodge 278, of which he was a member.

Mr. Sargent, who was 81 years of age, had been active in the management of the Title Guarantee and Trust Company, and still was its president. He left his office at noon Saturday and was stricken shortly after he reached his home at 621 St. Paul street. Death followed a few hours later.

Prior to coming to Los Angeles, Mr. Sargent practiced law in Denison, Iowa, and Atchison, Kan. He was graduated from the University of Iowa in 1874, and came to Southern California in 1887. Shortly after his arrival he founded the Los Angeles Abstract Company. This enterprise was succeeded in 1895 by the Title Guarantee and Trust Company, with its founder continuing at its head.

Surviving Mr. Sargent, besides his widow, Mrs. Alma M. Sargent, are two step daughters, Mrs. E. B. Yoakum and Mrs. Ethlyn Jones, both of this city. The body will be placed in Forest Lawn Mausoleum.

STREET PLANS APPROVED

KHJ TO PRESENT "MUSIC EXPOSE"

Gretchen Garrett Soloist on KFI Program

BY DR. RALPH L. POWER

The Blue Monday Jamboree, over KHJ from 8 to 10 o'clock tonight, will "prove to fans that they do like classical music, even if they think they don't," says the staff of KFRC, which gives the broadcast.

The "musical expose" will go on to show that many of the greatest hits in popular music have had their foundation in the greatest of classics.

This will be one of the items on the radio bill tonight.

On other programs KFI calls attention to its 10 p.m. hour with the studio concert orchestra and Gretchen Garrett as soloist, and KMTR to its 10 o'clock hour, also with an orchestra, assisted by the male chorus in an "Hour on Broadway."

The Tin Pan Alley hour through KEJK at 9 p.m. will feature as guest singers Sig Bosley and Don Leverton, while KFWB between 8 and 10 p.m. will have Ray Bailey's instrumental sextet; Don Warner's dance orchestra; Tudor Williams, baritone; Jean Cowan, blues singer, and Vernon Rickard, tenor.

SPECIAL BREAKFAST CLUB PROGRAM SET

On Wednesday the Radio Trades Association will hold a joint meeting with the Breakfast Club at the Riverside Drive pavilion at 8 a.m. Gov. Young is scheduled as honor guest. Four local radio stations will combine in furnishing the entertainment, which will be broadcast via KFWB.

PRESSMAN MAKES GOOD IN COLLEGE

Gets Dental Degree After Years of Work in Which Were Few Idle Hours

Sixteen years ago Frank H. Abbott was graduated from the East First-street grammar school.

DR. FRANK H. ABBOTT

For nine years Abbott made his way in Los Angeles industry with the realization growing on him that he could not progress as he wanted to without further education. That realization evolved into a desire to be a dentist.

And today Abbott is a full-fledged dentist with a diploma from the University of Southern California Dental College and a license from the State Board of Dental Examiners. He graduated last June.

With his resolve to return to school, however, came the problem of completing four years' high school work and four years in the university. But Abbott obtained a job as night pressman on The Times, buckled down to work in day school and went through his high school, liberal arts and dental college courses all in seven years.

Despite his double duties in classroom and pressroom, Abbott made the S.C. freshman baseball team, and played ball for his social fraternity, Gamma Epsilon, his professional fraternity, Delta Sigma Delta, and the S.C. Dental College. He also was active in campus political circles and was looked on as an arbitrator for problems of younger students.

Valley Highway Repaving Need Told by Booster

Widening and repaving of the three-mile section of Valley Boulevard in Los Angeles, for which an ordinance of intention is to come before the Council this week, will greatly benefit this city and every community in the San Gabriel Valley, according to Myron J. Haig, executive secretary of the San Gabriel Valley Development Association.

Recent allocation of $80,000 by the county and $105,000 by the city toward the improvement cleared the way for completion of the city section of this major highway for which plans have been under preparation for more than a year, Haig said. The street is to be made seventy-two feet wide from curb to curb from a point near Lincoln Park to the Alhambra city limits.

"From Los Angeles to Riverside there are but three sections of Valley Boulevard which need improvement, one of them being the stretch within the city," Haig said. "Proceedings are under way for the paving of one of the two county sections and action will be taken on the other within a short time."

ASSERTED SLAYER OF BABY TO PLEAD TODAY

Accused of burning her 8-months-old baby to death on July 8, last, Mrs. Josephine Valenti is scheduled to appear before Superior Judge Aggeler today to enter her official plea to the charge. Mrs. Valenti has indicated that she may base her defense upon "temporary insanity," but the District Attorney's office will oppose this move, it was indicated yesterday.

WHITESIDE PLEASES IN SHEIK ROLE

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

Desert-sheiking, half forgotten sport of the make-believe, was merrily resumed by Walker Whiteside yesterday at the President Theater. The well-known stage actor appeared in "The Arabian," the melodrama by Gordon Kean, in which he starred some two or three seasons ago. It is his second production here with the Henry Duffy players, the preceding one having been "The Hindu."

In staging and costuming "The Arabian" lives up to its previous record as a very pictorial show. The opening act in a roof-top cafe in Cairo, and the remaining scenes in Abd-El Rey's tent in the Sahara project atmosphere sufficient unto the occasion. Whatever additional oriental paprika is needed, the accents and the Arabic words—or I presume they are Arabic—amply supply.

"The Arabian" is enliveningly hokumish, and chooses to be a bit satirical incidentally about the English soldiery, a theme of father love is tossed into the melee of its melodrama as a romantic and sentimental leaven. Our sheik in this is a bad man, but his heart is softened by the love for his daughter.

The desert chieftain Abd-El Rey is a very smart fellow—much too smart for his English adversaries. When they come into the desert in quest of a famous bandit of another name, he lies in wait for them and captures them. He also thwarts their scheme to escape. Later he plans to take them for a ride (figuratively speaking) in the early morning. Also he would torture the principal plotter turning him into a voiceless and misshapen figure of a man.

The aforesaid catastrophes are averted, but only in the nick of time, and the suspense is well maintained in the unfoldment. "The Arabian" has everything but the dash to the rescue, actually speaking, and that isn't so necessary that it's missed.

For lighter relief there are plenty of ironical and humorous lines alloted to Abd-El Rey, as impersonated by Mr. Whiteside. The audience enjoyed his digs at the conventions and customs of the more acutely civilized nations.

Whiteside is dominant in the play, and pleasantly so. He is at his best in assuming an exotic character of this type. He manages to make "The Arabian" popularly entertaining.

Of his aides the most worthy of praise is Franc Hale, who seized upon whatever emotional opportunities her role offered, and gave them a spirited rendering. She was notably good in the scenes where she is endeavoring to protect the British captives.

There are a very large number of people in the cast, and roles efficaciously done include those played by Charles Penman, as Capt. Fenway; Carl Vose as Bacca, Charles Coleman, Paul McGrath, Irving White, Donelda Currie and others.

"Zarathustra" Proves Event of Interest

Resumption of orchestral concerts Saturday evening at the Hollywood Bowl served to introduce Richard Strauss's "Thus Spake Zarathustra" for its first hearing locally. Eugene Goossens conducted this celebrated tone poem as the final number of the program, which included the Symphony in E Minor by Sibelius and the "Rosamunde" overture by Schubert. These numbers were originally to have been played Tuesday evening.

"Zarathustra" is one of the most complex of Strauss works for orchestra—a difficult composition to give on any occasion, and more difficult necessarily when presented with brief opportunity for rehearsal. Due allowance must consequently be made for minor defects, but the instrumental ensemble on this occasion seemed decidedly on their mettle and offered a rendition that was in many respects interesting, and to a high degree satisfying. To the quiet close of the tone poem might the rather reserved reception be attributed.

Nowhere in "Zarathustra" is Strauss more impressive than at the very beginning. Here the vigorous phrases of belief seem to rise to a greater height than any of the moody musical introspections that follow. In its latter portion particularly the tone poem seems to reach the peaks of vagueness, culminating in the final episode of the "Song of the Night Wanderer."

"Zarathustra" derives its impetus from a work of poetic and philosophic frency by Nietsche, and assumes to be a musical reaction to its effect. There are eight different moods, variously described as "Of Joys and Passions," "Grave Song," "Of Science," "The Convalescent," "The Dance Song," etc. The most striking on this initial presentation were, besides the opening passages, the ardent moments of the section dedicated to "The Great Longing" and "Joys and Passions." The "Of Science" furnished a very interesting fugal movement. "The Dance Song" seemed less effective by contrast to these.

Excellent in quality were the "Symphony by Sibelius" and the "Rosamunde." The orchestra especially entered with marked vigor into the playing of the more rapid movements of the symphony. The work is distinguished by its demands for primitive power, which were well met in this instance. Approval for the work was enthusiastically given by the audience.

HE'LL BE KEPT BUSY

Cyril Chadwick, former New York stage actor, and now playing Trent in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's filmization of "The Thirteenth Chair," is going to be a champion commuter after this picture. He has a stage engagement in New York and has promised to do two roles in pictures. He will work in the theater at night and in a New York studio by day, take a hurried trip to California for another picture and then return to New York.

NEW GANG WAR FILM APPEARS

Step easy, for "Kid Gloves" is in control of the Hillstreet. He must be handled with care, but is withal a big-hearted, regular fellow, as everyone in the cast will tell you. The Kid, a Warner Brothers' highjacker, is none other than the silver-tongued Conrad Nagel. He lives in Chicago and helps out with any extra shooting. His story presents no novelty in the gang war situation. To get down to the good points, the plot must be disregarded. That is but an accumulation of the big moments in melodrama. Knit together and made something of by Nagel, Lois Wilson, Edna Murphy and Tom Dugan, they constitute average entertainment. Miss Murphy, in fact, has the best opportunity presented to her in some time, and she takes it. Neither Mr. Nagel nor Miss Wilson has anything outstanding to accomplish, but they extract all that is possible from their material.

On a five minutes' acquaintance, the Kid and Lois are married, a trick of a brother gunman who stands ready with artillery. Reformed after the ceremony, the Kid becomes a tired business man on the level. Believing Lois is about to throw him over for a former love, he yields to one more "deal." It turns out to be a frame-up by his erstwhile associates. Five of them fire point blank and miss him. It is then up to the Kid to unravel a tangle of complications and clean up the city. A rather long process, but he brings to it an enviable nonchalance and is helped by the final discovery that Lois loves him.

The talking sequences are brightened by a profusion of snappy comebacks now associated with the underworld. They are handled well. There are several lapses into silence, but these are covered throughout by the theme song.

A really entertaining bill is headed by the Skyscrapers, supplying comedy high lights. In spite of the heat, the tempo is kept at high speed. Music, song and dance are executed with skill and variety by the company. The stars, supported by twenty-five entertainers, are Jack and Kay Spangler, Buddy Paige and Cooper and Clifton. The last team, large and small, is seen in a very amusing burlesque on the popular equilibrist act. Their rough and tumble is not without dexterity.

Warner Picture Brings Horton in Comic Role

Edward Everett Horton, popular comedian of both stage and screen, will be seen at Warner Brothers Theater today in "The Hottentot," a Warner Brothers Vitaphone production, adapted to the screen by Harvey Thew, from the stage success of the same name, written by William Collier and Victor Mapes.

In this well-known racing play all the glamour of the steeplechase and the fascination of watching trained and spirited horses forging to the front are brought to the screen with sound and dialogue. Horton plays the leading role, one that he has had many times on the stage.

He takes the part of Sam Harrington, a man with a terrific fear of horses, never having the courage to mount one, but who is forced to ride a fierce, untamed horse called "The Hottentot" in a steeplechase in order to win the hand of the girl he loves. The cast also includes Patsy Ruth Miller, Edmund Breese, Edward Earle, Stanley Taylor and others.

"Masquerader" Starts Tonight at Playhouse

Guy Bates Post, the noted actor, will appear as guest star with the Henry Duffy Players at the Hollywood Playhouse in "The Masquerader," starting tonight. This attraction will bring to the Playhouse one of the foremost of stage stars in his most popular success. Post starred for five seasons in this country in "The Masquerader" and has presented it twice in Australia and in New Zealand, Tasmania and South Africa.

Dramatized from the novel of the same name by Katherine Cecil Thurston, "The Masquerader" is the unusual and absorbing story of two distant cousins who look exactly alike and who meet for the first time, by chance, in a London fog. One is John Chilcote, a brilliant Parliamentarian, whose mind has become clouded by drugs and who has alienated his friends and estranged his wife. The other is John Loder, a penniless writer. Circumstances cause the men to change places.

ACTRESS IS ON TOUR

Catherine Dale Owen is touring California. Miss Owen, who recently completed the feminine lead opposite John Gilbert in "Olympia," is remaining in the West. It will be several weeks before her next assignment is ready and during that time the actress is having a glorious time visiting places of interest throughout the State. "I have been west only once before," she said, "and that was on a hasty trip when I had no time to get away from Hollywood." She will return in two weeks.

REPERTOIRE OF YIDDISH ACTOR ENDS

Maurice Schwartz and Art Players Present "Great Fortune"

BY JACOB COOPER

As a parting gift to their audience, the Yiddish Art Theater Players presented another highly delightful evening of mirth last night at the Biltmore Theater in the form of "The Great Fortune," the third of Sholom Aleichem's comedies to be seen this week. Punctuated by applause and peals of laughter, this play met with a reception that indicated not only the delight of the audience, but also carried an undertone or regret that these artists have come to the conclusion of a repertoire of plays presented in the Yiddish language, the quality of which is the very highest to be seen on the Pacific Coast.

Maurice Schwartz, director and star of the company, has shown a rare ability and versatility in stage craftsmanship which was visibly appreciated by his audience. From all indications, any future appearance of this company will be met with enthusiasm.

It seemed as though the cast were intent last night on giving the very best for the last performance. Maurice Schwartz was highly delightful in the role of the tailor who became suddenly rich through winning the grand prize in a lottery, only to find himself poor after a brief fling, when it is discovered that there was a mistake in the winning number. Anna Appel, as his wife, gave another demonstration of what seems to be her finest characterization—that of a Jewish mother. Bertha Gersten as the daughter and Celia Adler as the flour dealer completed the female section of the cast, the latter drawing much applause through her deftness in a role which is unusual for her to assume.

Morris Strassberg has shown some fine work during the company's stay and last night again lived up to the standard he had set for himself. Morris Silberkasten, as the matchmaker, added to the humor in the same type of character which made him outstanding in "The God of Vengeance." The two whimsical apprentices of the tailor were portrayed by Lazar Freed and Anatol Winogradoff who gave consummate interpretations, the latter being seen to the best advantage.

With the repertoire over, it would be hard to decide whether comedy or tragedy proves the better vehicle for this troupe. They are truly artists, and as such, are well gifted in both.

"DISRAELI" FINISHED

Joan Bennett has completed her role in "Disraeli," George Arliss' second starring vehicle for Warner Brothers. Within the next few days Miss Bennett will begin her new picture, "The Mississippi Gambler," for Universal, in which she will essay the leading feminine role opposite Joseph Schildkraut.

GILDA GRAY GYRATIONS BEGUILING

BY MURIEL BABCOCK

Some years ago, a dancer by the name of Gilda Gray, sky-rocketed into the lime-light with a wicked, twisting dance known by the none-too-polite name of the "shimmy."

Since the day when the blaze of notoriety and publicity centered about her person and her astonishing gyrations on the dance floor, there have been other agile-bodied performers who have sought to emulate her fantastic movements.

But there never has been one in any degree like the individualistic Miss Gray.

Which is by way of foreword to saying that "Gilda of the Shimmy"—none other—is at the Orpheum this week with a full repertoire of dances, not classic ones, despite their high-sounding titles.

In fact, Miss Gray is the show at the Orpheum this week. A fair-to-middling summer bill of entertainment, with a scant few bright moments, is seen in accompaniment.

Her act, which occupies the choice spot, just before the intermission, is pretentiously mounted, and brightly cast. There are eight personable young misses in the chorus line and there are two clever solo dancers, Helene Denison and Everett Lielan seen performing imaginatively and expertly in a "Harlequin and Columbine" and an "Italian Tarantella" number.

Miss Gray herself does something she has chosen to call "Broadway Rhythm," then the "Dance Orientale" and finally the "Beale-street Blues." As far as one could judge, they seemed but opportunities for her to execute in variations the "shimmy" movement.

Now there were among members of the audience those who had seen her in seasons gone by who lamented sadly that some of the old-time verve and sparkle was missing. I never happened to have seen her in person before. I thought the performance amazing.

From Edith Evans, a popular recording artist, who has as her accompanist, the shock-headed and grinning cowboy, Ray Mayer, came "Am I Blue," "If You Believe in Me" (new) and "Side By Side." This pair, seen here not many weeks ago, were well received.

Joe Laurie, Jr., and William Kent compete for comedy honors. Laurie does an informal "kidding" act, sprinkled plentifully with stories, puns and wisecracks. Occasionally, he struck ore. For one thing, he referred to cafeterias as "a form of pedestrianism." Kent stars in a comic playlet, "My Little Hubby," in which he impersonates a gentleman who staggers genially home very, very tardily with "that's my story and I'll stick to it."

The Brianis, Walter and Paul, bring again their slapstick version of "The Dream of a Moving Man." Jack Carter is an English comic, known perhaps to followers of radio programs, the McDonald Trio perform on bicycles, and Alice and Sonny Lamont cavort on the trapeze wire.

FORMER MINSTREL MAKES FILM DEBUT

Eddie Leonard Heads Cast of "Melody Lane," Current Pantages Film

"Melody Lane," another backstage talking film with music, song and the usual choked sobs from the audience, is greeting Pantages patrons this week. Eddie Leonard, called rightly the dean of minstrels, is featured and favors with some of his noted ditties and dances in the Universal production. The remainder of the picture, the plot and the supporting cast, are quite incidental to the aforementioned personage.

As a figurative carbon copy of sundry other films which have appeared from time to time, "Melody Lane" manages to quite acceptably fill the audience's desire for heartaches, for again the precocious child is in a very grave condition and again the show must go on. Only this time the child is brought back to health by the father's singing, while the mother is the trouper.

Leonard takes the role as the three-a-day gentleman while Josephine Dunn is the wife who leaves her husband for better things, taking the child, of course. The stage minstrel exerts a great effort to portray the character in the orthodox manner, and succeeds fairly well. His appearance in black-face brings memories of his former efforts on the stage and saves the film from the doldrums of a weak plot.

Miss Dunn carries on in her usual acceptable manner, although her part makes her merely a foil for Leonard. Huntley Gordon and George E. Stone fill minor roles pleasingly.

The direction of Robert Hill is all that can be expected with the story material of the film. The tempo of the piece is rapid, except in the scenes with the dying child, and the recording, except for a few minor spots, registers very well.

Two acts, Billy Fields and Company, and Marget Morel with Hart Osborne and girls, lead the vaudeville at the Pantages. Fields offers "A Night in Greenwich Village" with himself as the leading light. Smart patter and clowning constitute the main efforts. The Osborne girls and Marget Morel are seen and heard in acceptable dances and songs.

Relli and Lopell offer a strong-arm act which evokes the acclaim of the audience, while Levan and Bernie dance well and Lane and Lee offer a skit to close the entertaining show.

"BELLS BUZZ" AT WESTLAKE

Eddie Gribbon and Andy Clyde are seen and heard at the Westlake in "Bells Buzz," a Mack Sennett all-talking comedy, which is being shown in conjunction with "A Man's Man." William Haines is starred in "A Man's Man," essaying the role of a soda clerk who learns that before he can be a "ladies' man" he must first be a "man's man." Josephine Dunn plays opposite the star for the first time since "Excess Baggage." Starting Monday, Douglas Fairbanks will be seen in "The Iron Mask," his latest starring vehicle, which provides audiences "with further adventures of the Three Musketeers." "The Iron Mask" will show for four days.

YOUNG ARGONAUT GETS NAUGHT

But 9-Year-Old Boy's Trek From Santa Monica to San Diego in Hunt for Gold Mine Proves His Desire to Aid Family, Anyway

Just digging holes in sand and finding nothing but more sand somehow lost its attractions for 9-year-old Richard Gettys, who has been a summer colonist at Santa Monica with his parents. And when Richard heard his father complaining about the high cost of living, the terrors of the new tariff, and the cost of new automobiles, the lad took his own hoard of $7 and his own desire for digging down San Diego way.

He disappeared three days ago and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Gettys of Pacific Palisades frantically sought the aid of the Sawtelle police in the search for their missing heir. Yesterday the San Diego police found the boy, determined, and with $5 of his original roll, searching for gold. Richard told the unromantic San Diego officers he wanted to find a gold mine, something in the way of a bonanza.

His father is on the way to San Diego, but took care to telephone police there to tell his son that if he finds any good, likely looking prospects, he'll help him hunt.

Knowing that God will guide you, and that neither you nor I will ever forget nor cease to cherish our deep personal affection for each other, I therefore humbly offer my resignation as pastor of Plymouth Church, to take effect at such time as a Congregational meeting may determine."

POWER AND GLORY OF LOVE PREACHED

"The Epistles of St. John" is the subject of a sermon preached yesterday by Swami Dhirananda at the Figueroa Playhouse. Excerpts from the discourse follow:

"The Apostle who alone leaned on the bosom of Jesus at the Last Supper, one who was too modest to mention his own name, referring to himself simply as 'one' that Jesus loved, one who at the crucifixion time when love was put to the hardest test and found victorious, was intrusted by Jesus with the care of His loving mother, who raised and surrounded Him with all the love she had—it is not surprising that the Apostle is the only one who should write and stress in his epistles that 'God is love and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him.' True, John was a mystic, but his mysticism was steeped in the nectar of love, love that draws everything to one invisible center of creation, love that 'casteth out fear' and is not a passion for 'the things of the world.' It is that love by which God inhabits and rules this universe. It is the law of attraction in science, brotherliness in human contact and intuition in spiritual psychology. Its travesty is selfishness and its mockery is lust. Jealousy and anger arise when that love is immature. Nationally, its total absence is war, its presence is millennium. Its face is peace and its message is healing."

CHRISTIAND SCIENTISTS USE LOVE AS THEME

Paul's prayer for the Thessalonians, "The Lord direct your hearts into the love of God, and into the patient waiting for Christ," constituted the golden text in the lesson-sermon on "Love," yesterday in all Christian Science Churches, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston.

Among the scriptural citations in the lesson-sermon were these verses from the first epistle of John: "Beloved, let us love one another; for love is of God; and every one that loveth is born of God, and knoweth God. He that loveth not knoweth not God; for God is love . . . And we have known and believed the love that God hath to us. God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him."

Mrs. Eddy's approbation of John's definition of God was indicated in a correlative passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures:" 'God is Love.' More than this we cannot ask, higher we cannot look, farther we cannot go."

DESIRABLE THINGS GAINED ONLY BY WORK

Dr. E. E. Thomas spoke to members of the Universal Order of Ancient Mysteries at Music Art Studio Building yesterday on the subject, "Mental Attraction." Dr. Thomas said, in part:

"Nearly the whole question of occultism is to wisely deal with those spiritual forces within ourselves which spring from the law of attraction. It is by dealing with such simple things as our thoughts, desires, hopes, aspirations, etc., that we get at the very root of the whole question. All desirable things are governed by the law of attraction. They will come to us to the extent that we earn them. We can earn them only by putting into operation the law of attraction within ourselves. There is no other method by which they can be obtained."

UNOBSERVED SINS HELD WORST ONES

"The unobserved sins which we imagine no one sees, waste our manhood and womanhood," declared Dr. J. George Dorn in his sermon yesterday at Hollywood Lutheran Church.

"Our hidden sins tell us what we are, and what we are is the secret of our influence," said Dr. Dorn. "What is done in secret shall be told upon the housetops. Moses looked east and west and when he saw no one he slew the Egyptian. Had someone noticed him, he would have curbed his passion. One onlooker who might have carried the news to the court and the blow that slew the Egyptian would have been stayed. There are multitudes to whom the smile of heaven means little but who would not forfeit for worlds the smile of men. There are many whom the fear of God cannot restrain who are yet restrained by the fear of human censure. Sin takes occasion of that disposition, whispers to men that they are unobserved, and so makes it easier to transgress. This is one of the dangers in our large cities. Where men and women think themselves unobserved the way of degradation is easy."

Police-Pension Applications Up Tomorrow

Applications of Capt. J. Frank Williams, who has served twenty years and five months on the police department, and Patrolman J. M. Level, who has served more than twenty years, for permission to retire on pensions will come up before the Police Commission for their approval tomorrow. The requests already have been given approval by Chief of Police Davis.

Dates will be set for hearings of a number of officers removed or suspended for various cases, and upon which action has been deferred by the commission from time to time for various reasons, such as absence of witnesses, inability of counsel to be present or continuances by the commission.

The dismissed officers seeking hearings include Harry O. Bates, Leslie P. Lemmer, Grover D. Stubbs, W. J. Jolin and Samuel G. Cope. Those suspended include Floyd E. Davis, William Homan, George James Hill, J. P. Donlan, Ted R. Wallace and W. J. Bost.

CHIROPRACTORS FAVOR COOL MALE ATTIRE

Los Angeles and Hollywood's recently found exponents of light, collarless suits for men may be invited to appear before the sixth annual convention of the National Progressive Chiropractic Association, which opens one week hence in the Los Angeles College of Chiropractic. Committeemen in charge of arrangements have gone on record as favoring the move for "sensible" male attire. Appointment of the local committee of arrangements resulted in the following line-up of preconvention workers: Drs. Charles H. Wood, Samuel J. Howell, Wilma Churchill Wood, Paul E. Stretch, W. L. Lynch, G. Henry Ford, Horace Clay, H. H. Reuss and W. A. Chalkin.

WHITEMAN FILM TO BE MADE THIS AUTUMN

"The King of Jazz," Universal's production starring Paul Whiteman and his orchestra, will be made this autumn, it was announced yesterday. It has been postponed until a more suitable story is found to fit Whiteman. Filming will be started not later than November 1. In the meantime Whiteman and his orchestra will tour the Pacific Coast.

CROSSING GRANTED

The Street Opening and Widening Committee has reported to the Council that the Santa Fe Railway has granted the city a crossing over its tracks in Slauson avenue to Denker avenue. The Council, therefore, has instructed the City Attorney to dismiss condemnation suits for the crossing.

TEACHES WESTERN MUSIC IN JAPAN

Miss Nobu Yoshida

PIANO WINS HEARTS OF JAPANESE

Tokio Music Instructor Says Jazz Popular There; Boys Whistle Classics

The influence of western music is being widely felt in the Japanese empire, Nobu Yoshida, pianist, Los Angeles visitor, declared yesterday. She arrived from Honolulu on the City of Los Angeles, having left Tokio July 5, last, on the Korea Maru. She is with her sister, Mrs. M. Hashimoto, 1947 Sawtelle Boulevard.

Miss Yoshida is a 1919 graduate of the Frank Damrosch Institute of Musical Art, of the Juilliard School, New York. After an advanced course she returned to Tokio, where she has been teaching piano. Among her pupils are many titled girls.

"In 1914, when I first came to this country," Miss Yoshida said, "almost the only pianos we had in Japan were to be found in some of the largest homes and schools. But today Japan has many pianos, and the Japanese people are learning to love western music without sacrificing their loyalty to their own native instruments and tunes.

WHISTLE CARMEN

"Today you will hear grocery delivery boys on the streets whistling airs from Carmen and Rigoletto. You will hear pianos in thousands of homes. And radios and phonographs, too, more and more of them each year. The ancient Japanese instruments, such as the koto, with its thirteen strings, are still in the homes, and the girls still learn to play the koto; but now most of our young girls and boys want to study western music. They like the piano, because on it they can play everything. On the koto they can play only koto music."

Miss Yoshida was amused when asked if the younger generation in Japan had been bitten by the "jazz bug."

"Yes, we have our jazz craze, too," she admitted. "The young Japanese like to dance, and although the government and some of the older and more old-fashioned people frown a bit—well, you know how it is with the younger generation everywhere. They simply will have their own tastes and their own way!

GALLI CURCI WELCOMED

"But the Japanese people are most eager for the best music. Last May Galli Curci was in Tokio and the theater was so packed during her three days there that she had to return for two matinees. Extra seats had to be installed. The Japanese people are so eager, and artists from Europe and America are visiting us more and more frequently.

"We have several fine symphony orchestras, including the one conducted by Hide Maro Konoye, younger brother of Prince Konoye, descendant of one of the oldest families and very close to the Emperor."

Miss Yoshida declares she is fascinated by Southern California; Los Angeles is "wonderful." In September she plans to go to New York for further advanced piano study. She will remain in New York until the spring, when she will return to Japan to resume musical instruction.

Liability Denied in Weed Fires

The City Attorney has rendered an opinion to the Council that there is no municipal liability in connection with the claim of F. D. Jackson for $100 damages, assertedly caused to his fruit trees and shrubs at 952 Dexter street by the engineering department's weed-cleaning crew. The matter was referred to the Finance Committee.

BOWERS FYING EAST

STREET WORK REJECTED

The Council has adopted a report of the Street Opening and Widening Committee recommending against the initiation of proceedings for the opening and extending of Twenty-third street from Alameda street to Long Beach Boulevard.

SECURITY-FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF LOS ANGELES RESOURCES 600 MILLIONS 1875

In Step with Progress

IN no region of the world is the development of business and industry more kaleidoscopic than in Los Angeles and Southern California.

The long and successful experience in banking which guides the management of Security-First National Bank is aided by continuous research.

This bank's Department of Research is equipped with very complete files and indices of business, agricultural, financial and industrial statistics of the area in which the Bank operates. Skilled economists, trained in bank research work, follow closely general business conditions, and changes on the whole local economic horizon.

The Bank thus seeks not only to protect itself and its customers against loss, but also to be in shape to travel safely with them along new lines.

The Bank shares these information-getting facilities with the community, making detailed investigations and reports, on request, for persons outside the Bank, on various questions of business, trade and industry.

'AIR DAREDEVIL COMES TO TOWN

Fighting Pilot-of-Fortune Tells Experiences

Has Silver Plate in Head and Shin-bone Kneecaps

"Red" Mohun Still Facing Federal Charge

Flying through three revolutions; landing at night in Mexico without flares and with 200 pounds of nitroglycerin aboard his antiquated plane; engaging an enemy pilot in an air duel with only an automatic pistol; and spinning to the ground with resulting injuries which were patched up with a silver plate in his head and a shin bone converted into two kneecaps.

PHILLIP MOHUN

Those are a few of the experiences "Red" Phillip Mohun, 27-year-old red-haired flyer, has crowded into the last three years of life.

But with all his hair-breadth escapes and the almost unbelievable details of his free-lance air fighting, "Red" still has his troubles.

FACES INDICTMENT

He arrived here yesterday from El Paso, Tex., where he will have to return next October to face a Federal indictment charging him with violation of the Neutrality Act prohibiting an American aiding an unfriendly nation against a friendly nation.

The specific charge which placed the flyer in the national spotlight with his arrest in Nogales, Ariz., last April by Department of Justice agents, grew out of flying planes from Phoenix, Ariz., across the Mexican border for use against Federal troops in the recent Mexican revolution.

While in Los Angeles, under personal-recognizance bond, Mohun will report each day to W. J. Gahan of the local Department of Justice office.

Since 1922 Mohun has spent most of his time in the air—and a good share of that at the controls of revolutionary combat planes. He went to China in 1926 and flew for the forces of Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek, crossed the Pacific Ocean again and joined as an aviator with the Liberals during the Nicaraguan strife.

While in Nicaragua Mohun's old-style combat plane went into a spin at 700 feet and it took all the skill Dr. Walter Earhart, chief surgeon of the United States Army Hospital at Ancon, Panama, to put "Red" back together again.

LONG IN HOSPITAL

Seven months in the hospital convinced Mohun that he belonged back in the United States and he got a job ferrying planes from Buffalo, N. Y., to Monterrey, Mex.

With peaceful intentions Mohun landed a new plane in Monterrey, but it was the day the revolution broke out so "Red" joined the Federals and on his fourth day as a bombing pilot at the controls of a commercial Stinson-Detrotter cabin plane wrote the first air duel into the pages of the Mexican revolution.

"I had two Mexican colonels in the cabin," Mohun said. "We flew over Torreon and the colonels had a fine time throwing home-made bombs out the door of the ship. Then suddenly another Stinson appeared below us. The pilot, whom I learned later was a man named Cardenas, was blazing away with a revolver.

CALLED IT DRAW

"We banked and slipped and did everything possible with those heavy commercial ships to get into position for a shot at each other. We both 'use' automatics until our ammunition gave out and called it a draw. My Stinson had bullet holes in the leading edge of one wing and several through the tail group.

"I decided that there really was a war on, so I took French leave of the Federals with the Stinson and flew north and joined the rebels under Gen. Escobar at Juarez. That's where I got my foot in it—bringing across new planes for the rebels.

"But I have two months before I have to go back to the border and I dropped in here to see Dick Grace, the old stunt pilot. So far I haven't been able to locate him."

ACTRESS LIKES FLYING

Miss Fay Bainter, stage actress who has just completed an engagement at San Francisco, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday to be a guest for a month at the home of Miss Ruth Chatterton at Malibu. She made the journey by Western Air Express airplane. "I am an enthusiast for airplane travel and the trip over California is of remarkable beauty," said Miss Bainter upon her arrival

BRITON HERE TO STAY AND BE CITIZEN

Count Hamon Tries for Forty Years to Become Naturalized American

For forty years Count Hamon, British yachtsman and scribe, has been trying to become an American.

COUNT HAMON

Yesterday the debonair Britisher held a citizenship declaration in his hand as he climbed down off the Dollar liner President Garfield and "inhaled the delicious aroma of his new homeland." The Countess is doing likewise.

Almost forty years ago he took out American citizenship papers, but went away to cover the Chinese-Japanese war and never got back to complete his patriotic obligations. Two years ago he and the Countess were here, hobnobbing with film royalty, and fell in love with the place.

They have sold their properties in London and are "coming out practically bare," they said, although a ship clerk recalled they have eighty or more pieces of luggage.

COUNTESS HAMON

Both are writers, the Countess's novel, "Outlawed for Love" being now in London book stalls, while, the Count contributes chiefly articles. He said, however, he is to participate in filming psychological subjects, such as the "Language of the Hand" now so popular in England. They will establish residence at Santa Monica for the present, but expect to set up a permanent abode near Hollywood.

FIGHT ON BEACH TAR RENEWED

Supervisor Shaw Today Will Propose Settling Tanks at Ports

Los Angeles county's long fight to prevent oil tankers discharging water ballast containing tarry residue that washes in on the beaches to the considerable annoyance of bathers will be resumed at a meeting of the County Board of Supervisors this morning, when Supervisor Shaw will ask for an ordinance he believes will put an end to the practice.

This ordinance will provide for settling basins at the local port, into which ships will be required by law to discharge their ballast. These basins have been installed in practically all European ports, it is said, and as a consequence there is no tar on English and continental beaches.

Supervisor Shaw's resolution will ask the County Counsel to prepare the ordinance, if it is legally possible, and will direct an inquiry concerning the cost of establishing the basins. It is believed that a considerable quantity of reclaimable petroleum products can be recovered from the water ballast, possibly enough to pay the cost of inspecting incoming ships to see that they do not discharge their ballast before making port.

If settling basins are too costly it has been suggested that receiving barges might be provided by the port authorities to receive the bilge water from the tanks. This could be run through the same process that the drainage water from Signal Hill and Santa Fe Springs oil fields is subjected to. Under county supervision this water is refined and the oil content salvaged at considerable profit.

WIDENING APPROVED

The Council has approved a report of the Street Opening and Widening Committee granting authority to the county to proceed with the widening of San Pedro street between Manchester avenue and One Hundred and Twenty-eighth street. The new street will be eighty feet wide.

PARKING ORDINANCE ASKED

On a report of the Traffic and Street Lighting Committee the Council has instructed the City Attorney to draw an amendment to the traffic ordinance providing for a one-hour parking limit in Sixth street between Kenmore and Mariposa avenues.

JUBILEE TO DRAW THRONG

Benefit Performance at Hollywood Bowl Brings Brisk Demand for Tickets

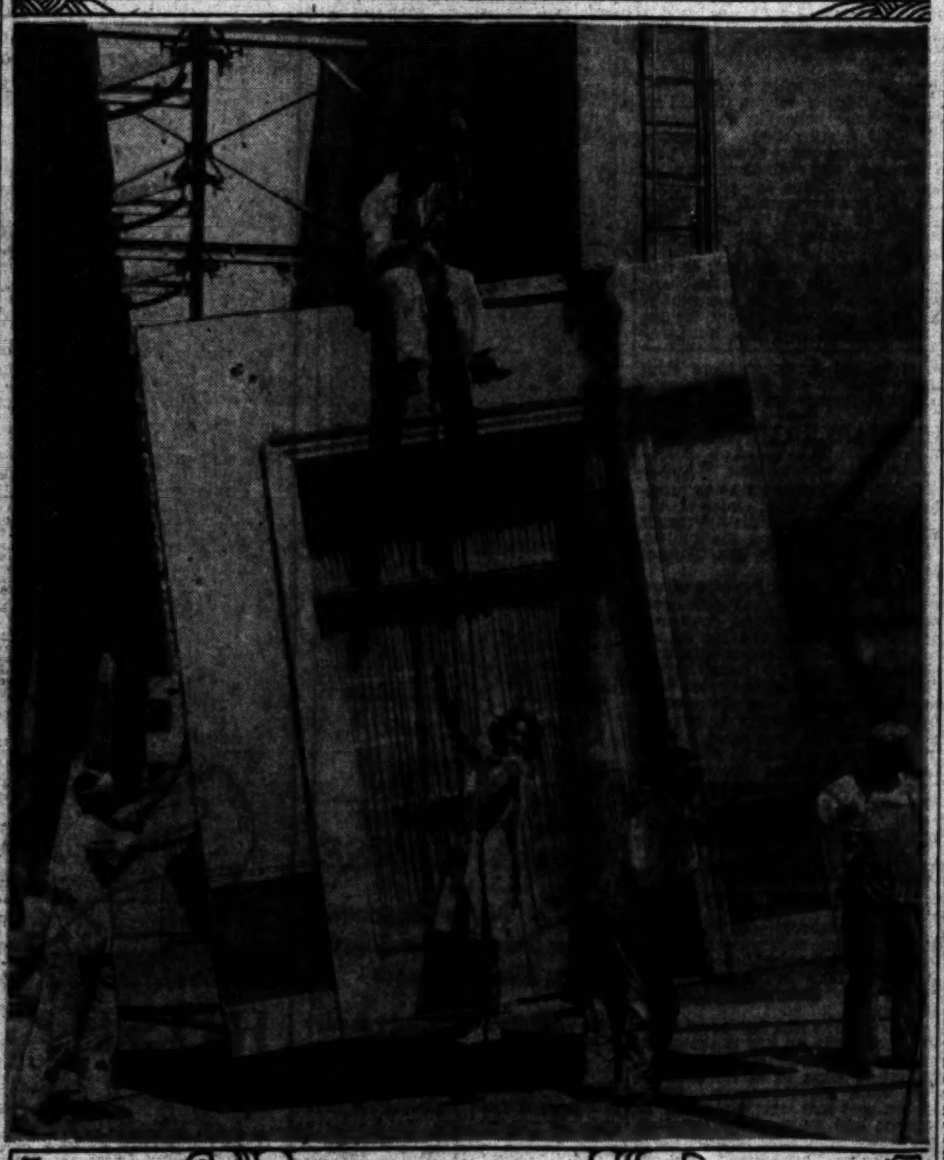
With but forty-eight hours remaining before the curtain goes up on the Hollywood midsummer jubilee performance at Hollywood Bowl, preparations are being made to handle efficiently what is predicted will be one of the largest crowds to turn out for a similar affair. A last-minute rush on the various box offices handling tickets for the Wednesday night show presages a complete sell-out of the huge amphitheater, it is announced. The sponsoring committee of the jubilee said last night that a large block of $1 seats will be placed on sale today as well as a number of box seats which have been held in reserve. The net proceeds of the entertainment is to be turned over to the Los Angeles Sanatorium at Duarte.

More than a score of musical-comedy stars, vaudeville headliners and an equal number of motion-picture celebrities as well as hundreds of instrumental and vocal musicians are contributing to the Jubilee program of entertainment. Such personalities as Marilyn Miller, Paul Whiteman, George Jessel, Fanny Brice, Gus Edwards, Winnie Lightner, Belle Baker, Dennis King, Frank Fay, Cliff Edwards, Elsie Janis, the Duncan Sisters, Marion Harris, James Hall and many others will appear.

Owing to the length of the program, Wednesday night's show will start promptly at 8:30 p.m. and will terminate before midnight. The Jubilee entertainment, which is separate and distinct from the regular Bowl concerts, will be presented one night only. Among the various motion-picture studios contributing to the testimonial performance are Warner Brothers, First National, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, Universal, Paramount and Fox. Tickets for the Jubilee are on sale at all of these studios as well as at the committee headquarters, 6382 Hollywood Boulevard.

OVERHEAD RAILWAY AIDS FILM WORK

Huge Sets Moved to and From Stages by New System



It's All Shifted With Minimum of Fuss

Workmen in studio transport scenic settings for picture and while the cars are running Lillian Roth decides she might as well go along for a ride.

An overhead set rail system two miles in length, is the newest time-saving device inaugurated in the motion-picture industry.

Such a system has just been completed at the Paramount Studios in Hollywood.

By use of it, large sets are easily and quickly transported from the carpenter shop to the various sound stages and back into storage buildings after a picture is completed.

In the past this work has been done by a corps of men working with trucks.

Now, as soon as a set is completed, a large chain is attached to it and the structure pushed by men or drawn by small tractors as the pulley slides along an overhead rail.

A series of switches along the route makes it possible to route the set to the desired stage.

TWO BRUSH FIRES SUBDUED

Flames at Glendora Threaten Houses and Groves; Autoists Help Fight Baldwin Park Blaze

Yesterday was K. P. Carter's busy day. Mr. Carter is assistant chief of the county fire patrol. Two large brush fires, both burning furiously at the same time and five miles apart, were the cause of his agitation.

At 9 o'clock last night both fires officially were reported extinguished. One at Glendora threatened ranch houses and orange groves and scorched more than 150 acres of brush before it was put out. One hundred men and two pieces of apparatus were employed

Before the Glendora blaze was under control another fire broke out at Baldwin Park. This was in the Bonita Park tract between Orange and Ivindale avenues. Two hundred and fifty autoists who had been stranded on the road by the blaze were impressed into service. Seventy-five fire fighters also went over from the San Bernardino hills station. The Los Angeles Fire Department also was summoned and several homes which had been threatened were saved.

Both fires were caused, it was reported, by autoists who were careless with matches or cigarette stubs, which were thrown in the dry grass near the roadside. The fires, although small, were stubborn and twice when it was thought they had been extinguished, they started afresh.

SQUIRREL HUNTER DIES FROM FOREST FIRE BURNS

SAN JOSE, Aug. 4. (Exclusive)—The fire that raged over 20,000 acres around Pacheco Pass during Saturday and Sunday, was brought under control late this afternoon by forest rangers under direction of Don King, chief ranger for Santa Clara county. The fire took one life, that of Ed Cooper, a professional squirrel hunter, and resulted in the issuance of warrants against seven deer hunters, whose camp fire is believed to have started the blaze.

In Cooper's work as a squirrel exterminator, he had been visiting ranches in the vicinity, pouring a fluid poison down squirrel holes. The compound, during his operations, saturated his clothing. As the fire approached, he mounted his horse and started to flee. A spark lighted his clothing and the chemical solution he had been using proved highly inflammable, and, a living torch, he rode frantically until he dropped, horribly burned, from his horse.

Cooper died this morning at a Gilroy hospital.

SCIENTISTS' NEW EDIFICE DEDICATED

Simple Service Conducted at Beverly Hills Church Built at Cost of $70,000

The reading of a brief dedicatory message comprised the simple ceremonies at three services marking the formal opening yesterday of the new First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Beverly Hills.

Although services hae been conducted in the $70,000 edifice since February 1, last, the church was not formally dedicated until financially clear.

A brief history of the church made up the dedication address, read before the morning, afternoon and evening services. Approximately 1000 attended the triple services.

It was pointed out in the pre-service messages that the church was founded on March 8, 1923, and purchased its present site at 142 South Rexford Drive in October, 1927.

Swiss Celebrate on Freedom Day

The 638th anniversary of the independence of Switzerland was celebrated yesterday by the local Swiss colony with a picnic at Rose Hill Park, South Pasadena, which was conducted by the Swiss Society Helvetia of Los Angeles.

In addition to patriotic speeches, the chief of which was delivered by Otto Wartenweiler, the local Swiss Consul, there were athletic contests, dancing and an entertainment program, including, of course, a group of yodelers under the leadership of J. Graf.

Officer Offers to Pay Alimony

Policeman James A. Houser will be glad to pay his wife, Minnie Houser, whom he has sued for divorce, $40 a month alimony if she will keep off his beat and stop pestering him, he told Superior Judge Schauer.

So Judge Schauer ordered the alimony payment, and told the defendant not to interfere with Policeman Houser in his work of protecting law-abiding citizens.

GIN POSSESSOR JAILED

Melvin McPherson, 29-year-old negro, must pay a fine of $1000 and spend 180 days in jail because he had a bottle of gin in his hand when Police Officers Lincoln and Smith entered a house at 1461 East Forty-ninth street. Municipal Judge Ambrose ordered after he had found McPherson guilty of possession of the liquor. The officers reported finding many empty bottles in the house. The sentence was imposed when Detective-Lieutenant Caldwell reported to Judge Ambrose that it was McPherson's fourth conviction for the same offense.

MEXICO AIR BOOSTERS START HOME

Visitors Pledge Help to Assure Success of New Pickwick Line Service

With the assurance given Los Angeles that the new triweekly mail, express and passenger service of Pickwick Latin-American Airways will stimulate greatly commercial intercourse between the Pacific Coast and Latin America, Augustin M. Soto, chief inspector of the Mexican Postoffice Department, and his deputy, Joaquin Malanco, took off yesterday morning from Grand Central Air Terminal in a Pickwick plane for Mexico City.

The two Mexican officials were the first northbound passengers on the new line. They were entertained here by F. A. Pesqueira, Mexican Consul, and Thomas E. Morgan and J. D. Watson, officials of the air line.

Although passengers are being carried between here and Mexico City on the present schedule and mail deliveries are being made between border points and the Mexican capital, official passenger and express service will be instituted on the 18th inst.

Fifty Waitresses Realize Secret Ambition When Studio Gates Open and They Appear in Film Being Made for National Restaurant Men's Association

The legend told to visitors to explain the high average of pulchritude of Los Angeles waitresses is that most of them came here to go into motion pictures and are toting dishes about only as a means of support until they can crash the studio gates. If that is a fact, dreams came true for about fifty waitresses last week, but in a somewhat unexpected manner—in fact, they found themselves ordered to become motion-picture actresses for a week.

It happened as the result of the idea of Sidney Hodemaker, vice-president of the National Restaurant Men's Association, that the best means of portraying the advantages of membership in this association to restaurant owners would be by means of a motion picture.

Accordingly it was planned to make a picture which primarily would contrast old-fashioned methods of running a restaurant and the ideal methods sponsored by the association. A plot was devised containing all the regulation elements of suspense, happy ending, and so on, and professional actors were engaged to portray leading roles.

And logically, then, it was natural to have real waitresses enacting the scenes in which waitresses were required. Therefore, the local restaurants each picked their prettiest waitresses and during the week fifty of them have had an opportunity to appear before the camera.

The professional cast is headed by Mary Carr and Sheldon Lewis and the director is Al Knight. The technical direction of the restaurant scenes is in the hands of Bernard Crombie, Pig'n Whistle executive. The picture has been titled "Soldiers of Service" and it will be released in October.

NEW INDUSTRY FOR CHILE SEEN

Envoy Predicts Great Fish Canning Development

Product Will be Shipped Via This Port, He Says

Official Party to Be Honored at Chinese Theater

Development of a gigantic fish-canning industry on the west coast of South America, with its products to be distributed through the port of Los Angeles, was predicted yesterday by Carlos Davila, Chilean Ambassador to the United States. He is visiting this city during the stay of a naval training ship of his country, now in the harbor.

"For countless ages," Ambassador Davila said, "the waters of the Pacific on the coast of Chile have been black with the South American anchovy. It is a small fish, about three inches long, and always has been a great delicacy of my own people.

"But more important, it has been the food of the millions of sea birds that in turn have produced the vast deposits of guano and, in past geological ages, the enormously valuable nitrate beds of Chile."

IN TOUCH WITH CONSULS

Ambassador Davila said that he has been in touch with the Consuls of his country in an effort to interest the leaders of the canning industry at Monterey and on Puget Sound in Washington, in the vast food resources of the Chilean seacoast.

"The South American anchovy is declared to have a much finer flavor than the European and is better adapted to packing purposes," the Ambassador continued. He also pointed to the wealth of the Chilean coast, as yet untouched, with its lobster shoals, oysters, and an almost endless variety of shellfish.

Los Angeles, Senor Davila said, is the logical American distributing point for the marine products of his country and he pointed out that while foreign shipments would be made direct from the ports of his own country, many of these also would be sent to this port for rerouting. He added that anyone who is familiar with the wealth produced in Alaska from its food fish and the value of similar products sent from Scandinavia would be able to appreciate the opportunity for the expansion of the fish-packing industry of Chile.

SHIPPING PROSPECT

The South American Steamship Company of Chile is looking with longing eyes on the West Coast of the United States, and undoubtedly will establish a line of passenger and freight carriers between Chile and this coast, according to Ambassador Davila.

"They already are making a survey of this field, with a view to establishing a service which will mean a ship here each month to start, more later," he declared.

That line already operates a similar service between Chile and the east coast of the United States.

STIMULUS TO TRADE

"It will be the greatest stimulus to trade that can come between this coast and Chile, which now maintain contacts chiefly by passenger vessels of other countries," he added.

Ambassador Davila said the trade center of the world rapidly is shifting to the Pacific, and he expects his country with 3000 miles of coastline and the United States with almost as much, to share bountifully in the development.

"In the last two or three years, Chile's trade with the United States West Coast has grown 80 per cent, or far more rapidly than any other trade in which Chile engages," he said. Chile now deals more with the United States than with any other country. It is true we sell you much more than we buy from you, but your exports to us are gaining amazingly.

POPULAR PRODUCTS

"More than 95 per cent of the motion-picture films and machines used in Chile are from the United States, and that percentage applies also to automobiles.

"Our demands, our habits, needs and outlook are almost identical with yours and the interchange of products and ideas is bound to increase manifold if contacts like better steamship services are afforded.

"Further, and I speak only for Chile, we trust the United States, its government and its people implicitly. We know you have no aspirations for territorial aggrandizement, and that we have nothing to fear, but we have much to gain from you in friendly co-operation."

VISITOR TO BE FETED AT THEATER TONIGHT

Honors will be paid to Carlos Davila, Chilean Ambassador to the United States, as a feted guest at tonight's presentation of the "Hollywood Revue of 1929" at Grauman's Chinese Theater. The Ambassador's staff of military and naval aides from Washington, and Capt. Eduardo Von Schroeder of the Chilean naval training ship Gen. Baquedano, also will be honored guests

A delegation of Latin-American film celebrities who will welcome the Chilean group will be headed by Mona Maris, Hollywood's only Argentine screen star. F. Valdineso Valdes, Chilean Consul in Los Angeles, will represent the former residents of Chile in extending greetings to the distinguished visitor. Many prominent residents of the southern republic are planning to attend the performance in tribute to their visiting countrymen.

In the way of a special compliment to the Ambassador, Harold B. Franklin, president of Fox-West Coast Theaters, Inc., has dedicated tonight's performance as Chilean night. The forecourt of the theater will be gaily decorated with Latin-American flags in tribute to the visitors.

PISTOL TEAM FUND ASKED

The Police Commission has transmitted to the Council a request for $1500 to defray the cost of sending the six men of the Los Angeles Police Department pistol team to Camp Perry, O., for the national pistol matches between the 21st inst. and September 1. The request was referred to the Finance Committee. The Los Angeles team is national police champions and were runners-up for the national open championship.

WRIGHT TO TAKE NEW JOB TODAY

He Will be Successor to Eugene Biscailuz as Undersheriff

R. H. (Harry) Wright, former chief deputy of the criminal department of the Sheriff's office, will take office today as Undersheriff to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Eugene W. Biscailuz, who recently was appointed chief of the California State Highway Motor Patrol by Gov. Young.

Frank Dewar, former county jailer, is to become chief of the Sheriff's criminal department, succeeding Wright.

Until his recent appointment Dewar was chief of the robbery investigation detail of the Sheriff's office. With his acceptance of the new appointment Sheriff Traeger yesterday announced that Howard Brooks will be appointed to head the detail formerly commanded by Dewar.

All of these appointments will be considered as temporary until the status of the appointees has been settled by the Los Angeles County Civil Service Commission, Sheriff Traeger declared.

Undersheriff Wright, it was revealed, has declined to accept his appointment permanently until the civil service status of the situation is definitely established. Consequently, he has merely accepted a leave of absence from his former position until the matter is positively settled.

But unless circumstances thus far unrevealed disrupt the situation Harry Wright will be the Undersheriff this morning, Dewar will be chief of the criminal department and Brooks will be captain of the robbery investigation detail.

PARTRIDGE TO FILL AD CLUB POST

New Managing Director Has Been Secretary of Business Association

Carl A. Bundy, president of the Advertising Club of Los Angeles, has announced the unanimous election by the board of directors of Frank H. Partridge to the managing directorship of the club to fill the vacancy created by the recent resignation of Arthur Lee.

FRANK H. PARTRIDGE

P. Battelle, secretary-treasurer of the club, is directing affairs while Mr. Partridge is arranging his affairs preparatory to leaving his position as secretary of the Downtown Business Men's Association.

Mr. Partridge is a native son of California. He was graduated at the University of Southern California, majoring in law, and continued his studies at Harvard University in the graduate school of business administration. He served during the World War as company and battalion commander in the Three Hundred Sixty-third Infantry, Ninety-first Division. After the Armistice he was ordered to the peace conference in Paris, where he was attached to the Department of State, serving first in the capacity of courier, then as chief of the Central European courier service and later as chief of the air section of the courier service. His work took him to all the major capitals of Europe.

Mrs. Belford on Visit Here

Enjoying her first vacation since her appointment in 1928, Mrs. Alberta Belford, member of the legal staff of Atty.-Gen. Webb, is in Los Angeles for a two weeks' visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Robertson, 1616½ West Eighth street.

MRS. ALBERTA R. BELFORD

Mrs. Belford abandoned private practice here to enter the Attorney-General's office in San Francisco. She is a graduate of the University of Southern California Law School, class of 1926.

IMPROVEMENT ORDINANCE

City Clerk Domingues is under instructions of the Council to present the final ordinance for the improvement of streets in the Upperton-avenue and High-street improvement district, the Council already having denied protests against the project.

A LIFE WORK
Statistics show Life Insurance Underwriters are the most highly paid salesmen. Many in Los Angeles earn from $2500 to $50,000 annually. Dignified, healthful, interesting, constructive permanent occupation. No dull periods, no bosses. You are constantly building for yourself. Learn the Life Insurance business and you will never again have to seek employment. The Pacific Mutual, one of the old and large life insurance Companies of America—the oldest and largest California company—will consider the application of men of character and ability between the approximate ages of 25 to 45. Those selected will receive every possible assistance. Our comprehensive courses of instruction and practical field assistance are calculated to develop any ambitious man into a successful underwriter. You should begin earning from the first week. Our school for salesmen is outstanding in the insurance world. Call in person or telephone TRinity 9801, or address Mr. Arms, 322 Pacific Mutual Building, Sixth and Grand streets.

IMPORTANT NOTICE: Next class begins Monday morning at 9 o'clock, August 5th. You may attend the first sessions without obligation to continue—we can then decide if you should enter the insurance profession.

A REAL OPPORTUNITY
To a few clean-cut, intelligent salesmen and saleswomen who are ambitious and interested in a permanent position. If you are looking for a connection with an unlimited future, see

Politics and liquor apparently [illegible] as beer and pretzels.

But the combination is no new[illegible] Eighteenth Amendment was ad[illegible]

My memory is not so short that I do not recall the old alliances between the brewers, distillers and saloon-keepers on the one hand, in the days before prohibition, and the professional politicians on the other hand. The liquor interests financed city and State campaigns; they controlled city councils, county boards of commissioners, State legislatures. They "headed off" through their political allies early-closing-hour ordinances, Sunday-closing laws applying to saloons; local or county option measures, and higher-license ordinances and laws. The saloonkeepers, the brewery owners, the whisky wholesalers, always were willing to "chip in" to help elect a [illegible] of State's Attorney, a member of the Legislature or the City [illegible] [illegible] to another politician also [illegible] national rank. Certainly none [illegible] for politicians who banded the [illegible] profited personally by its [illegible] They were not of that [illegible]

Where did the $500,000 come from [illegible] Easily answered. The politician first mentioned—the man who died with this money in his safe-deposit box, which his heirs don't want—practically controlled the government of an entire State in which prohibition enforcement had been and is most lax. Law-enforcement officers there danced when he pulled the string. Elections were just processions of his creatures into office. But elections mean political campaigns—electors must be "told," and be made to like it. Political campaigns cannot be run on oratory and spell-binding alone—even in that politician-ridden commonwealth. Money, and gobs of it, is essential to do the trick. The boss mentioned above needed
